TAX SLASH IS ASKED IN BUDGET MESSAGE; DISTRICT SUM BIGGER

$3,830,445,231 Figure Is Set by Hoover as Sum Nation Needs.

FINANCIAL OUTLOOK IS HAILED AS BRIGHT

$122,000,000 Surplus in Treasury Is Foreseen for July, 1931.

MORE MONEY URGED FOR ARMY AND NAVY

Rivers and Harbors, Flood Control and Indian Care May Get Increases.

(Associated Press.)

President Hoover yesterday laid before Congress a recommendation for tax reduction, a request for $3,830,445,231 for governmental use next year, and a bright picture of the state of the Nation's finances.

Drawing a lesson from the lowering of taxes in the past, the President said that there was no doubt that increased revenues had always followed and that the stimulus given to business was partly responsible for these upward jumps in receipts.

In his first budget message he estimated the Treasury's outlay for the twelve months beginning next July at $4,102,938,700 and figured there would be a $122,000,000 surplus at the end of that period.

The difference between appropriations asked and expenditures forecast was explained as being due to the fact that the President had not included any amount for the revolving fund of the Federal Farm Board because it had not been determined how much would be necessary. In the estimate of outgo, however, the amount was placed at $200,000,000. A further difference of $72,000,000 was due to a carryover of appropriations from the present year which will be available next year. As submitted, the request was for $145,696,000 less than for this year.

Tax Cuts Proposed.

The tax reduction suggestion followed the previously announced program of the administration which desires a decrease of from 12 to 11 per cent. In corporation income levies and reductions of 1 per cent on normal individual incomes, making those rates range from ½ per cent to 4 per cent.

In addition to the appropriations asked, $760,470,577 will be needed for the Postoffice Department, but, inasmuch as this Government activity pays the larger amount of its cost out of its own revenues, the Treasury will be concerned only with the deficit.

The President called for increased sums for a number of Government efforts and organizations, including the Army, the Navy, rivers and harbors, flood control, Indian care, and forest protection. Congress was informed that the Treasury would expend $59,500,000 in the present year in carrying on the huge Government building program and that it planned to allot an additional $30,000,000 for next year. In addition he will submit later a request for $5,000,000 more for this purpose.

A total of $380,392,526 was asked for the Navy, which is $16,399,000 more than last year.

Alterations on battleships, safety and salvage operations for submarines, increased navy pay, improvements to air stations, ammunition storage facilities, aviation, the construction of the two new dirigibles and other items were listed as contributing to the increase. As to the cruiser construction program, the President said:

Money For Cruisers.

"For the fifteen cruisers and one aircraft carrier authorized by the act of February 13, 1929, provision is made to carry forward work on two cruisers already laid down, for three cruisers and the aircraft carrier to be laid down late in the fiscal year 1930, and for the remaining ten cruisers to be commenced late in the fiscal year."

The War Department's total estimate was $466,626,332, including the funds needed for the Panama Canal. This is $3,173,000 more than was required last year. Provision was made for carrying out the five-year building program of both the Army and the Navy aviation branches, the Army being alloted $36,766,825 for this purpose and the Navy $32,230,000. No estimate was submitted for Boulder Dam construction, the details not having been ready in time for inclusion.

In his discussion of taxes Mr. Hoover said the Government would have a surplus of $225,581,534 at the end of the present (1930) fiscal year.

"For the current fiscal year 1930 there is a marked improvement over the financial situation as estimated in the budget for 1930, transmitted

Hoover Prepares Table To Simplify U. S. Budget

(Associated Press.)

President Hoover has compiled and soon will make public a set of budget figures in very different form from that given in the regular budget transmitted to Congress.

He calls it a personal budget and it shows expenditures by classifications rather than by departments, as in the regular budget, with precise amounts the Government proposes to spend in the next fiscal year for its various activities, such as national defense, care of veterans and their dependents, law enforcement in all of its branches, and the like.

The Chief Executive believes that this will give the public a more readily understandable picture of where the money goes than is furnished in the bulky and rather technical form of the budget Congress must have in order to frame appropriation bills for the departments and independent agencies.

REPORT BROADCAST BY TREASURY HEAD

WIDE RANGE IS COVERED

History was made last night when, for the first time, a member of the President's Cabinet gave a condensed version of his annual report to the public over the radio. Andrew W. Mellon, Secretary of the Treasury, was the Cabinet officer to take this step. His report was broadcast over the National Broadcasting Co.'s network, including station WRC.

Giving a short history of the origin of reports by the Secretary of the Treasury, Mellon, in his condensed report, mentioned tax reduction, debt reduction, estimated receipts and surpluses, new types of Government securities, foreign debts, banking policies, Federal Reserve Board activities and a dozen other items which come under the supervision of the Treasury Department.

Secretary Mellon's radio address is as follows:

"Each year at the beginning of a new session of Congress, members of the President's Cabinet are required to make a report of the work of their departments during the preceding year. Tonight, for the first time, the radio has made it possible for the Treasury to give a condensed version of its report direct to the country.

"Before entering upon the report itself, I would like to say a word of the circumstances under which it has been made each year. When the Treasury was established by the act of the First Congress, meeting in New York in 1789, it was provided that, among other specified duties, the Secretary of the Treasury should make reports to Congress on matters pertaining to his department. Such reports were made at irregular intervals, but no annual report was made until it was provided in the act of May 10, 1800, that a report should be made to Congress at the commencement of every session, 'containing estimates of the public revenue and public expenditures and plans for improving or increasing the revenues.'

"In accordance with this act we find Secretary Gallatin in December, 1801, submitting the first annual report. In it he estimates that for the ensuing year the revenues will amount

President's Estimate of Fund to Run Capital Is $47,880,228.

PROPOSAL LARGEST EVER SENT CONGRESS

Size Indicates Bureau Has Changed Policy Toward City.

ASSESSMENT RATE OF $1.70 WILL STAND

Federal Contribution Is to Constitute 22 Per Cent of Total Cost.

Through the Bureau of the Budget, President Hoover yesterday recommended to Congress that $47,880,228 be appropriated to run the District of Columbia during the fiscal year of 1931.

This is the largest budget in the city's history and is $3,340,113 more than Congress appropriated for the current fiscal year.

The size of the budget indicates that the Bureau of the Budget finally has changed its policy toward the District. In the past, the bureau has pruned millions from the estimates submitted by the Commissioners, even though the people here were willing that the money be spent.

As a result of this policy, a huge surplus piled up to the credit of the District and was lying idle in the Treasury when the House appropriations committee called upon the Commissioners to spend it.

Old Tax Rate Likely.

The present tax rate of $1.70 on $100 assessed value undoubtedly will be continued, and, as usual, the Federal Government will contribute a lump sum of $9,000,000 as its share of the cost of running the city.

When trust funds and water and gasoline revenues are deducted, the Federal Government's $9,000,000 contribution constitutes only about 22 per cent of the total District budget. At one time, the Federal Government contributed 50 per cent of the cost, and later 40 per cent. The policy of contributing a flat sum of $9,000,000 was begun at a time when that amount represented about 40 per cent, but in the meantime the budget has grown tremendously.

The lion's share of the 1931 budget is for the public schools, which get more than one-fourth of the total recommended. Other large chunks are for welfare, the municipal center program, street repairs and lighting, the police and fire departments and for the park program.

For the public schools, there is asked $13,028,810, as against $11,984,600 for 1930. This increase, aside from providing longevity increases in compensation of teachers, and for additional teachers and administrative personnel, includes $112,000 for completing the equipment at Central and Dunbar High Schools, $25,000 for repairs to school buildings, and $30,000 for remodeling and equipping the Wilson and Miner normal schools for use as teachers' colleges.

For buildings and grounds, the budget provides $2,710,000 for new construction and $300,700 for the purchase of school building sites, making a total of $3,010,700 as compared with the 1930 figure of $2,352,000. As a result of this new construction, it is hoped to do away with portable schools.

New School Construction.

The estimate of $2,710,000 for new construction provides $300,000 for completion of the Alice Deal Junior

HOOVER PLANS SIGNING COURT PACT AT ONCE

ROOT'S STIPULATIONS REGARDED ADEQUATE

Objections to Original Proposal Is Believed Completely Met.

SIGNATURE INTENDED AS GOOD-FAITH MOVE

Delay in Submission Seen as Refusal to Take Any Chances With Plan.

By ROBERT BARRY.

President Hoover will sign the articles of American adherence to the World Court within a week. He will withhold the protocol from the Senate until such time as he feels its consideration will not obstruct the legislative situation.

It was learned last night that Hoover is all set on the World Court idea and approves heartily of the Elihu Root formula to meet Senate objections to the original proposed by Charles Evans Hughes.

Hoover is convinced that every objection which the Senate embodied in the reservations of ratification was met when Root persuaded the rest of the world to accept them, with some modifications.

Will Take No Chances.

The President has so many misgivings about the Senate he prefers not to complicate matters by tossing the World Court issue in with the Vare row and the tariff tangle. He is cognizant of the fact that the Senate loves nothing more than to take anybody's treaty and tear it to shreds.

There seems to be not the slightest doubt that the Senate will subscribe to and ratify The Hague treaty with the Root stipulations. The President, however, prefers to take no chances about some one bringing up a point which might raise a lot of trouble.

As an evidence of good faith to the rest of the world, Mr. Hoover proposes to carry out the announcement of his message to Congress Tuesday by attaching his signature to the protocol within a week. He will hold the treaty on his desk until such time as he is good and ready to submit it to the Senate. That might be next week or next February. He violates no rote nor rule when he does that.

Disappointed in League.

The President has sought in several ways to spike the guns until he can obtain ratification of the Hughes-Root world court plan. He has invited a lot of criticism from the Wilson "diehards" by his stand against any step toward membership in the League of Nations. It is stated he has sought thereby to anticipate and

PUBLIC TRIALS FORECAST FOR SHELBY, KELLY

Davison-Bride Report on "Bungling" Charges Is Due Today.

CONTENTS WITHHELD BY BOTH INQUISITORS

"Toothless" Board Finds Investigation Hard to Pursue.

GRAND JURORS AGAIN DECLINE TO TESTIFY

All but Four of McPherson Body Refuse to Back Up Their Accusations.

Public trial of Inspector William S. Shelby and Lieut. Edward J. Kelly on charges of "bungling" in their conduct of the original McPherson death inquiry, is expected to be recommended to the District Commissioners today by the special board composed of William W. Bride, corporation counsel, and Maj. D. A. Davison, assistant engineer commissioner.

Bride and Davison are to complete their report to the Commissioners some time today and submit it immediately. Both officials yesterday refused flatly to discuss the report or to say what conclusion they had reached. They will not make public the report when it has been finally drafted they said, but will leave that for the Commissioners to do.

Jurors Refuse to Appear.

Despite the reticence of the members of the special board, however, it is believed that when the report goes to the Commissioners it will recommend public trials for the criticized police officers on the charge made gaainst them by the July grand jury.

Decision to make the grand jury report the basis of the charges against Shelby and Kelly was reached by Bride and Davison after they had exhausted efforts to get additional information from the members of the former grand jury and from the record of the Department of Justice investigation into the death of Mrs. Virginia McPherson.

Invitations to members of the grand jury to appear before the Bride-Davison board and give information to substantiate the criticism in the report met with refusal by Merritt O. Chance, foreman, and all but four of the other 22 members of the grand jury.

Board Without Authority.

Attorney General William D. Mitchell refused the board access to the record of the Department of Justice investigation of the McPherson death.

The Bride-Davison board has been without legal authority or funds or personnel to pursue an independent inquiry and is understood to have turned back to the grand jury re-

Wilson Refused Right to Vacant Seat by Committee.

By CARLISLE BARGERON.

The way was prepared yesterday for the final settlement of the Vare case in the Senate, maybe tomorrow, when the elections and privileges committee voted unanimously that William B. Wilson was not entitled to the seat.

The Democrats joined with the Republicans on the committee in agreeing that Wilson had not been elected in the 1926 Pennsylvania election, but they prepared to submit a minority report against the contention of the Republicans that Vare received a plurality of the legal votes cast. The minority report, prepared by Senators Caraway and Bratton, who sat on the subcommittee investigating the case, will contend that neither Wilson nor Vare was legally elected.

This will give some support to those who intend to vote for the Norris resolution denying Vare his

U. S. Intends to Shape Its Policy by Kellogg Pact, He Says.

"NOT FRIENDLY" HINT STRONGLY RESENTED

Right to Ask for Peace, Based on Hague Treaty, Is Upheld.

RED PAPERS DERIDE AMERICAN ATTITUDE

"Unjustifiable Pressure" and "Interference" Typify Soviet Comment.

(Associated Press.)

The Soviet resentment of Secretary Stimson's note looking toward pacification of the Chinese-Russian troubles in Manchuria led him last night to assert the right of any adherent of the Kellogg antiwar pact to call to the attention of any other adherent its obligations under the treaty.

Declarations that the American Government regards the pact as a covenant which has modified the world attitude toward peace and that the United States intends to shape its own policy accordingly also were asserted by the Secretary in a formal statement.

With a slight ring of anger, Stimson denounced allegations by the Soviet Government of unfriendliness on the part of the United States reported to have been made by the Moscow authorities in their reply to the American plea to China and the Soviet for peace between them in the Manchurian situation.

Statement Is Issued.

The Secretary made his statement at the regular conference with newspapermen, which had been delayed until late in the day, when he arrived at the department from his home, where he had been working in preparation for the forthcoming naval conference. The statement will not be sent to the Moscow government.

The Secretary read the declaration clearly and firmly, launching into his denial of the major Soviet allegations against the United States based on the American plea for peace at the outset of the conference and without awaiting questions.

Particular emphasis was laid by the Secretary on a denial of the Soviet charge that his plea to them for a cessation of hostilities in Manchuria could not be taken as a friendly act. He also reaffirmed his belief in public opinion as a medium of enforcing peace through its support of the promises of the signatories of the antiwar pact to settle disputes by specific means.

Text of Memorandum.

The text of the Secretary's memorandum follows:

"I have seen the text of the Russian memorandum as reported in the press," the Secretary said. "Between cosignatories of the pact of Paris it can never be rightly thought unfriendly that one nation calls to the attention of another its obligations or the dangers to peace which from time to time arise.

"As far back as The Hague convention of 1899 the nations of the world agreed that strangers to a dispute, on their own initiative, could make suggestions looking for peace between the states which were at variance and that the exercise of that right is not to be regarded by the parties in the conflict as an unfriendly act. This was reaffirmed again in 1907 and has been the recognized rule ever since."

"The message of the American Government," the text of Stimson's statement continued, "was sent not from unfriendly motives but because this Government regards the pact of Paris as a covenant which has profoundly modified the attitude of the

U. S. AGENT TO AID IN SCRIVENER CASE

"Certain Witnesses" Are to Leave Fingerprints With E. K. Thode.

BROTHER HERE FOR QUIZ

E. K. Thode, chief of the investigation division of the Department of Justice, yesterday took charge of the work of fingerprinting witnesses testifying in the probe being made by the grand jury into the three-year-old mystery of the shooting of Detective Sergt. Arthur Scrivener.

"Only certain witnesses" are being asked to record their fingerprints for the jury, to be checked against the print found a few hours after the shooting by Detective Sergt. Fred Sandberg, fingerprint expert for the Police Department, while examining the pistol with which Scrivener was shot.

Sandberg has been quoted as testifying that the print, a "smudge" on the gun apparently made by the side of a finger, could not have been made by Scrivener's hand.

It was learned by The Post last night, however, that no complete set of Scrivener's finger prints can be found for purposes of comparison. At

FLIER DIES IN JUMP OFF BLAZING PLANE

Lieut. E. G. Schmidt Killed as Parachute Fails Him; Three Aids Survive.

CRAFT HITS, BLOWS UP

Goodwater, Ala., Dec. 4 (A.P.).—Charred wreckage of the twin-motored Army plane from which Lieut. Ernest G. Schmidt, 26, leaped to his death and his three companions jumped to safety after a motor caught fire and exploded, lay in a field near here under guard tonight as plans were started for an investigation into the accident.

Lieut. Schmidt, the first to jump, fell to earth after his parachute failed to open at an altitude of 500 feet, while the plane, resembling a huge ball of fire, streaked across the sky.

Scores of residents watched while Lieut. J. M. Gillespie, the pilot, and Sergts. Brenner and Capps, dropped from the hurtling mass of flames. Gillespie and Brenner received minor injuries.

The plane itself continued for several hundred yards, lurching crazily, before it finally dived into the earth and exploded. It was being piloted from Langley Field, Va., to Mexico

Electric Firm Plans $5,900,000 Expansion

Vast Project Launched by Potomac Power Co. Does Not Include Proposed $2,500,000 Addition to Benning Plant.

Synchronizing the launching of a contemplated expansion program of the present and immediate future with President Hoover's aim to accelerate the wheels of industry, the Potomac Electric Power Co. last night announced a construction budget for 1930 aggregating $5,900,000, exclusive of a projected $2,500,000 addition to its Benning plant.

The vast building program was made public by William F. Ham, president of the company, upon the authorization of its board of directors. It was characterized as the largest annual construction appropriation in the history of the organization, and a pledge of faith in the present business stability, future growth and prosperity of Washington and its metropolitan area.

The itemized tabulation of proposed expenditures in the $5,900,000 amount follow:

Improvements and extensions to the electrical distribution system, $2,064,960.

Construction of new substations and enlargement of existing substations, $593,136.

Construction of its previously announced new office building at Tenth and E streets northwest and operating service buildings, $2,685,000.

Purchase and installation of mechanical equipment of buildings and new offices, $46,000.

Miscellaneous expenditures, balance.

Ham announced for the first time that the board of directors is considering plans at the present time for a proposed construction of a $2,500,000 addition to its Benning plant, and that a more definite announcement may be forthcoming later.

In making public the authorization of $593,136 for new substations and enlargement of present substations, Ham announced for the first time that the company will erect a substation in the Northwest section in the vicinity of Columbia road and Champlain street.

A previous report regarding the construction of a new operating plant at Eleventh street and Florida avenue northwest was confirmed by Ham as part of the apportioned sum of $2,685,000.

"The officers and directors of the company make this announcement after full consideration of the needs for electrical extension in Washington and nearby Maryland, and in line with the forward looking plans of President Hoover and the leaders in industry to stabilize wage levels and economic factors of our business life," he declared.

"The company has had a year of healthy business and the directors

Two Sweethearts' Bodies Dragged From Car in River

Murder and Suicide Seen in Plunge of Auto Off Bank.

Hickory, N. C., Dec. 4 (A.P.).—Clasped in each other's arms, as had been foretold by the youth, the bodies of Elsie Poovey, 18, Lenoir Rhyne College coed, and her sweetheart, Luther Turner, today were dragged from the bottom of the Catawba River near here.

They were found in Turner's automobile, which apparently had been deliberately driven over the river bank into deep water.

Whether it was a suicide pact or murder and suicide none could say, but officials inclined toward the latter theory. A brother of Turner, shortly after the couple disappeared Sunday from Highlands, received a note saying:

Improvement Never Made After Assessment, Court Hears.

More than 200 property owners of the District were given hopes by the United States Supreme Court yesterday that they will receive a refund of approximately $25,000 from the District Government for taxes they paid on a piece of property at the end of what is now Lamont street northwest 17 years ago.

The taxes were paid by those persons after Congress authorized the District Commissioners to institute condemnation proceedings against the property for the purpose of improving the locality. The property owners paid up to protect their property, but the improvement was never carried through because Congress has failed to appropriate necessary funds for the work. It is claimed that the District Commisworld toward peace and because this Government intends to shape its own policy accordingly.

Positive Obligation Incurred.

In the language of the joint statement issued by the President of the United States and the Prime Minister of Great Britain on October 10 last, 'Both our Governments resolved to accept the peace pact not only as a declaration of good intentions but as a positive obligation to direct national policy in accordance with its pledge.'

"The present declaration of the authorities of Russia that they are now proceeding with direct negotiations which will make possible the settlement of the conflict is not the least significant evidence to show that the public opinion of the world is a live factor which can be promptly mobilized and which has become a factor of prime importance in the solution of problems and controversies which may arise between nations."

Nations Support Stimson.

Word was received yesterday from four nations, Mexico, Holland, Cuba and Panama, assuring the Secretary of their full cooperation in his plea for peace in the Manchurian situation. The trouble began last summer and has steadily approached serious open warfare.

The trouble between the Nanking and Moscow governments had its beginning in the taking over by the Chinese of the Chinese Eastern Railway and the deposing of the manager and assistant manager of the line.

Soviet Feeling Runs High.

Moscow, Dec. 4 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—Never has sentiment in the Soviet Union against the United States run higher than today when the exchange of notes between Washington and Moscow was made public here.

Russians are furious at what is officially characterized as an effort by the capitalist powers to bring "unjustifiable pressure" to bear upon the negotiations between this country and China for settlement of their dispute over the Chinese Eastern Railway.

The United States is the subject of the greatest anger and sharpest irony because the State Department at Washington took the initiative in invoking the Kellogg pact in its notes to China and Russia, reminding them of their obligation under that instrument to adjure war.

"Interference" Is Resented.

Resentment against "interference" from outside and suspicion of the motives prompting it are expressed in unmistakable terms by the public, press and Soviet officialdom alike.

The official organ of the Soviet government, Izvestia, asserts that American capital has "long been itching to lay hands on the Chinese Eastern Railway," and accuses the United States, Great Britain and France of seizing upon the present Russo-Chinese controversy as a pretext for establishing international control of the railroad.

The newspaper defiantly adds that the Soviet has thus far sought no outside advice as to its negotiations with Mukden and will do its utmost to prevent outside "interference" in the future.

Russian Press Quoted.

Pravda, official organ of the Communist party, commenting on the Russian note to Washington, refers to the "hypocrisy of the Kellogg pact powers who show such touching concern for China which they themselves exploit and oppress, adopting the methods of armed intervention."

"Knowing the instability of Chinese politicians and the influence which the imperialists exercised over them," says this newspaper, "we must not close our eyes on the fact that the issues of the peacemakers could result in new obstructions in the way of a peaceful termination of the conflict.

"Therefore, we must be prepared for any exigency and be firm and decisive as heretofore."

MRS. CHURCH GOES TO DIVORCED MATE

Estranged Wife of Soda King Leaves Reno on Journey to Rome.

STILL LOVES HIM, CLAIM

Reno, Nev., Dec. 4 (A.P.).—On her way to keep a tryst in Rome, Italy, with her former husband, whom she divorced here November 25 last on grounds of nonsupport, Mrs. Agnes Aurelia Church departed yesterday for San Francisco in a $3,000 automobile, which she purchased immediately after receiving a draft for $10,000 from the law firm of Hughes, Shuman & Dwight, of New York City.

The $10,000 draft was the first payment of a $50,000 settlement made on the former wife of Francois Louis Church, son of the "baking soda king," for getting a divorce in Reno to satisfy the Church family. Thirty thousand dollars more is awaiting her at the Palace Hotel in San Francisco, while the other $10,000 went to pay her attorneys' fees in the divorce case.

Waving a telegram from her former husband, telling her that he would meet her in Rome, Mrs. Church bade good-by yesterday afternoon to Reno friends. They confirmed reports from New York that the former telephone girl, now 25 years old and very good looking, is still in love with Church and intends to marry him again.

Almost Halted Trial.

A few days before her divorce case here was to come to trial, Mrs. Church told her Reno lawyer that she would not "go through with it."

"I still love him and don't want a divorce, and besides I want to know what settlement I am going to get," she is quoted as saying.

She declared, up to 5 minutes before her case was set for hearing, that she was not going to court. Her attorney, court attaches say, met her in the hallway of the courthouse and told her she could either appear in court and get the divorce or go back to New York.

Denies Wanting Divorce.

Sobbing, she entered the courtroom and when placed on the witness stand declared:

"I don't want a divorce. I am being forced into it by my husband's family."

But the decree was granted and two days later she got the first $10,000. Now she is headed for Rome and a "grand reunion."

San Francisco, Dec 4 (A.P.).—Reservations for Mrs. Agnes Aurelia Church, who is on her way here from Reno, have been made for the Far East on the steamer President Monroe, Dollar Line officials said today. The President Monroe is a round-the-world liner and will sail from here February 1. As the reservations were arranged for in New York, her destination was not known here.

J. C. Hesse Estate Is Above $150,000

Former Chief of Police and Brother Among Beneficiaries.

John C. Hesse, father of Maj. Edwin B. Hesse, former superintendent of police, left an estate valued at more than $150,000, according to petition for the probate of the will filed yesterday in District Supreme Court. The petition was filed by Maj. Hesse, his brother, Henry A. Hesse, and the Union Trust Co., joint executors under the will. Mr. Hesse died on November 14 last, according to the petition.

By the terms of the will, two nieces in Germany are to receive $250 annually and the residue of the estate is to be divided into three parts. Each of the sons is to receive one-third, while the widow of the dead son, Conrad, is to receive one-third of one-third, while her two children are each to receive one-third of that part.

Additional provision of the will is that if Maj. Hesse decides to buy the family home at 506 A street southeast for $10,000, the sum of $5,000 derived from the sale is to go to the other living son, while the other $5,000 is to go to the daughters of the dead son.

Williams, executive secretary of the recently organized League for Independent Political Action, of which Prof. John Dewey is the national chairman, is scheduled for his first personal and social contact with Washington's liberals at a dinner meeting announced for next Saturday evening at the Cosmos Club under the auspices of the local chapter of the League of Industrial Democracy.

"A New Political Alignment" is the subject and the possibility of forming a new party will be discussed.

Webster defines "news" as fresh information concerning something that has recently taken place. Because so much of news interest occurs during the hours of the night a morning newspaper is the logical medium to read for "news when it is NEWS." The Washington Post is not only TIMELY but also accurate and complete in its coverage of events and happenings at home and throughout the world.

PLAGUE AND MUTINY SPREADING IN CHINA

Nationalist Government Is Faced by Move of Violence in Various Sections.

U. S. BISHOP ASKS RELIEF

Shanghai, Dec. 4 (A.P.).—A plague of war and violence gripped several sections of China today and threatened to spread, challenging the power of the Nationalist government. Large scale mutniy of troops, wholesale murder and mutiny by a Communistic army and armed rebellion were rampant in variuos parts of the country.

The mutiny of the Twenty-fourth division of Nationalist troops at Pukow, across the Yangtse River from Nanking, the government's capital, was said by press dispatches to have been joined by 15,000 men of the division.

After looting Pukow yesterday, the mutineers seized trains and departed for Pengpu, Anhwei province, receiving accessions on the way. Recognizing the serious of the mutiny, the Nationalist government dispatched 10,000 loyal troops in pursuit, but the mutineers burned several railroad bridges behind them. The pursuers hampered by snow and rain, could not immediately engage the renegades.

Soldiers Resent Orders.

The mutiny, it was reported, was brought about by the soldiers' objections to being sent to Kwangtung province, where for days the Kwangsi province rebels joined with the rebellious "Ironside Division," have threatened capture of the important city of Canton.

Months of looting and violence by a bandit horde, known as a Communistic army, in Fukien and Kwangtung provinces, culminated last Sunday in the slaying of 100 Chinese officials and other leading Chinese at Kanchow, Kiangsi province, said dispatches from that city. A reign of murder and looting by the "reds" lasted two days.

Belated information from the Lazarus Mission at Kanchow contained in a telegram dates November 30, said "the reds have captured the cities about Kanchow and the situation is serious."

Bishop Pleads for Aid.

The telegram, signed by Bishop O'Shea, of Philadelphia, added:

"Government troops are leaving the area, and we are unprotected. Appeal to the Nationalist government at Nanking to prevent the troops from leaving. Ask the assistance of the American and French authorities."

Efforts of the mission headquarters in Shanghai to communicate with Kanchow since receiving the telegram have failed.

American Tragedy Brings $300 Fine

New York Publisher Given Stay of Execution to Perfect Plea.

Boston, Dec. 4 (A.P.).—Donald S. Friede, New York book publisher, today was sentenced to pay a fine of $300 for selling a copy of Theodore Dreiser's "An American Tragedy" in this city on the grounds that it is an obscene book.

Judge George W. Hays, of the superior criminal court, allowed a stay of execution to permit Friede to take exceptions to the Massachusetts Supreme Court.

Friede, who came here from New York today to be sentenced, was arrested here last April 18 after he had sold a copy of the book to a policeman. The arrest was prearranged with the Watch and Ward Society in order that a test might be made of the present law which permits successful prosecution of such cases on the evidence provided by single excerpts from a given book without consideration of the entire context.

REPUBLICANS RAISE COMMITTEE RATIO

Increase Majority on Five Most Important Bodies in House.

PROPORTION NOW 14 TO 7

The Republicans in the House raised their membership proportions on five of the major committees yesterday to correspond to the increased majority the last election gave them in that branch of Congress.

Organizing the various committees which did not function during the special session, the informal Republican committee on committees filled vacancies on ten of the legislative groups. Only four were set up during the special session in the House, the ways and means, agriculture, rules and accounts.

Instead of the former proportion of thirteen Republicans and eight Democrats, the ratio will be fourteen to seven on the rivers and harbors, foreign affairs, postoffices and post roads, military and naval committees.

Sproul on Rules Body.

Among the vacancies filled were the appointment of Representatives Sproul, of Illinois, to the rules committee, and Wigglesworth, of Massachusetts, to the appropriations committee. The choices are subject to the approval of a Republican caucus and vote from the floor, both proceedings usually merely formalities.

Membership on the judiciary committee was increased from 21 to 23 at the request of Representative Garner, of Texas, the minority leader.

Representative Cramton, of Michigan, was named to the steering committee, an informal Republican body, to succeed Walter Newton, now secretary to President Hoover. Representative French, of Idaho, was named secretary of the committee on committees, another post made vacant by Newton's resignation.

There were no vacancies on the powerful ways and means committee.

The Democrats, who waited until the Republican slates were chosen, are expected to make their choices today and submit them to a caucus.

Other Vacancies Filled.

Others appointed to fill vacancies were:

Judiciary — Bachmann, West Virginia; Sparks, Kansas; Jonas, North Carolina, and Swanson, Iowa.

Agriculture—Snow, Maine, and Garber, Virginia.

Foreign affairs — Crail, California, and Ellis, Missouri.

Military affairs—Cochran, Pennsylvania; Stafford, Wisconsin; Pritchard, North Carolina, and Kaynor, Massachusetts.

Naval affairs—Coyle, Pennsylvania; Lankford, Virginia; Hess, Ohio, and Ruth Hanna McCormick, Illinois.

Postoffices and post roads—Baird, Ohio, and Pittenger, Minnesota.

Tilson announced that Representative James, of Michigan, ranking Republican on the military affairs committee last year, would succeed to the chairmanship of that group vacated by the defeat of Representative Morin, of Pennsylvania.

Selection of new members on other committees, relatively of minor importance, will be made by a subcommittee, composed of Representatives Tilson, of Connecticut; French, of Idaho; Mapes, of Michigan; Holaday, of Illinois, and Bachman, of West Virginia. They are expected to report back tomorrow.

Italy Is Lecturer's Subject.

Prof. Walton Brooks McDaniel, of the University of Pennsylvania, will address the Washington Classical Club, Saturday night, at Gunston Hall, 1906 Florida avenue. The subject of his illustrated lecture will be "Linking the Old and the New in Italy."

Democrats' Choice Not Up to Raskob

National Committee Leader Says His Group to Be Inactive in Future.

(Associated Press.)

The Democratic national committee will take no hand in the selection of the presidential nominee for the party, Chairman Raskob said yesterday in response to questions by newspaper correspondents.

Coming to Washington to attend the business conference called by President Hoover, Raskob expressed confidence in the business outlook and said the administration program was bound to be helpful in this connection.

The Democratic chairman, however, said he regretted Hoover "did not make a bit more clearer his attitude and the attitude of the Republican party" on the tariff in his message to Congress.

Raskob vigorously defended the Democratic provision in the pending tariff bill, sponsored by Senator Simmons, of North Carolina, and which would transfer control of the flexible provision of the tariff law from the President to Congress.

Fall From Roof Is Fatal to Man

Raymond L. Stamps Dies at Walter Reed Hospital; Another Hurt.

One man was killed and another was seriously hurt yesterday as the aftermath of industrial accidents in the Capital.

Raymond L. Stamps, 28 years old, of Berman, Ga., who was stopping at 7007 Seventh street northwest, died at Walter Reed Hospital, three hours after he fell from a roof of a building on the hospital grounds.

Stamps, an employe of the Hinkle Bros., roof and sheet metal concern, of Birmingham, Ala., was at work on one of the hospital buildings when he slipped and fell to the ground. Carried into the hospital by fellow workers, Stamps was treated for a fractured spine and other injuries.

The other victim is John Clark, colored, of 1447 Swan street northwest. Clark, an employe of the National Electric Supply Co., at 1328 New York avenue northwest, suffered possible internal injuries, and severe body bruises as the result of a one-story fall down an elevator shaft at the supply company building.

The Washington Post

GOOD YEAR IS SEEN BY RUDOLPH JOSE

Prominent Civic Leader Says That Conditions in City Are Sound.

CITES MOTOR CAR DATA

Congratulating The Washington Post for its policy in opening its columns "for the publication of expressions which will tend to throw a light upon the true state of economic affairs," Rudolph Jose, president of the Washington Cadillac Co., and widely known in local business and civic circles, last night authorized the following statement:

"Taking not only the business of the Washington Cadillac Co. as a criterion, but that of the entire local automotive trade community as well, I feel that there is ample justification for the soundest optimism and confidence with regard to the economic situation of the National Capital. Further, I am convinced that the excellent business which we are sharing with the remainder of the automotive trade group is simply a reflection of national conditions and that, in consequence, expressions of satisfaction concerning the whole broad outlook certainly are in order.

"The Washington Cadillac Co. is concluding one of the most successful years of its more than a quarter century of service in Washington, and we are looking forward, in 1930, to a twelve month period which in no measure will prove disappointing by comparison.

"The automotive trade is an important index to community prosperity, and as such statistics covering our own sales volume and that of the local automotive trade as a whole is of city-wide interest. The year is closing splendidly for us individually, and recently published registration figures indicated coldly and clearly that sales of both new and used automobiles are greater now than they were at the corresponding period in 1928.

"We believe that rather than proving a year of lesser activity, 1930 will evolve into one of greater business and enhanced profits. We have confidence, based on what we believe to be the soundest facts that this will be so for the Washington-Cadillac Co., for the local automotive trade community, for Wasington, and for the country as a whole. That, we realize, is a sweeping statement, but it is made only after the most careful analysis of available data."

$4,025,000,000 French Debt Bill Is Introduced

(Associated Press.)

In line with President Hoover's recommendation, a bill to ratify the $4,025,000,000 French war debt settlement was introduced yesterday by Chairman Hawley of the House ways and means committee.

This is the second time the House has had before it the matter of ratifying the French debt. In 1927 it approved a measure to ratify the agreement which looks to funding the obligation over a period of sixty-two years.

The Senate, however, failed to act because the French government had not then ratified the settlement. This has since been done.

Chicago Packer States Business Satisfactory

(Associated Press.)

The opinion that business was progressing satisfactorily despite the stock market decline was expressed yesterday by Louis F. Swift, Chicago packer, after a call upon President Hoover.

Representative Kurtz (Republican), Pennsylvania, also called at the White House yesterday to congratulate the President on the manner in which he handled his recent business conferences.

VARE APPEARS IN SENATE IN DEFENSE OF CHARGES

seat on the basis of the investigation made of the Pennsylvania primary by the famous "Jim" Reed slush funds committee and to the extent that if it is accepted will relieve the picture of one Senate committee saying Vare is entitled to his seat and another saying he is not, which will be presented when the Senate proceeds with the case today.

No doubt exists that the Norris resolution will be adopted and that Vare will be denied his seat on the contention that the Reed committee and the privileges and elections subcommittee investigated two entirely different phases of the now famous Pennsylvania campaign.

Yet despite this set-up, the rotund and expressionless Vare, his body still ailing from the physical breakdown that he suffered some time ago, hobbled into the Senate yesterday to make his own plea that he be permitted the greatest ambition of his life. He has recovered to a considerable extent, but there is a slight paralytic load on the left side of his face and he had to drag his left leg.

"I never stole or did a dishonest thing in my life," he told the senators sitting before him, and they gave him that silent respect which the attendants give to a doomed man just before hanging him.

It was a little after noon when Vare hobbled in, accompanied by his physician and by Senator David A. Reed, who had gone out to get him. In the gallery sat his wife, married daughter and son-in-law. Norris, the Nebraskan, was in the midst of one of those prairie cyclones of reproach and condemnation of the man as he appeared through the center door and proceeded down the isle. Norris pulled a particularly vigorous shaft and came to a complete halt as Senators Tom Walsh, Overman and Robinson, of Arkansas, arose to shake hands with Vare. Then Vare seated himself on the second aisle of the Republican side almost directly in front of him. Reed and his physician sat with him.

With this done Norris took up where he had left off and as though the object of his fight was a million miles away. When Norris sat down Reed got the floor and yielded to Vare. He stood up with some difficulty and had to pause now and then for a drink of water. But on the whole every word of the 2,500-word statement that he read came easy and clear, with occasional shows of emphasis and feeling, as much feeling, indeed, as the usually placid Vare has ever shown.

There was a time, of course, when he did not have to come into the Senate by virtue of a special courtesy. He came over at his pleasure and sat back there in the lounges in the rear just as did a number of Pennsylvania House members yesterday. This was when Vare was a member of the House, a power in it, one, indeed, of the inner group. He was a figure in that body at the other end of the Capitol for fifteen years, yet his ambition to go to the Senate threatens everything he has. He referred to the paradox in this.

"For fifteen years," he said, "I've sat as a member of the Lower House of Congress. There never was a reflection on my character or the service I rendered to my country and my constituents. During all of my political career I have never been accused of any crime."

"The charges made against me," he said, "so preyed upon my mind and body that in that terrible month of August, 1928, I trembled upon the very edge of eternity, and I feel that only through the prayers of my family and my friends I have been able to come before you today."

Asserting that he did not believe there was a man in the chamber who would vote against him if he knew the facts of the case, Vare declared:

"I believe I can truthfully say that the same charges could be brought against every one elected to public office if the ballots and election records were examined by his political enemies and a report made based on their inferences and theories without any consideration of the truth of facts or legals proof."

Charges Report Paid For.

There is only report before the Senate, he declared, that of the Reed slush funds committee, and "the man who is responsible for that report was paid $10,000 to do the job."

"The report, for which he alone is responsible," Vare continued, "and which your committee accepted in good faith, is not an impartial statement of facts with which this body usually deals, but it is a fabrication of the wildest theories, inference and imagination, unaccompanied by any proof, and under no circumstances can be substantiated."

Pointing to specific alleged falsities in the report, Vare asked:

"Is my election or my right to a seat in this Senate to be judged and decided upon such a vote. Are you, with whom I have been associated all these years in Congress, to pass judgment on me without giving me my day in court?"

Reed Defends Him.

He spoke for twenty minutes, then he sat down to hear Reed defend him for an hour or more, at the conclusion of which he arose with difficulty and hobbled out, this time through the Senate cloakroom. So bad is his left leg that it was an effort for him to negotiate the slight step-down from the aisle on which he was sitting to the aisle just ahead.

Vare's personal appearance was the only new contribution to the case. Reed, Fess and Cole Blease, of South Carolina, spoke in his defense, but their arguments were the same that have resounded in the chamber many times before, and Walsh, of Montana, spoke against him, and this argument has taken up its share of the space in the Record over the three years that the case has been pending.

Fess never sounded quite so right as he clung tenaciously to his constitutional concepts, warning the Senate that what it should do was to first seat Vare, giving the sovereign State of Pennsylvania its senator, and then if it found any corruption or wrongdoing, to then throw him out. He rehashed the similar cases of the days of reconstruction—invoked the constitutional giants of the Senate of that time in support of his contention, and warned the Southerners that they had better watch what they were doing, that the worm might some day turn.

Ire of Glass Aroused.

Yet, notwithstanding how right Fess sounded, Borah asked him, after he had spoken so long, if the point for which he was contending had not been definitely disposed of by the Senate when the Vare case came up three years ago. Borah said he agreed with Fess, but the Senate had voted then on that question when it voted to deny Vare his seat. So, why bring it up again?

The references to the Southern senators by Fess and by Reed got a rise out of the fiery Senator Glass. If they knew any reason or had any reason to believe that any Southern senator was not entitled to hold his seat, either because of its election laws or anything else, he was recreant to his trust if he did not bring it out, Glass declared.

But all of that has been said time and again. The talk on the defense side was, for the most part, to kill time, wait for the privileges and elections committee, which will come in today. Then the real defense of Vare, the last one, will begin, as Reed tries to supplant it in the minds of the senators for that slush-funds report which has been the picture before the country for more than two years. It is a disheartening job.

400 BUSINESS MEN WILL MEET TODAY

Groundwork for Survey of Nation Will Be Laid at U. S. Chamber.

HOOVER'S PLAN BACKED

Four hundred leaders of American busines, many of them executives of large corporations and heads of national trade organizations, taking up the work recently outlined at the recent White House industrial conferences, will meet at the Chamber of Commerce of the United States tomorrow to lay the groundwork for a national business survey.

William Butterworth, president of the National Chamber, under the auspices of which the conference will be held, will open the meeting. President Hoover and Secretary Lamont will deliver addresses, and Julius Klein, Assistant Secretary of Commerce, will review the present business situation, pointing out its elements of strength and weakness. Representative industrial leaders will present reports of conditions for 32 important trade groups.

The conference will probably take steps looking to the setting up of the necessary continuing organization to cooperate with the Department of Commerce on the one side and with the various trade groups on the other with a view to maintaining business activity at normal balance.

Better Business Noted.

A statement on the marked improvement of business which he declared he had noted in recent weeks was made last night by John A. Lonsdale, prominent St. Louis banker and president of the American Bankers Association.

"The beneficial effect of President Hoover's conference and the increase in initiative growing out of them already are noticeable in the Middle West and in other sections of the Nation that I have visited in the last few days," Lonsdale said. "Public confidence in the future is being rapidly restored. Business is becoming more stabilized. Facing facts and discounting unfounded rumors, the Nation apparently is setting to work with increasing energy and optimism.

"In the eighth Federal Reserve district, of which St. Louis is the financial capital, we are closing a prosperous year. This is indicated by the volume of corporate profits and a score of other reliable indices. Industry and commerce in our section are looking forward to satisfactory activity in 1930."

250 Bodies to Be Represented.

Two hundred and fifty trade organizations will be represented at the meeting. Among these are the American Bankers Association, the American Petroleum Institute, the American Railway Association, American Fruit and Vegetable Shippers Association, American Newspaper Publishers Association, Association of Life Insurance Presidents, Wholesale Dry Goods Institute, National Retail Furniture Association.

The individual list of those who will attend the conference includes: W. Rufus Abbott, president of the Illinois Bell Telephone Co., Chicago; W. W. Atterbury, president, Pennsylvania Railroad; Sewell L. Avery, president, United States Gypsum Co.; M. H. Aylesworth, president, National Broadcasting Co.; Bernard M. Baruch, New York city; F. E. Crowley, president, New York Central Lines; Arthur V. Davis, chairman, Aluminum Co. of America; Pierre duPont, chairman, E. I. duPont de Nemours Co.; F. H. Ecker, president, Metropolitan Life Insurance Co.; Henry Ford, president, Ford Motor Co.; J. A. Farrell, president, United States Steel Corporation.

President Hoover's address will go on the air at 10:15 o'clock this morning over a Nation-wide hook-up of the National Broadcasting Co. through Station WRC here. The President will be introduced by Butterworth on opening the conference. The addresses also of Secretary Lamont and Barnes will be broadcast during the session.

and officers look toward 1930 with firm faith in the splendid future for Washington and its metropolitan area. While the amount is a large one, it is not in excess of the needs of the company made necessary by the increasing demands for electrical energy in the District and adjoining Maryland.

"The Potomac Electric Power Co. has some 2,000 employes and in conjunction with the Washington Railway & Electric Co. forms the largest employer of labor in the District, other than the Federal Government, and it is confidently believed that today's announcement will be welcomed by business and labor as contributing to the assurance that with the Federal Government's building program in Washington the future year will be one of healthy activity.

"Pepco serves the entire District of Columbia with electricity and has lines extending into Montgomery and Prince Georges Counties for a radius of about 25 miles."

DAY IN CONGRESS

SENATE.

Met at noon and recessed at 4 p. m. to noon today.

Senator-elect Vare (Republican), Pennsylvania, appeared in the chamber and pleaded his right to a Senate seat.

Senator Norris (Republican), Nebraska, denounced Vare, and declared that an "honest election in the City of Philadelphia is unknown within the memory of man."

Senator Reed (Republican), Pennsylvania, blocked a vote on the resolution to deny Vare his seat by demanding that the Senate first receive the report on the Vare-Wilson election contest.

Elections committee voted against Democratic rival in the 1926 election.

Interstate commerce committee discussed the advisability of censoring radio programs.

HOUSE.

Met at noon and adjourned at 12:50 p. m. to noon today.

Received from the President the national budget calling for nearly $4,000,000,000.

Ways and means committee favorably reported on the $160,000,000 tax reduction resolution, and prepared to call it up today.

Representative Ramseyer (Republican), Iowa, announced that he would file a minority report opposing the resolution.

Chairman Hawley, of the ways and means committee, introduced a bill to ratify the $4,025,000,000 French war debt settlement.

Representative Kendall, Kelly and Wyant, all Republicans, of Pennsylvania, introduced identical bills authorizing an appropriation of $1,500,000 for improving the Youghiogheny River in Pennsylvania.

Committee on committees announced the following Republican committee assignments: Cramton, Michigan, steering; Sproul, Illinois, rules; Wigglesworth, Massachusetts, appropriations; Bachmann, West Virginia; Sparks, Kansas; Jonas, North Carolina, and Swanson, Iowa, judiciary; Wolverton, New Jersey, interstate and foreign commerce.

Bolton, Oklahoma; Culkins, New Jersey, rivers and harbors; Snow, Maine; Garber, Virginia, agriculture; Crail, California; Ellis, Missouri, foreign affairs; Cochran, Pennsylvania; Stafford, Wisconsin; Pritchard, North Carolina; Kaynor, Massachusetts, military affairs.

Coyle, Pennsylvania; Lankford, Virginia; Hess, Ohio, and McCormick, Illinois, naval affairs; Baird, Ohio, and Pittinger, Minnesota, postoffice and post roads.

The number of Republicans was increased on all major committees to correspond with the heavier Republican majority returned in the last election, James, Michigan, was named chairman of the military affairs committee, succeeding Morin, Pennsylvania, who was defeated for reelection.

Coal Executive Feted At Farewell Banquet

Charles O'Neil, of Altoona, Pa., secretary of the Central Pennsylvania Coal Producers Association, who will become vice president of Pearle, Peacock & Kerr, Inc., a coal company of New York, was the guest of honor at a dinner last night in the Willard Hotel, given by the National Coal Association. About 50 attended.

bridge. I can not live without Elsie, and we will die in each other's arms."

Relatives and officials, although disinclined to believe that young Turner had carried out the threat, offered rewards totaling $225 for information as to their whereabouts. It was their belief that the young couple had eloped, leaving the note as a "blind," and would turn up safely in a few days. This theory was given strength by the fact that no trace of their automobile had been found.

Every clew was followed up, however, and today two men dragging the river near the bridge leading into Alexander County saw oil bubbles. The bodies were brought to the surface an hour later and were brought to Hickory.

MINING CONFERENCE HERE IS OPTIMISTIC

Speakers at Opening Session Speak on Present Needs of Industry.

HOOVER PLAN IS BACKED

An optimistic view of the business situation as affecting the mining industry was taken by speakers at the opening session yesterday of the thirty-second annual convention of the American Mining Congress in the Mayflower Hotel. The convention will end Friday.

In his annual address to the convention, Robert E. Tally, president of the congress, declared that the urgent need of the mining industry is stabilization on the basis of fairness to the various interests involved. He urged support of President Hoover's program for the stabilization of business to offset what appeared to be a business depression and declared that the congress was heartily in accord with the plan.

It is the purpose of the American Mining Congress, he said, to cooperate with all industry in developing plans for the stabilization of not only mining, but business in general.

Signs of Over-Production.

The speaker declared that there was an evident curtailment in mining but stated further that there are very definite signs of over-production, "which will require a more drastic readjustment or prevailing prices can not be maintained." He further argued that collective curtailment is the only remedy for overproduction. He cited various mining industries which have developed beyond consumptive requirements and declared that under these conditions there is a natural inclination to excessive production.

Representatives of the various mining industries will attend the session today called by the United States Chamber of Commerce at the request of President Hoover to further the Chief Executive's plans for industrial stabilization. The representatives of the various mining industries will attend the session and report back to the convention. Cooperative action among the mining industries was expected to develop as a result of the conference with Hoover.

At yesterday's session Edward W. Parker, of the Anthracite Bureau of Information of Philadelphia, predicted that within a short time homeowners will be able to secure their heat with anthracite as conveniently as they obtain their electricity. He said that experiments are now under way which will enable, by automatic processes, the heating of the home without smoke, dust, or the danger of explosion or asphyxiation. The research workers, he said, are testing devices for supplying and controlling automatic heat, from the feeding of the furnace to the removal of ashes.

Other Speakers at Session.

Other speakers at yesterday session were Bruce Yates, general manager of the Homestake Mining Co.; J. F. Callbreath, secretary of the congress, and McKinley W. Kreight, tax expert of the congress.

President Tally was the guest of honor at the President's reception last night in the ball room of the Mayflower.

Today's session will be devoted entirely to mineral taxation questions and development of the coal industry. The annual banquet will be held Friday night. Election of officers will be held Friday. About 200 mining engineers are in attendance.

TORTURE DEFENSE SAYS VICTIM LIVES

Attorneys Claim Witnesses Have Seen Him Since Alleged Slaying.

ANOTHER FIANCEE HINTED

Mountain View, Ark., Dec. 4 (A.P.).—Ben B. Williamson, attorney for five men charged with mutilating and burning to death Connie Franklin near here last March, announced tonight the defense would present several witnesses at the trial on December 16 to prove that Franklin has been seen alive since the night of the alleged torture murder.

The witnesses, it was learned, will be persons living in this section and also near Morrilton, Ark.

Simultaneous with Williamson's announcement, Deputy Sheriff C. L. Massey at Morrilton, revealed that he had statements of several persons living in that section that they had seen Franklin alive as recently as October 20 last.

On that night Massey said Elmer Wingo and members of his family, for whom Franklin was said to have worked in 1927, said Franklin stayed all night with them. Massey also quoted R. F. Philpot, a farmer in the same section, as saying Franklin was there about the same time. Franklin at one time went with a daughter of Philpot, who is now married, Massey said.

Massey said he obtained from Philpot's daughter, now Mrs. Alma Mae Rogers, a photograph of Franklin and took this yesterday to Mountain View, where S. H. Greenway, father of Hernan Greenway, one of the five accused men, identified it as that of the youth who, the prosecution charges, was mutilated by a band of men and then burned to death last March 9, presumably to prevent his marriage to a hill-country girl, Tiller Summer.

Sheriff Sam Johnson of Stone County, who is largely responsible for gathering the evidence upon which was based indictments against Hernan Greenway, Alex Fulks, Joe White, Hurbert Hester and Bill Younger, tonight discounted the statement of the defense attorney. Johnson now has some charred bones which he says he found in a heap of ashes in the vicinity of the alleged murder and which the State contends are those of Franklin.

Massey began an investigation when Elmer Wingo came to the sheriff's office and reported he had seen Franklin. The first time, he was quoted as saying, was about a week after the supposed murder. Franklin came to the Wingo home and stayed all night, it was said.

Employes' Circus Will Open Tonight

Animal Acts and Daring Gymnasts Coming Here From "Big Top."

The circus is here. An array of trained animal acts and daring gymnasts were on their way to Washington last night from the winter quarters of the big-tented shows for the three-day circus revue the District Federation of Federal Employes Unions is sponsoring at Masonic Auditorium beginning tonight.

Senator Arthur Capper will deliver an address of welcome at the opening performance at 7 p. m. on behalf of the District Federation.

Among the feats of skill will be the flying trapeze work of Charlie Hunt, the reckless Recklaw trio in a bicycle act and Goldie Hazel in a ladder balancing act. Barnard's performing monkeys, Pedro's riding dogs, the gymnastic feats of the Romans, and Frank Bowen and his clowns who have shown with Ringling and other circuses will be included in the program.

The patients and staff of Walter Reed and Naval Hospitals yesterday were invited to attend either of the matinee performances. Results of the "Miss Federal Employe" popularity contest will be announced at the final show Saturday night.

Seal Plea Given Generous Support

Flood of Contributions Is Received Hourly at Headquarters.

With every mail delivery yesterday came an increasing bundle of the Christmas Seals Santa Claus letters to the headquarters of the Tuberculosis Association, 1022 Eleventh street, and most of them contained cash or checks in payment for the quota of seals sent out on approval.

Most of the responses came in the stamped and addressed envelopes inclosed with the allotments and thus the name of the recipient could be checked on the list from the name on the back of the envelope.

The Tuberculosis Association's sale is fully sanctioned by the Chest, of which it is a member, and proceeds of this sale will go toward the health work budget as approved by the Chest budget committee.

Man Gains Acquittal On Assault Charges

August J. Haag, who was alleged to have shot his wife, Irene Haag, and a man, Thomas Taylor, on August 21 at 420 Thirteen-and-one-half street northeast, was acquitted in District Supreme Court yesterday on two charges of assault with a dangerous weapon. Testimony was to the effect that Haag called on his wife at the Thirteen-and-one-half street address and that after a short conference she gave him $2 with which to obtain a room. In an ensuing argument Taylor is said to have intruded himself and to have been a target for one of Haag's bullets.

Testimony also was to the effect that Taylor took the pistol from Haag and fired three shots. Attorney F Russell Kelly represented Haag, while Assistant United States Attorney Walter M. Shea represented the Government.

Equal World Law Code For Sexes, She Says

When a world code of law is made it must be based on the principle of equality between men and women, according to Mrs. William Kent, of California, speaking over a Nation-wide radio hook-up last night on the international activities of women.

Mrs. Kent, who is chairman of the California branch of the National Woman's party, said that international organizations of women are now preparing to send delegations to the conference on codification of international law, meeting at The Hague next spring to see to it that no discriminations on account of sex are written into the laws regarding nationality, one of the subjects to be considered at the conference.

CONGRESS ASKED TO CUT TAXES IN HOOVER'S BUDGET MESSAGE

to Congress in December, 1928," he said. "Compared with the estimate of one year ago receipts show an increase of about $408,000,000 and the expenditures about $243,000,000. On the receipt side the increase in the estimate is reflected generally in the income tax, $305,000,000, due to an abnormal increase in the incomes reported by individuals for 1928 and to this exceedingly prosperous business year.

Reductions Swell Surpluses.

"With an estimated surplus of over $225,000,000 this year and $122,000,000 next year it is felt that some measure of reduction in taxes is justified. Since the fiscal year 1921 four tax reductions have been made. Experience has shown that each reduction in taxes has resulted in revenue in excess of the mathematically computed return under the reduced rates.

"Undoubtedly an increase in the prosperity of business brought forth by tax reduction is partly responsible for this experience. Such reduction gives the tax payer correspondingly more for his own use and thus increases the capital available for general business. Under the present circumstances, I am in favor of a reduction in income taxes to be effective on returns for the calendar year 1929, which will be due March 15, 1930. Payments under these returns will be made during the last half of the current year, fiscal year 1930, and the first half of the coming fiscal year 1931, so that the reduction will be reflected in the two years for which we now anticipate a surplus.

"I therefore, recommend that taxes upon incomes for the calendar year 1929 be reduced in the approximate sum of $160,000,000. I would suggest to Congress that this be effected, as recommended by the Secretary of the Treasury, by reducing by 1 per cent the rate of the normal tax on the incomes of individuals and corporations, applicable to 1929 incomes and payable in the calendar year 1930. This will afford either directly or indirectly relief to the maximum number of taxpayers. Our effort will be to conduct our financial requirements so as to continue the benefits of reduced taxation for succeeding years. It would not, however, at this time be safe to extend the period of the reduction. A year hence we will know more definitely whether the condition of our finances justifies a continuation or extension of the reduction.

Finances In Good Condition.

"Our finances are in sound condition. The public debt which, at its peak in August, 1919, amounted to $26,596,000,000 stood at $16,931,000,000 on June 30, 1929. We are wisely committed to a policy which insures the further progressive reduction of the debt. We will reach in 1931, for the first time, the period when the annual reduction required by law in the principal of the debt will be greater than the annual interest charges in the debt.

"We are also committed to the annual amortization of our other long-term commitments—such as the adjusted service certificate of the veterans of the World War and our liability under the retirement laws affecting civilian personnel. Our estimated expenditures for this and the next year are well within our expected receipts. With the recommended reduction in taxes, the margin between the two will be considerably lessened, but to what extent we do not definitely know today. This situation emphasizes the necessity for a careful scrutiny of any proposed additional activities which would involve a material decrease in expenditures in order that we may not jeopardize either the balanced condition of the budget or the continuation of the benefits of reduced taxation."

River and Harbor Funds.

The increases asked in appropriations for river and harbor improvement were $5,000,000; for Mississippi River flood control, $5,000,000; for Indian care, $3,100,000, and for forest protection $2,000,000. He did not mention the prohibition bureau appropriation in his accompanying message, and the amount for enforcement was left for coverage in the detailed budget figures submitted.

The receipts and expenditures shown in detail in the budget are summarized in the following statement:

	Estimated 1931	Estimated 1930
Receipts:
Customs	$602,000,000	$602,000,000
Income tax	2,460,000,000	2,480,000,000

Total expenditures, including reduction of the public debt required by law to be made from ordinary receipts	4,102,938,700	4,023,681,900

Alleged Shop-Wrecker Removed to Gallinger

Charged with wrecking a small shop at 632 T street to the extent of $410, assault, intoxication and disorderly conduct, Theodore Grant, colored, 30 years old, of Florida avenue near Ninth street northwest, was arrested at 3:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon by five Eighth Precinct police at Freedmen's Hospital and subsequently removed to Gallinger Hospital for observation and treatment of a possibly broken right hand.

Police said Grant broke a front plate glass window and created havoc in the T street shop, later appearing at Freedmen's to receive medical aid for his hand. A hurry call brought out five police who subdued him in the hospital and removed him to the precinct station where he was ordered to Gallinger Hospital when he complained of his hand.

Falling Brick Injures Man.

Struck by a falling brick while he was working on a construction job at Second and East Capitol street northeast, James Miller, colored, 37 years old, living at 27 F street northwest, was seriously injured. He was taken to the Casualty Hospital and treated by Dr. Louis Jimal. The brick struck him on the left side.

Takes the Crick Out of Your neck, The sharp shooting pains out of the shoulders—In a few minutes.

This new discovery is a combination of eucalyptus together with essential oils turpenting-Camphor, Capsicum and other valuable ingredients that is now being offered the public under the name of "Anti-Pain Oil," formerly known as Snake Oil. It has proved to be an effective, agreeable remedy for aches and pains, chest colds, flu, coughs, etc. Thousands of sufferers are now being relieved by this new penetrating oil liniment.

For rheumatic pains, neuralgia, crick in the neck, sharp shooting pains in the shoulder, stiff joints and sore muscles, apply freely to affected parts. The oil quickly penetrates, bringing relief almost like magic. For chest colds, flu and sore throat, apply freely to affected parts well greased with vaseline or lard. For coughs or hoarseness take ten drops on a lump of sugar.

Don't continue to suffer longer. Use this new and improved remedy, perfected after years of research and experimental work, instead of poisonous habit forming drugs. You will then know what it means to be free from pain.

Refuse imitations. Nothing like this new Anti-Pain Oil formerly known as Snake Oil.

NORTHCUTT IS HELD FOR COURT-MARTIAL

Naval Officer Faces Trial at Bremerton Next Week, Superiors Say.

ACCUSED NONCOMMITTAL

Bremerton, Wash., Dec. 4 (A.P.).—Lieut. Harold W. Northcutt, U. S. N., located in Vancouver, B. C., several weeks after his mysterious disappearance from his post at Norfolk, Va., and later arrested in Seattle, was held for court-martial today.

Orders received yesterday by naval authorities here from Washington did not specify the charges or set a date for trial.

(Associated Press.)

Naval officials said yesterday the trial of Lieut. Harold W. Northcutt, who disappeared under mysterious circumstances from Norfolk, Va., recently and later was located in Vancouver, B. C., and arrested in Seattle, probably would begin next week.

Resignation Is Refused.

Rear Admiral Leigh, chief of the Bureau of Navigation, said the lieutenant had submitted his resignation a week after he voluntarily surrendered to naval authorities, but it had been refused.

Northcutt was said today to have written his wife that he left a small sum of money he had with him when he disappeared, which he had collected for the University of Virginia, where he taught extension courses, in his automobile when he abandoned the car in Richmond, Va.

The charges on which Northcutt will be tried were not given out by Navy officials. It was said at the Navy Department, however, they might include a charge of being absent without permission from the Norfolk Navy Yard, and also the charge of entering a foreign country without permission.

Funds Declared Involved.

The allegation that he disappeared with the university's funds also was expected to figure, as was the report that Northcutt visited a girl in Vancouver.

Admiral Leigh said today his information regarding the case was limited to a report from the commandant of the Bremerton Navy Yard, which stated Northcutt said he had no statement to make at the time he surrendered.

Northcutt was located by Department of Justice agents. He returned to the United States and surrendered to naval authorities in Seattle.

On the Rules of Traffic
By WILLIAM ULLMAN

The regulation regarding the boulevard "Stop" signs should be one of the easiest to understand. There is only the one word "Stop" to be concerned about.

The code is very specific in its wording. It provides that all vehicles shall come to a complete stop and shall not proceed to cross or enter such boulevard, arterial highway or street until a crossing or entry can be safely made without interfering with through traffic." This applies even though a driver intends to make a right turn into the boulevard. Not only must he stop, but he must wait until a crossing is clear.

Example: A driver approaches upper Fourteenth street northwest. He is in a hurry and, after stopping at the sign, tries to force his way through traffic. Though he has complied with the first part of the regulation, he has violated the latter part by not waiting.

RESCUE SHIP FLINGS LINE TO STRANDED 21

Will Renew Efforts to Get Norwich City Survivors Off Barren Isle.

THREE ALREADY SAVED

Pago Pago, American Samoa, Dec. 4 (A.P.).—With eleven men known to have drowned in the wreck Saturday of the freighter Norwich City, off Gardner Island, in the Phoenix group, 700 miles north of here, word was awaited late today of the success or failure of efforts to rescue 21 of their companions.

Thirty-five men were aboard the Norwich City when she piled up on a coral reef, there to be beaten to pieces by the heavy surf. A radio message from the steamer Trongate told of the rescue of three members of the wrecked freighter's crew, and it was presumed here that they had been among the 24 who reached in safety the shore of the bleak and uninhabited island.

The Trongate reported a rocket line had been landed on the island, and that despite the high seas, efforts would be made to get the other survivors on board the steamer today. The wreck of the Norwich City left the men on the island without food or water, they informed the rescue ship.

The steamships Lincoln Ellsworth and Lavington Court also were reported in the vicinity of the Phoenix group, available for rescue work should they be needed.

The Norwich City, a 5,587-ton vessel built eighteen years ago in England for the Smith Rearden Line, was en route from Melbourne to Honolulu when wrecked.

Autos Damaged in Crash.

Small damage resulted to two automobiles in a collision at 11:30 o'clock yesterday morning at Eighteenth and C streets northwest, between a car driven by Maj. Lewis Call, 70 years old, retired, U. S. Army, of Garrett Park, Md., and a machine driven by Bernard Minkoff, 31 years old, of 926 Emerson street northwest.

Three Ships Reach Port Amid Storm

Vessels Limp Into St. John's While Sea Holds Fate of Others.

St. Johns, N. F., Dec. 4 (A.P.).—A heavy sea which still holds the fate of a score of missing fishermen today released its grip on three ships and permitted them to dock safely here after five days of battle with the winds, waves and snow.

A battered hero of the sea, the steamer Saguache, staggered into the harbor, towing behind her the crippled Norwegian freighter Hertha, which for five days she had guarded from the fury of the storm. Somewhere behind them in the Atlantic were the bodies of three pilots who had gone to their aid from Cape Spear as the ships struggled to reach safety.

At dusk the small 50-ton schooner Watersprite, covered with ice from deck to mast top, was towed into port, the first of a fleet of seven fishing vessels to be heard of since they left here homeward bound to Wesleyville, Friday night.

MELLON SAYS MORE MONEY MADE NI 1929

Secretary of Treasury, in Report, Discusses New Paper Currency.

PERSONNEL IS DOUBLED

The fiscal year of 1929 was the most active in the history of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing since the World War Secretary of Treasury Andrew W. Mellon yesterday informed Congress in his annual report.

During the year, marked with the transition in the manufacture of paper currency from the old to the new small size, deliveries of all classes of work amounted to 529,742,699 sheets, an increase og 9.57 per cent over the last fiscal year, when the deliveries totaled 483,455,932. The first impressions of hte new size currency were printed August 6, 1928.

"As new plates became available for print," Secretary Mellon reported," they were immediately sent to press and plates of the old size were dropped. The old size printings of backs and faces ceased on November 1 and December 1, 1928, respectively The printing impressions of the new size notes were stored in the vaults for seasoning and held until all old size currency had been passed through the numbering, sealing and separating operation In the meantime the new machines were installed."

The report explained that the most difficult problem was the change in the numbering division because of a shift of the machines for the new size currency. During the last three months of the year, the report continued, the great bulk of the new notes were numbered and sealed and it was necessary to keep two shifts of workers in the numbering division from early March until June 30, increasing the force from 400 to 1,000.

High Lights in Budget For National Capital

For the construction of new schools, so as to do away with portables, $2,710,000 for construction and $300,700 for sites.

For a new bridge across Klingle Valley on Connecticut avenue, $250,000.

For salary increases in District service, $100,000.

For Municipal Center program, $3,000,000.

For new House Office Building, new wing on Senate Office Building, new Supreme Court Building, extension of Capitol Grounds to Union Station, and new Botanic Garden, $10,500,000.

An additional captain for the Police Department and a new fire station for Engine Company No. 16 and Truck Company No. 3 of the Fire Department.

For the new farmers' produce market, $300,000.

For additional traffic signal lights, $60,000.

For the elimination of the Fern street grade crossing, $145,000; for the elimination of the Michigan avenue grade crossing; $250,000.

For two high-powered refuse incinerators, $550,000.

LARGEST DISTRICT BUDGET EVER PROPOSED IS SUBMITTED

High School; $300,000 for completion of the Charles W. Eliot Junior High School; $600,000 for continuing construction of a new building for the Business High School; $75,000 for new gymnasiums at the Gordon Junior High School; $15,000 for a shop for instruction in automobile repairing at the Columbia Junior High School; $225,000 for an eight-room, third story addition at the Powell Junior High School. Also $130,000 for a four-room addition at the Congress Heights School; $200,000 for a new platoon school building in Northeast Washington; $200,000 for a junior high school building in Northeast Washington; $55,000 for the construction of the Western High School athletic field; $50,000 for a combination gymnasium and assembly hall at the Deanwood School; $200,000 for an eight-room extensible building, including a gymnasium and assembly hall, at Northampton street and Broad Branch road; $80,000 for a four-room, extensible building in Wesley Heights; $80,000 for a four-room extensible building at Tenth and Franklin streets northeast, and $200,000 for a twelve-room addition to the Anthony Bowers School, Tenth and Franklin streets northeast.

For the purchase of land for the Municipal Center program south of Judiciary Square, the budget recommends $3,000,000, and for the preparation of plans, $65,000. In the Municipal Center will be grouped an array of handsome buildings to house the various departments of the local government.

For Beautifying Washington.

In connection with the plans for beautifying Washington, large sums are carried in budgets other than the District budget. In the budget for Congress, $3,600,000 is asked for extending the Capitol Grounds to Union Station; $1,500,000 for a new House Office Building; $2,700,000 for a new wing for the Senate Office Building, and $1,000,000 for a new Supreme Court Building.

Reverting to the local budget, $211,000 is asked for the elimination of the Fern street grade crossing, $145,000 for the elimination of the Michigan avenue grade crossing, and $250,000 toward the replacement (at an ultimate cost of $500,000) of the Connecticut avenue bridge over Klingle Valley.

Included in the sum for the refuse department is an item of $550,000 for the purchase of land for and the beginning of construction of two high-powered incinerators for the destruction of refuse.

The Police Department gets $3,097,745, as compared with $3,083,950 for the current year. The increase provides for a new captain in the Traffic Bureau and for two additional lieutenants and the increased compensation of ten additional privates in the Detective Bureau. A decrease in the allowances for officers and men mounted on horses or motorcycles is offset by an increase for the purchase of automobiles for cruising policemen.

More for Fire Department.

The budget for the Fire Department includes $34,500 for new fire apparatus and $150,000 for a new fire station for Engine Company No. 16 (now located at Twelfth and D streets northwest) and for Truck Company No. 3 (now located at Fourteenth street and Ohio avenue northwest).

For the department of public welfare there is recommended $5,129,927, as compared with $4,507,080 for the current year. The sum for the District Jail is increased $14,365 on account of a sharp increase in the number of inmates. The sum of $175,000 is recommended for the completion of the Nurses Home at Gallinger Hospital.

For public parks, $687,555 is asked, as against $570,000 last year. The estimates include $100,000 for Meridian Hill Park, $134,755 for the Rock Creek and Potomac connecting parkway, $14,300 for the Burroughs Recreation Center, and $25,000 for Anacostia Park. There is also recommended an estimate of $150,000 for the purchase of land for the Anacostia Park.

For the water service, the estimates amount to $1,647,860, as compared with a current appropriation of $1,495,330. There is an item of $40,000 for beginning a survey of water waste, $35,000 for laying service mains, and $50,000 for replacing old water mains.

The budget also carries $100,000 for salary increases in the local government.

FINGERPRINTS AID IN SCRIVENER QUIZ

the time of the fatal shooting, which occurred a few minutes past 4 o'clock on the morning of October 13, 1926, the Police Department had not started its file record of finger prints and photographs of its personnel.

A check of the records of the War Department revealed no prints of Scrivener's hand, the policeman having been in the service only a few hours before his discharge was arranged by Maj. Edwin B. Hesse, then superintendent of the Police Department ,and no prints were made by the Army during his brief enlistment.

So far as can be learned, the only print of Scrivener's hand in existence is one which Sandberg made of his right thumb while the body of the dead detective lay in its coffin awaiting burial. At that time Sandberg thought the print on the gun might have been a thumb print, but why he neglected to take a complete set of Scrivener's hands at the time has never been explained.

During the past three years the print found on the weapon has been compared with the finger-prints of every criminal or suspect in the police files and within the past week the check has been extended to cover the entire personnel of the department.

No claws to the identity of Scrivener's slayer have been developed yet through this comparison of fingerprints. However, it is pointed out that comparison of the gun print with the police files or with any regular file record would not necessarily reveal any comparison because of inability of the experts to determine definitely what part of the hand made the print on the gun.

So far as can be judged, the print was made by the side of a finger, or possibly by the base of a hand. In the latter case, a comparison with prints taken in the regulation manner would probably reveal any similarity, but sides of fingers are not included in prints taken for police records.

Prints to Correspond.

To overcome this situation, the prints now being taken by the Federal expert for the grand jury are being made in such manner as to correspond as nearly as possible in type with that found on the pistol with which Scrivener was shot in an alley near his home on N street northwest.

When Thode went to the courthouse yesterday morning he was accompanied by Inspector Thomas F. Cullen, of the Bureau of Investigation, who arranged with Leo A. Rover, United States Attorney, who is taking personal charge of the grand jury's activities, to make available the full facilities of the Federal investigating body. Cullen was in charge of the Federal investigation of the mysterious death of Mrs. Virginia McPherson, whose husband, Robert A. McPherson, jr., was exonerated of her murder by the same grand jury two weeks ago.

The grand jury is running far behind schedule in its investigation of the Scrivener shooting. It is believed, however, that the probe will be completed this week, as the grand jury has made arrangements to start investigating the F. H. Smith Co. case on Monday.

Brother Reaches Washington.

Garner Scrivener, brother of the dead detective, arrived in Washington yesterday from Akron, Ohio, where he is a member of the detective bureau.

Scrivener told the grand jury that his brother "never would have let any one he did not know and trust get that close to him in such a place at such an hour." The shot which killed Arthur Scrivener was fired from a distance of not more than 12 inches, experts have testified.

Doesn't Credit Suicide.

The witness testified further that he was familiar enough with his brother to know beyond question that he would never have taken his own life, as was contended by Lieut. Ed Kelly when talking as spokesman for the Police Department at an official conference with newspaper men on the night of October 30, 1926, less than three weeks after the shooting.

Mr. and Mrs. John F. Maragon, who came from Chicago to testify Monday, were called yesterday. Maragon was a close friend of Scrivener, while Mrs. Maragon, then Miss Helen B. Parker, 19-year-old Federal employe, was Scrivener's fiancee and was to have married him the night following the shooting.

Maragon suggested to the grand jury that it take the finger-prints of every witness and also of every other person having any connection with the case, and offered to supply the prints of his own hand.

Miss Markey Recalled.

Miss Catherine Markey, at one time affianced to Scrivener, was recalled to the jury room for the second time yesterday, as was also Sandberg, Maj. Hesse and Henry Miller Moore, a convict brought from Leavenworth where he is serving a five-year sentence, were the only other witnesses heard yesterday.

Moore, alias "Kid Savage," has declared that the gun with which Scrivener was killed was one which had been picked up by the two policemen after Moore had tossed it into an ashcan when he discovered the policemen were trailing him.

He was asked to pick out the gun yesterday from among more than a dozen pistols of varying sizes and types, but whether the gun he identified was the one with which Scrivener was shot was a closely guarded secret which no one who saw would discuss yesterday.

Yesterday's session was the longest thus far, lasting until almost 3 o'clock. When Moore, the last witness for the day, was called into the jury room, more than a dozen witnesses waiting to testify were dismissed and told to return at 10 o'clock today. Among these were numerous members of the uniformed force and Detective Bureau of the Police Department.

MELLON REPORT BROADCAST

to $10,500,000, of which $3,500,000 will be required for ordinary expenditures of the Government and that the remainder can be applied in payment of interest and principal of the public debt.

"Today these amounts appear very small, as compared with the amounts now required to operate the Government. As the country has grown in size and wealth, the volume of the public business has increased, so that the Treasury report for 1929 is obliged to deal with billions where the report of 1801 was concerned with only a very few millions.

"But in its essentials, the last report is much like the first. Both have to do chiefly with such matters as receipts and expenditures, debts and taxes; and, in so far as the Treasury itself is concerned, it still conforms both in its organization and in its method of operation, to its early traditions and in most important respects can show a continuity in policy from the time when it was first established.

"This is particularly true as regards its fundamental policy of keeping receipts always within expenditures, and applying the surplus either to tax reduction or in payment of the public debt. The last fiscal year has been no exception to this rule.

"For that year which ended June 30, 1929, total ordinary receipts were $4,033,000,000 and expenditures chargeable against ordinary receipts were $3,848,000,000 giving a surplus for the year of $185,000,000. This surplus has been applied to retirement of the public debt.

"During the year the gross debt was reduced from $17,604,000,000 to $16,931,000,000 or a total reduction of $673,000,000. This latter amount was brought about by the application of the sinking fund expenditures and other receipts ear-marked for debt retirement and by the surplus which I have just referred to.

"I might add that the war debt which reached a peak of $26,594,000,000 on August 31, 1919, has been reduced in the ten years ending August 31, 1929, to $16,805,000,000, or an average of nearly a billion dollars a year for the ten-year period. The amount of interest saved, due both to reduction of the principal of the debt and lowernig of the average interest rate over this period, is about $2,000,000,000.

Tax Question Discussed.

"Coming now to the question of taxes: the Treasury estimates that for the next fiscal year, that is, for the twelve months ending June 30 next, there will be a surplus of $226,000,000 of receipts above expenditures, and for the fiscal year 1931 a surplus of $123,000,000.

"A surplus may be recurring or temporary. In the one case, either through expanding revenue or reduced expenditures, assured receipts may have reached the point where they so exceed normal expenditures as to create recurring surpluses. Such a situation justifies a revision, more or less permanently, of our tax laws with a view to modifying tax rates downward.

"In the second case, the surplus may be of temporary character, arising from an unusual increase in receipts or decrease in expenditures; or the conditions, while not extraordinary, may not have existed for a sufficient period of time to permit a definite conclusion as to their permanency. Such a surplus obviously calls for different treatment. This is particularly true of a revenue system, which places its chief reliance on one form of taxation, as we do on the income tax, which is subject to sweeping variations depending on a variety of circumstances, but principally on the upward and downward fluctuations of business. Under these circumstances, while a surplus justifies some measure of tax relief and while the taxpayer should receive the fullest possible benefits from the prosperous condition of the Treasury during the given fiscal year, it is impossible to assure the permanency of the reduced rates.

Future Surpluses Seen.

"The estimated surpluses for the fiscal years 1930 and 1931 seem to fall into the second class. Having in mind all of these considerations, the Treasury has recommended: First, that the normal tax rates on the income of individuals for the calendar year 1929, payable in 1930, shall be ½ per cent, 2 per cent and 4 per cent instead of the existing rates of 1½ per cent, 3 per cent and 5 per cent; and second, that the tax rate on the income of corporations for the calendar year 1929, payable in 1930, shall be 11 per cent instead of the existing 12 per cent.

"This should result in a decrease of income tax collections during the calendar year 1930 of approximately $160,000,000.

"This reduction, it is hoped, will take the form of a joint resolution of Congress, thus permitting prompt action by both houses by avoiding a general revision of the revenue law. The proposal has already been discussed with the Republican and Democratic leaders of both houses of Congress, who have tentatively approved the proposed recommendations; and it is confidently expected that, early in the present session, Congress will take action to give the taxpayers the relief indicated.

"This will be the fifth reduction in taxes which the Federal Government has made within less than nine years. While the aggregate amount of this last reduction may not be so great as formerly, the reduction proposed should be of very real benefit to the taxpayers, especially to those with earned incomes in the lower brackets. It is estimated that a married man with no dependents, who at present pays a yearly tax of $5.63 on a taxable income of $4,000, will have his tax reduced to $1.88; with a taxable income of $10,000, he will pay $52.50, instead of, as now, $101.25, and on $15,000 he will pay $272.13 instead of his present tax of $368.76.

Tax Reduction Explained.

"In so far as the reduction of the income tax on the incomes of individuals is concerned, under our system of graduated surtaxes the reduction of the normal rate is of greater benefit to those with small or moderate incomes than to those with larger incomes. Income from dividends would receive no benefit, since dividends are not subject to the normal tax; but those who receive dividends will, of course, benefit indirectly from the reduction of the corporation tax rate.

"Turning now to other matters: During the last year the Treasury, in connection with its plans for financing the quarterly maturities of the public debt and in addition to the usual certificate offerings, has arranged for issuing a new type of security, to be known as Treasury bills; and under legislation of Congress, approved by the President, it is preparing to issue them from time to time on a discount basis, with maturities not exceeding twelve months, to be sold for cash under competitive conditions at the lowest discount rates or highest prices bid by prospective purchasers. This provides a new type of short-term Government security for banks and other investors, while offering many advantages to the Government in its financing operations.

French Debt Mentioned.

"In July the French government ratified the agreement for funding its war debt to this country, and this agreement will shortly come before Congress for ratification. Settlement of the Austrian debt has been authorized and the Greek debt has been settled, so that the long negotiations for the settlement of the war debts have now been concluded. The total amount funded is $11,579,000,000. During the fiscal year 1929 the Treasury received from the various foreign governments on account of their indebtedness to the United States the sum of $199,000,000, of which $39,000,000 was for account of principal and $160,000,000 for account of interest.

"Taking up now the question of banking policy: A review of the policy of the Federal Reserve Board during the past year shows that it has endeavored to guard against an undue extension of credit through speculative channels and to conserve the country's credit resources for the purpose of meeting future requirements of industry and trade. The strong position in which the Federal Reserve system found itself when the recent sharp decline in security prices took place, and also the prompt action by the system, were important factors in relieving the strain incident to this period of readjustment.

"In banking as in other enterprises of this country, there is increasing evidence of a movement toward larger operating units. The number of branches of banks in operation has increased and more recently there has been a growth also in the number of groups in which several independent banks are operated more or less as a single system. Both of these developments reflect changes in the underlying economic situation.

"The time has come when it would seem wise to undertake a thorough study of the situation with a view to determining the soundness of the present-day tendencies, and more particularly the limits of the economic areas within which branch banking may be advantageously permitted. Hasty legislation, either to liberalize or to constrict limitations now in effect, should be avoided, for our banking structure is the product of many years of dearly-bought experience and is part of an intricate economic fabric whose parts are closely adjusted to one another. A too rapid reorganization would be likely to create serious and costly disturbances that would affect the entire country.

Other Activities Narrated.

"The Treasury contains many activities of which only the briefest mention can be made. During the last year, the Bureau of Engraving and Printing completed the revision of the paper currency designs, with a reduction in the size of the currency. The enforcement of the Federal narcotic laws has continued and has resulted in over 5,000 arrests for violations of these laws during the year. The Bureau of Customs, which collects a large part of our revenue, reports a substantial increase in customs during the year The Public Health Service has done effective work in conserving health and cooperating with the various States. The Coast Guard reports a total of 4,375 lives saved or persons rescued from peril during 1929 and, in addition to its other activities, gave valuable aid in the disastrous Mississippi floods during the spring of the year.

"During the past year the reorganization of the Bureau of Prohibition has been completed in accordance with the act of March 3, 1927 The operations of the Treasury Department in the enforcement of prohibition are becoming stable and more effective. The activity and cooperation of the several bureaus engaged in these operations are making the business of violating prohibition laws more difficult; and

"There remains one more important Treasury activity of which mention must be made. The Office of the Supervising Architect, which has charge of the erection of public buildings, has proceeded with the work of remodeling and erecting buildings within Washington and throughout the country under the Federal building program, which has been authorized by Congress. To date 334 projects have been authorized for the country at large with a total authorization of $189,000,000. In the District of Columbia nine projects have been authorized and work on some of the buildings, such as the new Department of Commerce and the Bureau of Internal Revenue, is now under way. These buildings will form part of the monumental group of buildings on Pennsylvania avenue and the Mall, extending from the Capitol to the Treasury, and with other plans now being made will add greatly to the beauty and dignity of the Nation's Capital.

Work to Be Pushed.

"In so far as circumstances permit, the work on these buildings, both in Washington and throughout the country, will be pushed as rapidly as possible in order to carry out the President's sound and constructive policy for increasing building activity and so stimulating all other lines of endeavor during the months immediately ahead.

"Such, in brief outline, are some of the major activities of the Treasury during the past year. They indicate that the Government's business is in sound condition and that the Government itself is in position to do its part in helping the country to tackle and solve the problems which are ahead—problems which, after all, offer no insuperable difficulties to a people so well equipped with all the essentials of materials, organization, energy and determination to carry the Nation forward to a development whose vast proportions we are beginning only dimly to perceive.

The Secretary's condensed report merely mentioned prohibition, but in the complete report sent to Congress, Mellon gave out some interesting facts and figures in connection with the enforcement of dry laws. "Proper and lawful" methods of enforcement have been explained to agents all over the country, that report states, and all men in the prohibition department have received instructions as to the rights of citizens.

Prohibition Facts Given.

Lecturers and instructors have emphasized the "proper method of securing search warrants and of executing them and the technique of making investigations of the larger and more important cases the report added.

Arrests during the year 1929 totaled 66,678 persons while automobiles seized were valued at $2,879,013 and 89 boats taken by agents were valued at $260,845. All agents are soon to be under Civil Service, the Secretary reported.

Success of the policy of limiting industrial alcohol production to the actual requirements of the country, put in force last January, was another feature of Mellon's report concerning prohibition.

PROPERTY OWNERS HOPE FOR REFUND

sioners have never applied to Congress for the money to make the improvements.

When this situation was brought to the attention of the United States Supreme Court judges yesterday during the course of arguments, the members of the tribunal displayed indignation over the long delay of the District government in meeting the expectations of the taxpayers The Supreme Court will render a final verdict in the case in the near future. The case had been appealed to the high court by the District Commissioners from the Court of Appeals where a verdict favorable to the property owners had been obtained.

William E. Furey represents the property owners and Alexander Bell, jr., is council for the Commissioners.

Furey charges that the property owners paid a total of $14,201.26 in taxes for the property. This sum constituted the entire value of the property at the time. Interest on the taxes paid brings the total sum to approximately $25,000, it is pointed out. The property is valued at the present time at approximately $35,000. Justice Wendell P. Stafford, of the District Supreme Court, is one of the property owners who paid his share of the taxes.

The case being tried in the Supreme Court presents Georginia Thompson as the plaintiff. This is a test case which will affect the more than 200 persons. Mrs. Thompson claims she is due $200 in refunded taxes. The other claims range from $50 to $500.

The property around which the case centers is at the extreme end of Lamont street between Nineteenth street and Adams Mill road. It covers about 24,000 square feet. Bell, representing the District Government, told the court that the property is too steep for vehicular traffic and for this reason Lamont street has never been extended to traverse the small tract. Another defense of the District is that Congress has never supplied the funds for the improvement of the property.

The property today is part of a vista overlooking the Zoological Gardens. Across the end of Lamont street, at the point where the street was supposed to have been extended, there runs a neat piece of curbing. The property presents itself today as a sort of "no man's land" where weeds and wild flowers grow. In the immediate vicinity there are several large modern apartment houses.

Two Suffer Injuries When Cars Collide

Two automobiles crashed yesterday at Eleventh and T streets northwest and overturned, seriously injuring two colored occupants of one car The driver of the other machine was taken to the Eighth Precinct and held for investigation pending the outcome of the Negroes' injuries.

Suffering from internal injuries, Florence Stringfellow and James Frye, both of Temple Court northwest, occupants of one car, were taken to Freedman's Hospital. Frye also was found to be suffering from a fractured arm. Howard Grimsley, 20 years old, of Thirty-fourth street and Dent place northwest, driver of the other car, escaped injury and was taken in custody by police.

Health Perfect Since Using the Herb Extract

Says Prior to Using This Medicine She Was on the Verge of a Nervous Breakdown

Wonderful, indeed, are the statements given for this medicine and not a day passes without some one praising MILLER'S HERB EXTRACT, for the relief it has given them. Nearly three carloads of this medicine have been shipped to Washington in the past few months and today it is the family remedy in thousands of homes

MRS. E. F. KIDWELL

It is said to give almost instant relief even in chronic cases where other medicines had failed to have any effect. Mrs. E. F. Kidwell, 950 Longfellow St. N. W., Washington, says: "I have found Miller's Herb Extract (formerly called Herb Juice), to be the greatest regulator, builder and nerve tonic I ever used and do not hesitate to say that this medicine helped me; in fact, made me a well woman, after other medicines and even special treatments had failed. Why only a few months ago I was on the verge of a nervous breakdown, the least bit of noise would almost drive me frantic, seemed as though a lump would come up in my throat and I felt as though I was going to choke. I had the headache almost every day, kidneys were out of order, back hurt so I could hardly stand the pain and my stomach was in a very bad condition. I had attacks of indigestion that just about finished me and often for hours I would lay stretched out, hardly able to move. Treatments I used helped none at all, so I made up my mind to try this medicine. I have now used two bottles and I never experienced such a wonderful change. Through its action on the liver, bowels and kidneys the poison was soon eliminated from my entire system and I improved every day, nerves become quiet, gas also indigestion pains passed away and I have not had one attack of my former trouble since I began using this medicine. In fact today my health is as near perfect as it could be and I do not hesitate again to say that I owe the wonderful change to Miller's Herb Extract alone."

This great medicine is an herbal preparation (formerly called Herb Juice), and is the largest selling medicine on the market where it is known. Owing to the great demand for Miller's Herb Extract in Washington it was necessary to place two representatives here. These men are located at Store No. 2, 505 9th St. N. W., and Store No. 9, 3rd and M Sts. (Georgetown), of the Peoples Drug Stores, where they are explaining this medicine to the hundreds that call.

For COLDS

We all catch colds and they can make us miserable; but yours needn't last long if you will do this: Take two or three tablets of Bayer Aspirin just as soon as possible after a cold starts. Stay in the house if you can—keep warm. Repeat with another tablet or two of Bayer Aspirin every three or four hours, if those symptoms of cold persist. Take a good laxative when you retire, and keep bowels open. If throat is sore, dissolve three tablets in a quarter-glassful of water and gargle. This soothes inflammation and reduces infection. There is nothing like Bayer Aspirin for a cold, or sore throat. And it relieves aches and pains almost instantly. The genuine tablets, marked Bayer, are absolutely harmless to the heart.

Aspirin is the trade mark of Bayer Manufacture of Monoaceticacidester of Salicylicacid

REBUKED.

The United States Government, because of the officious and unwarranted action of the Secretary of State in lecturing two distant nations as to their duties, suffers a stinging and humiliating rebuke at the hands of Soviet Russia. China, a polite nation, makes a more polite reply to the uninvited suggestion that it observe its obligations. Neither party to the controversy gives any indication that it intends to shape its policy hereafter only after receiving the approbation of the American Secretary of State.

By both direct rebuke and courteous intimation, the United States Government is told to mind its own business.

The Soviet government so cleanly flays the United States Government that no convincing rejoinder to its castigation can be made. In reminding the Secretary of State that the Kellogg treaty does not give to any single state or group of states the function of protector of the pact, the Soviet government discloses a better knowledge of the treaty than is displayed by the spokesman of the United States. The Japanese and German governments also revealed their true understanding of the pact when they refused to join the United States in volunteering to interpret it to Russia and China.

Naturally, a feeble attempt is made to persuade the country that nobody has blundered by intermeddling in Asiatic affairs. But, as is usual in such cases, explanations merely make the blunder more glaring. The joint statement of President Hoover and Prime Minister MacDonald is now cited as if it were authority for distributing advice and admonition to all nations. The joint statement declared that "both our governments resolve to accept the peace pact not only as a declaration of good intentions but as a positive obligation to direct national policy in accordance with its pledge." As the pledge consists solely of the renunciation of war, it does not appear that the United States is called upon, in renouncing war, to offer gratuitous and unctuous advice to other nations, and still less to combine with Great Britain or any other nation in a joint attempt to direct the policy of nations.

The simple truth is that the United States Government is very properly called down for its officious and offensive act in prescribing to other nations what their duty is as America sees it, after consultation with Great Britain. If the rebuke were confined to the individual who earned it there would be no occasion for comment. Unfortunately, however, the prestige of the United States is impaired by such incidents, and its further dealings with foreign nations give rise to uneasiness among Americans so long as they can have no assurance that similar or worse blunders may not be made.

COMMISSIONS AND COMMISSIONS.

President Hoover's fondness for commissions is well known. On several occasions he has expressed his faith in the efficacy of special research bodies, and he has set up several commissions. But he has never been so fully committed to the plan as in his annual message to Congress.

In addition to reorganization of the Federal Power and Radio Commissions, the President suggests a commission to dispose of Muscle Shoals, one to investigate the problems of Haiti, and another to study changes in the national banking laws. He also requested an appropriation to cover expenses of his Commission on Conservation of the Public Domain. When the National Law Enforcement Commission is added to this list it becomes a formidable array of special investigatory bodies.

None of the commissions put in operation during the present administration has had a chance to demonstrate its worth. But the history of the country is replete with records of commissions appointed by previous administrations, and it must be said that the results of their efforts are not impressive. The President has recognized in the commission method of investigation an excellent way of gathering information for his own use on any controversial or intricate subject. Being a practical engineer, he demands all the facts before making up his mind on public issues. That he will obtain accurate information and many wise recommendations from these commissions can not be doubted. But it is quite another matter to impress Congress with either information or recommendations from a subordinate body.

Practically every improvement that can be made in the machinery of government, or in the conduct of public affairs, must be acted on by Congress. The indifference of Congress to commissions is proverbial. Both the House and Senate are frequently willing to appropriate money for commissions recommended by the Executive, and they are equally willing to ignore the findings of those bodies when called upon for action. There seems to be a natural aversion in the legislative mind to taking advice from any outside source.

The most notable contribution of Congress to commissions of this kind is the maintenance of committees to pass on useless documents of the executive departments. These committees make certain that the learned documents resulting from exhaustive research reach the furnace after the proper interval. In the present enthusiasm for appointment of commissions it would be well if this inherent trait of Congress were remembered.

THE NATIONAL BUDGET.

The budget for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1931, transmitted to Congress yesterday by President Hoover, closely approximates in its total the budget for the current year. The total of estimates of appropriations payable from the Treasury comes to $3,830,000,000, as compared with a total for 1930 of $3,976,000,000. In the latter total, however, is included an appropriation of $150,000,000 for the Farm Board revolving loan fund, for which the amount that will be required in 1931 has not yet been determined. For purposes of comparison, this sum must be deducted from the 1930 total. With this item eliminated, the estimates of appropriations for 1931 exceed the appropriations for 1930 by a little more than $4,000,000. To all practical intents and purposes, the administration has succeeded in limiting the estimated budget for 1931 to the total for the current year.

The budget is planned to provide ample funds for carrying forward necessary activities as well as to make possible expansion and increased activity where needed. To do this, it has been necessary to decrease from the current total budget estimates of certain departments and bureaus. It has been found possible to decrease by $4,000,000 the estimate for Veterans' Bureau hospital facilities, by $18,000,000 the Government life insurance fund, by $10,000,000 the census bureau appropriation, by $7,000,000 Army and Navy pensions, by $9,000,000 the item for construction of public buildings, and by $10,000,000 the fund allotted to the inland waterways corporation. Funds released by these decreases have made possible increased estimates for the compensation, hospitalization and insurance activities of the Veterans' Bureau, for the forest service, plant quarantine and control and public roads bureau of the Department of Agriculture, for the Department of Justice, the Coast Guard, the Navy and the Army. A reduction in the principal of the public debt amounting to $11,500,000 is contemplated, as well as a decrease in interest on the public debt amounting to $37,000,000.

The budget provides a total of $719,000,000, exclusive of all items of a nonmilitary character, for the national defense. The Army housing program and the Navy battleship modernization and new ship construction programs are provided for. A total of $33,000,000 is recommended for the purchase of airplanes, their engines, parts and equipment for the Army and Navy. This will make possible the procurement of the fourth increment of the Army five-year air program as authorized by Congress, and the fifth and final increment of the Navy program.

For the current fiscal year, President Hoover reported, the financial situation showed marked improvement over the estimate as presented in the budget a year ago. Receipts showed an increase totaling $408,000,000, whereas disbursements increased only $243,000,000. It is this marked improvement, coupled with an expected surplus next year, that justifies tax reduction. In suggesting that tax reduction be accomplished by reducing by 1 per cent the rate on the normal tax of individuals and corporations applicable to incomes for 1929, the President stressed the fact that it is not possible at this time to extend the period of reduction beyond the year.

Generally speaking, the budget seems to be satisfactory. The fact that the total has been kept within the limitation prescribed, namely, that of the current budget, while, at the same time, estimates have been allowed for expansion where expansion is vitally necessary, constitutes a signal achievement. Advocacy of tax reduction is bound to strike a popular note.

ESTIMATES FOR THE DISTRICT.

Except for the fact that it contemplates retention of the niggardly $9,000,000 lump sum Federal contribution, the District budget for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1931, may be regarded as the best and the most liberal in years. It carries a total of $47,880,000, exceeding by more than $1,500,000 the total allowed by the Budget Bureau in the preliminary estimates, and but $580,000 short of the amount sought by the Commissioners in the final estimates. The budget calls for the continuance of the current tax rate, namely, $1.70 on each $100 of assessed valuation, and provides for the utilization of a part of the surplus deposited to the credit of the District in the Treasury.

Among the activities for which major increases are proposed are the schools, the board of public welfare, the municipal center program, street repairs and lighting, the police and fire departments and the park program. A total in excess of $13,000,000 is proposed for the schools as compared with the $11,980,000 carried in the current budget, which, if granted, will not only permit an increase in personnel but will also make possible needed new construction. Fourteen portable schoolhouses would be replaced under the budget in the coming year. It is specifically proposed that new schools shall be of the four-room extensible type, a design that will make possible the installation of permanent school facilities in new communities that can be expanded as the need arises. The estimate for the board of public welfare is an increase of $600,000 over the current appropriation. Three millions are proposed for the purchase of additional land for the municipal center and an estimate of $65,000 is made for the preparation of plans therefor.

The budget is the largest in the city's history. The total involved is, nevertheless, in the nature of a compromise with absolute necessity. The schools, for example, generously treated as they were, could use to great advantage a considerably larger appropriation, but in view of the facts that the tax rate is at present as high as can be justly levied, and that Congress has indicated that it will not reject the inadequate lump sum appropriation in favor of a proportionate sharing of expenses, it would not have been feasible to propose a larger budget. The sum involved, except for the $9,000,000 Federal contribution, is made up of taxpayers' dollars. It is Washington's money that is to be spent. The public wishes the improvements made, and so long as it pays the cost its wishes should have weight with Congress.

The Kellogg pact may not have teeth, but it certainly has heels.

The weather that accompanied the convening of Congress was quite appropriate.

New York to Boston air fare is reduced. New Yorkers, presumably, are willing to take a plane at any cost in order to get home.

The young Texas lawyer who has hung out his shingle as a "marital director" apparently doesn't object to feminine competition.

The American bar in Bombay does its principal business in milk shakes and sundaes. Americans will be glad to know that there still is a dispensary where milk shakes and sundaes can be obtained.

LANGUAGE AND NATIONALITY

From the Boston Transcript.

In many countries of the world language is a sign of nationality. It is in some countries more than a sign—it is practically the essence of nationality. This is the case in countries like Latvia, Lithuania, Bulgaria and Greece. An effort, which up to this time has been in vain, is in progress in Ireland to make it such there. In that country a serious attempt, but partially successful, is being made to replace the English language with the form of the Gaelic speech known as Irish. Nominally Gaelic is the official language of the country, but speeches may be delivered in the Dail Eireann or Parliament in the English language, since many members know not Gaelic. But the Irish Free State is not officially the Free State—it is the Saorstat. The Gaelic movement there is based on a conviction that no state can be independent in sentiment as well as in fact unless it possesses, and everywhere uses, a language of its own.

There are, however, many countries of undoubted independence, and of thoroughly national sentiment, which have not a language peculiar to themselves. This is strikingly true of the United States of America, which speaks the language of England, and officially only that. It is true of all the Latin-American countries; all of these except Brazil, which speaks Portuguese, speak and officially employ Spanish. It is true that the ordinary language of Paraguay is the Indian tongue known as Guarani, and in that country there is an agitation to make that language official. It is well known that Switzerland, whose political separatism is intense, not only has no peculiar language, but regularly speaks and uses three languages, French, German and Italian. There is, indeed, abundant demonstration that people may be thoroughly patriotic, intensely national, without possessing a peculiar speech.

The kingdom of Belgium is now in a condition of political crisis over its language. Its cabinet has resigned over the issue whether the French language shall be employed in the University of Ghent. There has long been a sympathetic breach between the Flemish-speaking and the French-speaking Belgians. The former predominate in the northern half of the kingdom and the latter in the south. The Flemish speakers, those who speak only Flemish, which is very much the same thing as Dutch, numbered, at the last count, 3,185,000 to 2,850,825 who spoke only French. But there are, besides these, at least a million who speak both languages. The country is practically bilingual. Both tongues are "official." But for some reason the speakers of Flemish and the speakers of French hold each other in contempt, and form party lines on the basis of language. The Flemish speakers are impelled to political separation by the notion that the prevalence of the French language, which is the ordinary speech of Brussels, the capital, tends to bring their country more and more into political subjection to France.

It is possible that the wise Belgian king, who is himself of German blood but is entirely at home in either the French, Flemish, German or English language, can make peace between the warring tongues. A better umpire could not be imagined. He may point out to his people that it is no more a sign of subjection for them to speak or teach the language of France than that of Holland. The case of Switzerland may serve him as a good example, for a German Swiss is no less intensely Swiss than a French or an Italian Swiss. He might also point to the United States, where nobody talks of replacing English with Algonquian or Choctaw. Moreover, even the Flemish speakers of Belgium do not all speak the same language, for there are as many dialects of Flemish as there are provinces, whereas French is French wherever it is spoken.

JUST FOLKS

WINTER GOLF.

They call it golf. You hit the ball,
But I don't think it golf at all.
The temporary green's a swale,
The cup a worn out water pail,
And that the fairways might be saved
Till spring returns, the rules are waived.
This favor winter golf supplies:
One may lift out of cuppy lies.

Behold a four-ball match and see
Both where and how the players tee
Some move the ball three feet ahead
The down hill lie all golfers dread
Is changed to one serenely flat.
Friends have turned foes for less than that!
Thus with all handicaps removed
They think that golfing skill is proved.

If winter golf be golf I'd quit
And learn to hemstitch or to knit.
If just because one rule is waived
Nothing of all the code is saved.
I'd rather sit within my lair
And cheat myself at solitaire.
So, when it's winter golf they play,
I put my bag of clubs away.

A Fig Tree Diseased and Broken Still Produces Figs---Not Thistles.

By ROBERT QUILLEN

THIS is a "short short story" of the kind now offered by magazines to please an age that has no time to waste.

Two dark young men, named Wentworth and Black, were rivals for the affection of a pretty girl whose father owned a small town hotel.

Their courtship became a topic of conversation in the community, as such affairs will in a small town, and there was much solemn shaking of heads when both disappeared without leave taking or explanation.

Some time later the girl went down into the valley of the shadow and did not return. Her child, a boy, was adopted by the grandparents—the aforementioned hotel keeper and his nondescript, middle-class wife.

A small town hotel does not provide an ideal environment for the training of a child, but here the boy lived and learned. Traveling men were his heroes, and porters and chambermaids were his familiars and playfellows.

When the boy was 16 years old, two middle-aged strangers appeared in town and registered at the hotel. One was Wentworth and the other Black.

One had come from the East and one from the West, and neither recognized the other or suspected the other's purpose.

Yet their purposes were identical. Each had been urged by his troubled conscience to visit the scene of his wrong-doing, and each now claimed his son.

Again they were rivals; again the community found them a topic of conversation; but this time they asked the law to bestow the prize.

And the prize was worth winning, for the boy was manly and clean and honorable.

The judge who heard the case was a breeder of horses. He listened to the rival claims and inquired concerning the life and history of the rivals.

Wentworth, it appeared, was a ne'er-do-well—a wandering gambler—the one black sheep in a family that had produced many illustrious men.

Black, on the contrary, was upright and brilliant—a genius some called him—a man who had overcome the handicap of birth, quit his ignoble family, and won both fame and wealth.

"I am sorry," said the judge. "The lad is obviously a gentleman, despite his environment. He is yours, Wentworth."

And then he added: "Horses or men, the evil or excellence of one individual means little. It's the family's blood that's inherited."

THE ONCE OVER

By H. I. PHILLIPS

THE GARBLE SISTERS.
(Just Two Girls Who Read While They Run.)

"I think it's wonderful."

"What?"

"Hoover flying over the South Pole with those eighteen industrial leaders and planning to spend billions of dollars in 1930."

"I knew he'd do it. I saw the talking picture where his mother talked with him from Baltimore to the camp in Iceland or some place."

"It's a great thing for the United States. I was afraid he wouldn't make it."

"Why not?"

"On account of this here Federal Reserve Board."

"What did that have to do with it?"

"Well, I don't know exactly, only its sumpin about interfering with the expedition. Every time there'd be a start for the South Pole money would go too high."

"What was the idea of wanting to fly over the South Pole, anyhow?"

"To restore public confidence."

"In what?"

"In the South Pole, I suppose. A lot of people who were playing it on margin had begin to lose faith in it, I read."

"It's a good buy right now."

"Not for a quick turnover."

"No, but for the long pull."

"You mean if anybody cares to hold it."

"Sure. Didn't you read what Balchen said when everything looked the worst?"

"What did he say?"

"'My son and I are in the market now. Things are just as good an investment as they ever were.'"

"Did everybody get back from the flight over the pole without any accidents at . ?"

"Everybody except Knute Rockne. I just read where he is in bad shape still."

"What did they find it was like?"

"The country was all ice and snow, with glaciers and everything, but it was fundamentally sound."

"Didn't the same party fly over the North Pole once?"

"It says here that he's the only man that ever flew over the poles twice."

"Twice over the same pole?"

"No, different poles, I think."

"Anything else exciting in the headlines?"

"Only about that great 90-yard run in the Notre Dame-Army game."

"Who made it?"

"Some fellow named Byrd."

LADY BALTIMORE CAKE.

Mrs. Marie Wherrett sends to the Baltimore Sun the following recipe for Lady Baltimore Cake, stating that it is from an old cookbook sent to her from a friend in South Carolina:

Two cups fine granulated sugar, one cup of butter, six eggs, yolks and whites beaten separately, one cup of sweet milk, one teaspoonful of rose water, two and a half cups of flour sifted three times, with two teaspoonfuls of baking powder. Take sugar and butter, beat to a cream, add the beaten yolks of six eggs to sugar and butter beaten until very light, add the milk, then the sifted flour and baking powder and last the rose water and the whites of six eggs beaten to a stiff foam. Beat the whole vigorously and bake in four layers.

The filling is as follows:

Dissolve three cups of fine granulated sugar in a cup of boiling water. Then add to this clear sirup the whites of four eggs stiffly beaten, six figs minced fine, 1½ cups of chopped raisins, the same of chopped maraschino cherries and cup of grated pecan nut meats. Place this between the layers of cake and ice the whole cake on the sides as well as the top.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

All Day Parking on Residence Streets—Law Should Reserve Space for Occupants of Houses.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: About four years ago I read a letter published in The Post, and written by a man who stood on the corner of I street, at Eighteenth, and counted the number of persons in each motor car. Nine times out of ten the occupant was one man. The same proportion probably holds good today. For a long time the people of Washington, outside of a comparatively small group, have suffered from the intolerable nuisance of all-day parking. On certain streets, such as I, a householder, or person who rents, may never have the privilege of driving his own car to his own door at any time except on Sunday. Deliveries must be made hastily from the middle of the street, and friends may reach the house as best they can, through a solid mass of mechanism stretching the full length of the block. A handsome residence, beautifully appointed, may have standing in front of its door an automobile so old, so battered, so hopeless, that its proper place is on the junk heap, and this for between eight and nine hours. I lived there, and speak from experience.

Instead of describing my reactions to the brazenness of all-day parking, which would require some time, I wish to offer a constructive idea. Many persons have wondered why strangers had a right to use the parking space in front of a house, when it seemed so naturally to belong to the house itself. A law to that effect would make each space immediately before each house a part of the property, and at once, and automatically abolish the right of men coming from a distance to monopolize it. Personally I can see no disadvantage to the general public in this change, barring the all-day parkers, and they have enjoyed the tender consideration of city officials long enough. Give them to understand that when they buy an automobile a part of the street is not thrown in as a bonus.

This letter applies more to the residential districts. The evil downtown is about to correct itself, having grown beyond even the patience of those in authority.

L. T. TAYLOR.

"Education" by Radio a Fallacy—Information and Education Two Different Things.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Now and then one sees in newspapers a headline announcing "education by radio." Another occasional headline is "visual education." Propagandists, too, talk about educating the people. This, as any one who stops to think a moment will easily see, comes from a mistake about the meaning of education. It would be quite right to say "information by radio," but information is not education. Education comes through brain work. It implies training in the power and practice of thinking. You may pour information into people, but you can not pour education into anybody.

There are short cuts to information. There are no short cuts to education. It is true that education and information are related to each other, but they are by no means the same thing. The confusion has come to be a common one, and it does harm, especially in schools.

Sensible Christmas Giving and Rewards to Firemen Approved by Writer.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: I read the letters from your correspondents nearly always with interest and often with profit.

I warmly agree with two suggestions made in your column last week. One was from the writer who made a plea for sensible Christmas giving. Why give to those who are already burdened with too much? How much more the real spirit of Christmas to give only to those who need.

The other writer who struck a responsive chord was the one who made a plea for greater recognition in the form both of salaries and of gratitude for our heroic fire fighters. It has long seemed to me strange the way we make heroes of football players who uselessly run a ball down a field, instead of making heroes of these magnificent men who constantly endure the greatest risks and physical hardships in the most useful and necessary public service, that of saving property and life.

MILDRED HARRIS.

Is Enforcement Better or Law-Breaking More General?

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Attorney General Mitchell has just made public the record of his department for the fiscal year ending last June. It shows that the Government padlock has been applied to almost double the number of cabarets, night clubs, blind pigs and other places where "pisen peddlers" have dispensed moonshine, white mule and other noxious gargle to those who must look to their stomachs instead of their brains for enjoyment.

These figures show that enforcement has reached a new level of efficiency, or else that appetite and lawlessness have scored another triumph.

The general public will hope for the best but prepare for the worst.

Yes, It's a Reflection on the Folks Back Home.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: The satire of our representatives in Washington has reached a saturation point with the public. The time has arrived when the voter doesn't enjoy low satire at the expense of the man sent to Washington as a congressman or senator.

When the press berates our congressmen and senators they are berating the folks who sent them there.

The congressmen and senators are like the young preacher who was told by his elder uncle divine that he couldn't preach. The young minister replied: "I think I do pretty damn well."

MEXICAN OFFICIALS CONFER IN NEW YORK

Metropolis Seen as Capital of Republic During Stay of Statesmen.

RUBIO CROSSES BORDER

New York, Dec. 4 (A.P.).—New York promises to become the temporary capital of the Mexican Republic, in the opinion of observers of Mexican affairs, who believe the New Mexican cabinet and Mexico's economic policy will be decided here.

The arrival today of a group of high Mexican officials, headed by Postmaster General Arturo Elias, was interpreted by well-informed observers here as the forerunner of a series of conferences within the next few weeks that may decide not only the complexion of the new government which takes office next year, but may also have a most important bearing on the Republic's fiscal policies.

Gen. Plutarco Elias Calles, former president and one of Mexico's outstanding leaders, is expected in New York from France next week. President-elect Ortiz Rubio, who is en route to Johns Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore, where it is reported he will take a rest treatment, in all probability also will come to New York later. United States Ambassador Dwight W. Morrow is expected in New York from Mexico City next week.

Mexican Group Present.

Postmaster General Elias, former consul general for Mexico in New York City and half-brother of Gen. Calles, was accompanied today by a number of Mexican governors, legislators and prominent public officials. The party has taken headquarters at the Pennsylvania Hotel, where a large section of one floor has become Spanish-speaking for the time being. Col. Samuel C. Rojas, Mexican military attache in Washington, has joined the party.

There are rumors of possible financial conferences in which Thomas W. Lamont and other financiers, who have been helping Mexico to regularize its foreign obligations, are mentioned as likely conferees.

Mexican cabinet making, it was pointed out by well-informed observers, will be much easier in New York, far from the pressure of Mexican political factions, than it would be in Mexico City.

There is much speculation as to the composition of the cabinet which the president-elect will choose, but the opinion seems to be general that it will be a conservative cabinet, a cabinet designed to win the confidence of foreign nations and to strengthen Mexico's financial position abroad.

Brownsville, Tex., Dec. 4 (A.P.).—Seeking to correct a physical ailment before his inauguration, Pascual Ortiz Rubio, president-elect of Mexico, entered the United States here today en route to an American hospital.

The president-elect and a party of 12 journeyed from Mexico City aboard a special train. They were met by a small group, including Arthur B. Lane, of the Mexican affairs division of the Department of State in Washington, at Matamoros, Mexico.

The coaches were transferred to an American line, and after a brief stop in Brownsville, the party departed for Houston and New Orleans. During his brief visit here, the president-elect was greeted by Col. Van Voorhis, commander of Fort Brown.

Besides his wife and three children, other members of Ortiz Rubio's party included Perez Trevino, former governor of Coahuila and former chief of staff under President Obregon, and his wife.

In a statement given to newspapermen, the president-elect declared one of his chief aims would be to bring about a better understanding between the United States and Mexico.

Motor Ills Down Blimp in Alabama

Pilot Van Orman Waits on Repair Job to Continue Exhibition Flight.

Gadsden, Ala., Dec. 4 (A.P.).—Halted in a projected 1,100 mile exhibition flight from Akron, Ohio, to Miami, Fla., by motor trouble, the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co.'s baby blimp, Defender, rested in the hangar at the company's Southern plant here tonight. Its departure for the Florida city is contingent upon the hour repairs are completed.

Ward T. Van Orman, noted balloonist, chief pilot of the blimp, would set no hour for the Defender's departure. He said the motors were losing compression and that the time required for rectifying the trouble was indefinite. If possible, Van Orman said, the trip would be resumed tomorrow.

The blimp developed motor trouble while in the vicinity of Knoxville, Tenn., shortly after 10 a. m. today. The labor in the motors became so pronounced as the ship moved on toward Chattanooga that it returned for additional supply of oil. The fuel was taken aboard from the Knoxville Airport by rope and the flight continued. It landed here and was towed into the hangar at 2:15 o'clock.

Girl Leaves Paris To Marry Sultan

Shop Clerk Will Wed Aga Kahn Saturday at Aix-Les-Bains.

Paris, Dec. 4 (A.P.).—A chocolate shop employe, Andree Carron, left Paris tonight for Aix-les-Bains, where on Saturday morning she will wed Aga Khan, the third Sultan Mohammed Shah, and tremendously wealthy sportsman.

She displayed none of the usual feminine abhorrence of telling her age. "It has been said I am 21 years old; I am exactly 31," she said. She showed a birth certificate giving her full name of Andree Josephine Marie Leonie Carron and stating that she came into the world at 11:15 p. m., August 15, 1898, at Chambery.

Mlle. Carron has ordered no new clothes for her marriage, but will wear a green velvet dress trimmed with brown fur, the famous racing colors of her fiance, for the ceremony. Her sister described her as much more interested in sports than in clothes. She plays golf and likes to ride horseback.

Property Posted for Taxes.

Twenty-odd thousand pieces of property were advertised yesterday for delinquent taxes. The advertisement was authorized by Chatham M. Towers, collector of taxes. The law provides for the sale of the property for taxes which have been unpaid since the last fiscal year. The delinquent property will be advertised once more this month and sold next month.

The Listening Post

By CARLISLE BARGERON

WELL, sir, if John J. Raskob, the much-trouble chairman of Democratic national committee, hasn't turned out to be another George H. Moses. Which is to say, he has put his foot in it.

One recalls during the recent campaign how Moses outraged the Massachusetts Republican camp when he kept expressing doubt as to whether the State could be carried. And of more recent date he has made certain Republican senators see red when he spoke of the difficulties which they would have being reelected. Only a few days ago, in fact, he returned from Chicago and the report went around that he had said, whether he did say it or not, "It's a toss-up," referring, of course, to the forthcoming primary contest between Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick and Senator Deneen. This was flattering to Mrs. McCormick because she is on the outside trying to get in but it gave Senator Deneen no appetite. The public suggestion that Mrs. McCormick might get his seat, notwithstanding it to be a fact, is such plain speaking that does not endear the chairman of the Republican senatorial campaign committee to Mr. Deneen. Neither does his frank expression of the hard time the Republicans are to have in other States make the Republican aspirants in those States rush to embrace him.

* * * *

BUT lo and behold, it develops that the Democrats have their own Senator Moses.

Mr. Raskob walked quite unobtrusively into the Senate Press Gallery yesterday and delivered himself of an interview.

Dwight Morrow, he said very frankly, was an excellent appointment from New Jersey to succeed Senator Edge and, furthermore, he would stand a good chance of being elected over Senator Edwards next year. Mr. Raskob states but a fact, of course, but such heresy— utterances of this character from a Democrat concerning a Republican. It has been practiced heretofore by no one but Senator Moses. No one else has had the hardihood but he. Mr. Raskob bids fair to achieve similar fame with all the attending ruckus.

* * * *

BUT, did the dimunitive Democratic chairman content himself with this frank statement. Indeed, he did not. He said he thought the President's business conferences had done a lot of good, and revealed that Mr. Hoover was a good man and knows what to do. Maybe this is true and maybe it isn't. Coming from the Democratic chairman one is inclined to doubt one's ears.

The only thing to do, of course, is what the outraged Republicans talked about when Senator Moses spoke so frankly, or rather, spoke out of turn. Throw him out! Men who lend such comfort as this to the enemy will never do.

The incident would seem to reveal, too, that Mr. Raskob's Democratic headquarters here is not reflecting its master's voice. It has not heaped any praises upon Mr. Morrow or let out any loud yells of delight on the President's business conferences. Of the latter, it refrained from saying they were wrong or did no good, but it intimated rather strongly that it was Mr. Hoover's fault that the condition was brought about that necessitated the conferences.

Now, that's the way a Democrat should talk. He hasn't enough to concede anything to the enemy.

One wonders whether Mr. Raskob's heresy presages his retirement from politics and return to business, at which he was such a success and in which one can afford to speak frankly. Tom Heflin always had his doubts about Raskob being a Democrat, anyway.

Edison Begins Final Labors To Get Rubber From Weeds

Inventor, Already Discoverer of Secret Process, Goes to Florida This Morning to Experiment on Five Carloads of Laboratory Material.

West Orange, N. J., Dec. 4 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—When Thomas A. Edison leaves his Llewellyn Park home tomorrow morning for Fort Myers, Fla., he will start upon the final phase of four years of experiments which have finally yielded him the secret of obtaining rubber in large quantities from golden rod and other weeds which abound in this country. Five freight cars filled with weeds and laboratory material have been sent to Florida by the famous inventor and a dozen assistants are now at work setting up equipment at Fort Myers.

Fred Ott, chief experimenter of the Edison Laboratories who has been with Mr. Edison for 55 years, left for Florida today to have the equipment in shape so that the inventor can start work the moment he arrives in the South. For several days Edison has been working day and night on his experiments.

The greatest secrecy is being maintained at the Edison experimental plant. It had not been intended to make an announcement of Edison's success in extracting the elements of rubber from weeds, but the inventor made mention of the fact when he was presented with an engrossed memorial by the people of New Jersey Tuesday.

William H. Meadowcroft, secretary to Edison, admitted today that the inventor had met with success and that he could now see it will be possible to make a substitute rubber at approximately 16 cents a pound, the cost of real rubber today. The inventor believes his substitute will be an even better product than the present commercial product.

Meadowcroft would not disclose today the basis of the new product. When he was asked if the golden rod, against which many health officials have been waging a war of extermination because its pollen is peculiarly irrating to hay fever patients, was the weed to be used by Edison, he replied that some of the best results in making rubber had been obtained from that plant.

"However, Mr. Edison has obtained the elements of rubber from other weeds also," he said. "Many weeds have the necessary properties. The problem has been the selection of the most commercially effective and profitable weed."

No details of the process were made public by Meadowcroft except that it involved long boiling. It is said that the leaves of the weeds are removed and the stems are then dried and pulverized by machinery. The addition of certain chemicals gives the necessary resiliency and elasticity.

Great fields of golden rod have been grown by the inventor near his Fort Myers laboratories for the last three years. Several hundred other varieties of weeds from all over the world have also been under cultivation. Henry Ford and Harvey Firestone have both been deeply interested in the Edison experiments.

Edison is understood to regard the creation of a rubber substitute as one of the finest opportunities for public service. If his plan is a complete success it will make the United States independent of the large rubber plantations now in the control of foreign capitalists.

Edison has completely recovered from his illness of last August and looks forward with keen interest to his work during the winter months in the South.

Sons of Confederates Choose F. P. Meyers

Fred P. Meyers has been elected commander of Washington Camp No. 305, Sons of Confederate Veterans. Other officers are Benjamin Grady, adjutant; Gordon W. Wilkins, treasurer; Eugene W. Mercier, first lieutenant; J. Raymond Pope, second lieutenant; Ernest R. Taylor, color bearer; the Rev. J. R. Briggs, chaplain; Dr. M. A. Russell, surgeon, and J. E. Beall, quartermaster.

An open meeting will be held by the camp on Tuesday at the Confederate Memorial Hall, 1322 Vermont avenue northwest. Invitations have been extended to the Confederate Veterans, Daughters of the Confederacy and Sons of the Confederacy.

Ludlow Survey Shows Editors Oppose Tariff

(Associated Press.)

Representative Ludlow (Democra), Indiana, announced yesterday a Nation-wide survey he had conducted of editorial opinion on the pending tariff bill showed the country generally was opposed to the measure on the ground that Congress had failed to hold the legislation to President Hoover's recommendations for limited revision.

Out of 432 replies received, he said, 358 editors voiced opposition and 74 indicated support. Of the 125 editors who discussed the desirability of a flexible tariff, he said, 63 favored adoption of a sliding-scale principle as against 62 who urged that changes be made through the Tariff Commission and the President, as provided under existing law.

The replies, he asserted, showed the country supported President Hoover's plan for limited revision, as against the "sweeping alterations" carried in the pending bill.

LINDBERGH TO JOIN HUNT FOR AIR PILOT

Fifteen Planes to Take Off Today in Effort to Locate Missing Flier.

$500 REWARD IS OFFERED

Cleveland, Ohio, Dec. 4 (A.P.).—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, Paul Collins, general superintendent of the Transcontinental Air Transport Co., New York, and Phil Love, of the St. Louis air mail route, will join Wesley L. Smith and his fliers of the National Air Transport Co. here tomorrow in their search for Thomas P. "Nel" Nelson, missing since early Monday.

Smith said late today that Col. Lindbergh had wired from New York that he would fly to Cleveland tomorrow to aid in the search for his missing friend. Lindbergh, on reaching Bellefonte, Pa., will fly over the route which Nelson took if the storm did not brush him from the course. Love, former flying buddy of Lindbergh and Nelson on the St. Louis air mail route, left St. Louis today. Collins arrived late today and immediately entered into the councils for the renewal of the search by air tomorrow morning.

Smith sent a flier to Pelee Island in Lake Erie today, but no information which would support the belief that Nelson was swept over Lake Erie was obtained. Residents of the island had neither seen nor heard a plane on Monday or Tuesday, they said.

Nelson was rated as the "king of air-mail pilots" flying the route between Cleveland and Bellefonte. His daring and courage have led Smith and his brother fliers of the N. A. T. to assert that he would not have attempted to dodge the storm but would have chosen to fight his way through sticking to his regular route.

At least fifteen planes, piloted by some of the Nation's finest fliers, will swing out in a fan formation from the N. A. T. field here tomorrow morning in what officials believe will be the last chance of finding Nelson alive.

Reports from Stoneboro, Pa., that a plane had been heard to crash near there on Monday was again given credence and that district will undergo another thorough search tomorrow. Smith, manager of the N. A. T. in Cleveland, still believes there is a chance that Nelson did crash near Stoneboro.

Lester Seymour, Chicago flier, is expected to be here tomorrow to join the search.

The National Air Transport Co., in whose service Nelson was flying, has offered a reward of $500 for information leading to the finding of Nelson, his body or his plane.

Forest Service's Budget Increased

$3,000,000 Is Added to Estimate to Allow More Intensive Work.

(Associated Press.)

The estimated appropriations for the fiscal year 1931 for the Forest Service show an increase of over $3,000,000, the total required being placed at $19,759,230 in the 1931 budget, compared with $16,469,780 appropriated for 1930.

Most of the increase will be turned into more comprehensive and more intensive work, over $1,000,000 of the extra amount coming under the head of salaries and expenses brought about by increases in the Forest Service personnel, range investigations, economic surveys, and forest management.

Under the heading of National Forest Improvement, an increase of $1,000,000 was asked for the construction and maintenance of trails, roads, fire lanes and houses. There was an increase of $300,000 in the appropriation for use in cooperating with States in fire prevention work, and $10,000 for cooperative distribution of forest planting stock.

West's Name Withdrawn As U. S. Envoy to Japan

(Associated Press.)

President Hoover had an experience which has come to few Presidents—that of having to withdraw the name of a prospective ambassador from consideration by a foreign government.

Some time ago the Chief Executive decided to appoint Roy O. West, of Chicago, Interior Secretary in the Coolidge Cabinet, as Ambassador to Japan and sent his name to Tokyo for the customary approval before making the appointment public.

Soon after the Japanese government was communicated with, West reconsidered, having found it inadvisable to enter the diplomatic service. The President now is casting about for an Ambassador to the Tokyo post, one of the most important of all of the diplomatic assignments.

Silver Years

"After the golden years of youth, come those of fine silver."

By GERTRUDE S. TROWBRIDGE.

I like that attitude of the old Greek philosopher, who always saluted a certain youth in the market place, although the response was but a rude stare. When the master's disciples asked indignantly why he continued to notice such a boor, the old sage answered: "Because I am responsible for my own manners, not for his."

Once, when my father and my sister were walking together, they met a cousin who had done the family much harm. The girl refused even to bow, but my father held out his hand with complete forgiveness. The cousin, overcome by such generosity, accepted the overture and stammered a sincere apology. As they separated my sister, still resentful, expostulated: "How could you forgive that man?" The reply was calm and immediate. "Because life is too short for animosity."

No wonder that Goethe said, "One must grow old in order to become really charitable."

Those who cultivate similar beauty of soul do not realize how lovely their faces become nor how haunting will be their influence when they pass on.

I remember one such face of beauty that impressed me in a big crowd. It was that of a widow, recently deprived of her only son, a brilliant lawyer, who had supported her in affluence. After his death, a bank failure swept away all that he had left her. There remained only an imbecile daughter whom the mother then supported by cooking at a lunch room. Yet she held her head royally and I have never forgotten her expression of conquest and high breeding. It reminded me of the Spanish proverb, "A lady always gives gayly."

President's Message Praised by W. C. T. U.

Chicago, Dec. 4 (A.P.).—Commenting upon President Hoover's message to Congress, the National Women's Christian Temperance Union today issued the following statement:

"The President's message is great. We will support his recommendations. President Hoover places great emphasis on law observance by the individual, which is the main object of the educational work of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union. This message will greatly hearten the home-keeping women whose greatest fight has been to rid the country of the liquor traffic, legal and illegal."

CHURCH HEAD URGES INTEREST IN LABOR

Warns That Trend of Textile Worker Is Away From Institutions.

STRIKE CASES ARE CITED

Chicago, Dec. 4 (A.P.).—Protestant churches in most cities of the country were likely to be found in greater numbers on "the comfortable side of town," James Myers, industrial secretary of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America, said at the council's annual executive committee meeting today. Myers, recently returned from the textile areas of the South, warned that danger of a trend of industrial workers away from the church was by no means confined to that section.

Textile workers of the South have been) exceedingly religious, Myers said, yet "in more than one situation the Southern worker and labor leaders said 'they didn't know what to think about the churches anymore because the preachers—involved in the mill village system as they are—have been in most cases powerless to do anything about the conditions against which these workers have been in revolt."

"In a few cases," the speaker continued, "local mill village ministers have been known as 'the worst enemies of the strikers,' opposing the union when people in desperation adopted the strike as a last resort to remedy conditions which they felt to be intolerable. Such events can have but one result. Workers tend to lose their faith in the sincerity and integrity of the churches and cease to attend."

The same danger of a trend of the working classes away from the church, he said, was found in the mining fields of Pennsylvania and Colorado and in the big cities where contact was lacking between labor and church.

Dr. F. Ernest Johnson, secretary of the council's commission on research and education, said organized religion could strengthen its hand by convincing the public that "we can be as loyal to the truth as secular scientists." Questions such as prohibition, motion picture control, marriage and divorce, sex education and limitation of offspring were cited as among those for which slight provision has been made by organized religion for "an unbiased exploration of fact."

"IT WILL LAST ALL WINTER," they told him as he put in a substitute anti-freeze. But a tiny hole appeared in a hose-connection. The substitutes vanished. Then, out far on a country road, a jet of steam from his radiator! He hadn't been checking his radiator solution . . . and here was a freeze-up! That steam shows how badly his motor is frozen! EVENTS OF INTEREST IN CAPITAL SOCIETY

Society Fetes Hail Opening Of Musicales

Luncheon Parties Make Gay Scenes After Premiere.

By JEAN ELIOT.

AT the first of Mrs. Lawrence Townsend's "musical mornings," held yesterday at the Mayflower, the "White House box" was unoccupied while chiefs of diplomatic missions and members of the Cabinet group were not so much in evidence as is customary at these concerts, which annually bring society together for the enjoyment of music and pleasant social contacts. And, if one discovered certain familiar figures hovering inconspicuously in the background—well, music is the one form of diversion which is considered permissable even for those whose mourning is personal in character and there were several ladies in deep mourning in the audience.

"Everybody" prominent in the Capital's unofficial groups seemed to be present, the boxes being filled with distinguished women and a sprinkling of men who can spare time in the morning hours for such diversion. The ballroom, indeed, was filled to overflowing and the audience waxed enthusiastic over the charming program presented by Miss Anna Case and Signor Guiseppe De Luca, of the Metropolitan Opera.

The program over, there was an impromptu reception in the corridor, before the company broke up into animated groups for luncheon parties which followed the concert.

Entertaining in compliment to her artists, Mrs. Townsend had an interesting company of luncheon guests, among whom were Signora de Lucca, Representative and Mrs. Charles R. Eaton, of New Jersey, who had known Miss Case frtom childhood, and their daughter, Miss Starr Eaton; Mrs. Arthur O'Brien, Miss Caroline Roebling, Mrs. Franklin Terry, of New York, and her daughter, Miss Lillian Emerson, who is Mrs. Townsend's goddaughter, and Mr. and Mrs. Rex Townsend, son and daughter-in-law of the hostess, who had come from New York especially to be present.

With Mr. and Mrs. Rex Townsend at the concert was Miss Fritzi Scheff, who is playing in Washington this week in Mlle. Modise, and who is an old friend of the Townsend family.

Mrs. E. T. Stotesbury, who had expected to come from Philadelphia for the concert and for Mrs. Townsend's luncheon, was prevented by illness.

Mme. Debuchi, wife of the Ambassador of Japan, was the guest in whose honor Mrs. William Fitch Kelley entertained at luncheon today at the Mayflower, following the concert. Others in her party were Mrs. William Bailey Lamar, Mrs. James R. Mann, Mrs. Lindsay Morehead, Miss Callie Doyle, Mrs. Peter Drury, Mrs. Robert Love Taylor, Miss Anna G. Connolly, Miss Eleanor M. Connolly and Mrs. Charles Marsh

Mme. Henry Roso, who has recently returned to Washington from Paris, was hostess to a company of eight at luncheon, her guests including Senora de Alfaro, Mrs. Guy Despard Goff, Mrs. Henry H. Hough, Mrs. Charles H. Harlow, Mrs. Perry Heath, Mrs. Joseph Washington and Mrs. Henry Alvah Strong.

Mrs. Gillett Hill entertained in compliment to her godchild, Miss Jean Courtney Hay, who had as her guests Miss Junia Culbertson, Miss Vittoria Catalani, Miss Katharine Lowman, Miss Mildred Huston, Miss Isabel Lamberton, Miss Engracia Freyer, Senorita Lucia Tessada Guzman, Miss Mary Parrish Bradley, Baroness Ungern-Sternberg, Miss Margaretta Wright, Miss Mary Ruden, Miss Janet Elizabeth Murray, Miss Nancy Beale, Miss Barber-Neil Thomas, Miss Clara Bolling, Miss Bina Day Deneen, Miss Jocelyn Hibbard, Miss Betty Thorpe, Miss Elizabeth Dunlop, Miss Helen Walker and Miss Nancy James Adams.

Mrs. M. de Clare Berry's guests were Mrs. Morris Sheppard, Mrs. Frank B. Freyer, Miss Gytha Stourton, Miss Sophie Casey and Mrs R. M. Stuart-Wortley, daughter of the late Admiral Schley.

Among other prominent luncheon hostesses were Mrs. Walter F. George, Mrs. Ralph Worthington, Mrs. Charles C. McChord, Mrs. Wallace Dempsey, Mrs. Sydney A. Cloman, Mrs. James A. Lyon, Mrs. Frank Letts, Mrs. Thomas H. C. Reed and Mrs. W. P. Tams, who entertained Mrs. James D. Fife, Mrs. Robert L. Colins, Mrs. Lee R. Dunbar, Mrs. E. F. Patterson and Mrs. George B. Welch.

Others glimpsed at the concert were Mrs. Tasker Oddie, Mrs. Stephen B. Elkins, Mr. and Mrs. Perry Belmont, Mrs. Frank Mitchell, Mrs. Lyman Kendall, Miss Mabel Boardman, Mrs. Sol Bloom, Miss Vera Bloom, Mrs Adam Wyant, Mrs. Clyde Kelly, Mrs. Marcus Benjamin, Rear Admiral and Mrs. Joseph Strauss, Miss Alys Downing, Mrs. William A. Slater, Mrs. George Wade Martin, Mrs. Macpherson Crichton, Mrs. Ralph Richards, Mrs. Robert Hinckley, Mrs. Marcus Benjamin, Mrs. H. H. Rousseau, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Tuckerman, Mrs. Reeve Lewis, Mrs. Beverly Williamson, Mrs. Sidney Taliaferro, Mrs. Maurice Thatcher.

Also Mrs. Claude Swanson, Mrs Henry C. Corbin, Mrs. Wade Ellis, Mrs. William Wheatley, Mrs. Walter Wells, Mrs. Franklin Ellis, Mrs. Armistead Peter 3d, Mrs. Hampson Gary, Mrs. Henry Parsons Erwin, Mrs. David DuBose Gaillard and Mrs. Randall Hagner.

Capital Subdebs Have Parts in Play.

A distinguished group of official, social and educational leaders in the Capital City will act as sponsors for the 1929 edition of the annual "Troubadour Show" which is to be presented on the evenings of Thursday, Friday and Saturday of next week at McKinley Auditorium. This season's "all-Washington production" is called "Gyped in Egypt," and it is entirely written, composed, staged and acted by the student body at George Washington University, under the direction of Mr. Denis E. Connell.

Among the Washington girls who are appearing in "Gyped in Egypt" are Miss Carolyn Jackson, Miss Barbara Miller, Miss Jean Kirkwood, Miss Vivian Ward, Miss Betsy Garrett, Miss Marian Moulden, Miss Lillian Breckinridge, Miss Margaret Calvert and Miss Marian Lum. Included in the cast of the play are Miss Mildred Burnham, Miss Jane Wilson, Miss Wilhelmina Gude and Miss Caroline Brasch. The "chorus girls" are divided into the "tall, middle and little chorus," and comprise girl students, all of whom are members of the Troubadours.

A bridge party for the benefit of the Alpha Delta Phi endowment fund was held on Tuesday evening at Tilden Gardens, with Mrs. Glen E. Eakin as hostess. There were 80 present.

Enchanting gifts from lands across the sea will feature the missionary bazaar to be given under the direction of the B. Branches of the Women's Auxiliaries of the Episcopal Churches in Washington and its environs on December 11-13 at the Parish Hall of the Church of the Epiphany. The articles, selected with care by missionaries from all parts of the world, will be on sale from 2 until 10 o'clock during the three days of the bazaar.

Dental Society Plans Dance.

The District of Columbia Dental Society will hold the annual midwinter dance at the Carlton Hotel Saturday, December 7, at 7:30 o'clock.

The dance will be in charge of the social relations committee composed of the following members: Dr. L. M. Cuvillier, chairman; Dr. J. R. Hogan, Dr. G. L. Lansdale, Dr. C. L. Fifth Ave. Fashions NEW YORK

By MARIE PAULETTE.

THE everyday question of "what shall I wear to the bridge" is answered in Style No. 8232.

It is one of those adorable frocks that just seem to fit perfectly into the wardrobe of the socially busy woman of today.

It is exquisitely lovely. Sophisticated, but not conspicuous, which makes it so appropriate and smart choice for daytime occasions. It can be worn for a hurried shopping trip in morning and then luncheon or bridge. It is equally attractive for Sunday night occasions.

The open Vionnet neckline complemented by bertha cape collar is so entirely flattering. Sleeves are fitted with darts to give arms a slender appearance below the elbows.

The fitted hip yoke with deep scallop at front emphasizes the fashionable waistline all Paris is talking about.

The circular skirt ripples beautifully at hem while the upper part is cleverly shaped to fit hip yoke, so as to give figure sleek slender line.

It can be copied exactly in the medium size with 3⅝ yards of 39-inch material and made in about two hours' time. Simply a two-piece skirt to be seamed and stitched to two-piece hip yoke, which is attached to the two-piece bodice which has been seamed at sides and shoulders. The sleeves are then set into armholes and collar stitched at neckline, and this charming dress is ready to wear. The saving is well worth the effort.

It is designed in sizes 16, 18, 20 years, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust.

It is very youthful and wearable in printed silk crepe, canton crepe, faille silk crepe, crepe satin and featherweight woolens.

For a pattern of today's style, fill out coupon, writing very clearly, and be sure to state number and size of pattern. Send coupon with 15 cents (stamps or coin) to Fashion Bureau, Washington Post, 259 Fifth avenue, New York City.

All our styles are created in Paris or New York. Every pattern contains full directions. No experience necessary. Very easy to use and guaranteed to fit perfectly.

OLD BILLS SETTLED IN FAIRFAX COUNTY

$4,000 Gasoline Fund Is Divided Among Six Districts.

ACTION ON HOGS SHIFTED

FAIRFAX BUREAU OF THE POST.
P. O. Box 245, Vienna, Va.
Phone Vienna 64.

The board of supervisors of Fairfax County held its regular monthly meeting yesterday. The greater portion of the morning session was spent in checking the accounts of the various departments of the county.

The petition of Sidney Wrenn, of Chantilly, was presented. He asked payment for the goods furnished the overseer of the poor from June, 1916, until 1927. These bills have been presented to the supervisors at various dates, but had not been presented in the form required by law. The accounts amounted to $2,008.19.

The supervisors had appealed to the circuit court for a ruling upon the time limit for the payment of such bills. A ruling was returned that the limitation was five years, previous to the time when they had been properly presented to the board. A hearing was held by the supervisors and sworn testimony was taken. It was decided that the bills had been properly presented in January, 1926, and that the bills for 1926 and 1927 for $475 had been properly presented and paid. Under the ruling of the court, the bills of 1916, 1917 and 1920, amounting to $225, could not be paid. Wrenn was ordered to be paid $1,313.19, which was accepted by him as full payment and discharge of all claims.

Acre of Land Sought.

A petition was ordered filed with the circuit court asking that the supervisors be allowed to acquire one acre of land adjacent to the county road equipment depot at the corner of Little River turnpike and Burke road. The land, to be used for storage purposes, will be purchased from W. M. Croson for $1,000.

The board adopted a resolution addressed to the Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey asking that it depart from its regular method of constructing filling stations and erect a building of colonial design on the lot at the corner of Lee Highway and Payne street. The board feels that buildings erected near the courthouse should be in architectural harmony with it. The county clerk stated that the room which the board had granted to be used for the establishment of a county library was still used by him for the storage of old records and that it would work a hardship on the county to have to move them. The board rescinded the action and granted the use of a room on the second floor in the same building for the library.

Gasoline Fund Divided.

The fund of $4,702.19, from the State gasoline tax for October, was divided equally among the six districts. The report of the county traffic police for November was approved. It showed that Capt. Haywood J. Durrer made 32 arrests, with fines totaling $180. Traffic Officer A. W. Mills made 49 arrests; fines amounted to $361.50. Traffice Officer Carl R. McIntosh made six arrests; fines amounted to $57.50. Traffic Officer Louis Finks was unable to report for duty.

It was reported that Officer Finks would take his final examination before doctors of the insurance company for partial disability this week and that he was able to return to light duty. The board ordered him to be reinstated at full pay.

Robert R. Buckley, chairman of the county board of public welfare, appeared to ask for cooperation in the welfare work in the county, and introduced Paul Blandford, of the State Welfare Board, who said the work was for the interest of the county and a means of saving money. He stated such a board would be worthless unless it had an executive officer. Between 700 and 800 children are sent to the State health department each year, he said, and that this may be averted by the employment of a superintendent of public welfare work.

Superintendent Makes Report.

Such a worker would prevent pauperism, delinquency and criminality among the people of this county, he asserted.

A. C. Ritchie, judge of the juvenile court of the county, indorsed the statement of Blandford and asked that the supervisors allow a small salary, expenses and an office for Mrs. Louise Mangum, superintendent. Mrs. Mangum gave the board her report for last month, showing them the advantages to the county. Others also spoke. The board of supervisors expressed its sympathy for the welfare work, but said as it had not been included in the budget for this year and that there were no funds out of which even the expenses of such a worker could be paid, it could do nothing at this time.

A large delegation appeared before the board in reference to the manner in which hogs were fed and raised in this county, as the board had promised some action. The delegation was informed that the matter was adequately covered by the present health regulations, and it was up to them to report it to the health authorities.

Tax List Bids Received.

Bids were submitted by the local newspapers for the publishing of the delinquent tax list and the bid was awarded to the Fairfax Herald. The sum of $1,175.55 was ordered sent to the State health department as the county's share for the local health offices for the first quarter of the year.

It was brought to the attention of the board that there are at this time two road accounts carried by the treasurer's office for the Centerville district, namely the district road fund and the district bond issue maintenance and gas tax fund, and that two similar accounts are carried for the Lee district, and as there is no bond issue in Centerville or Lee district it is not necesary to have the two separate and distinct road accounts. The supervisors ordered the said district accounts closed and the treasurer of the county was requested to credit such funds as may be collected for such district accounts to the bond issue and gas tax account in their respective districts.

The volunteer class of the Southern Methodist Church Sunday school at Fairfax will hold its Christmas bazaar tomorrow afternoon and evening in the Sunday school room of the church.

William David Parker, 72 years old, a resident of Vienna for the last several years, died in Georgetown Hospital late Tuesday evening, following an operation for appendicitis.

Funeral services and interment will be held in Weaverville, N. C., his former home. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Hattie Parker, and three sons, Edgar W. Parker, of Vienna; John C. Parker, Arlington, Va., and Jewell M. Parker, of Weaverville, N. C.

A business meeting of the ladies' guild of the Irwin Memorial Presbyterian Church at Idylwood will be held this afternoon at 2 o'clock. The guild will serve a dinner this evening at 5:30 o'clock in the church parlors. Mrs. Carter Owens and Mrs. Lenard Sengene will act as hostesses. The guild is having the interior of the auditorium church vestibule redecorated.

The Fairfax County Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, will meet tomorrow at the home of Mrs. William B. McCroarty, at 122 South Fairfax street, Alexandria.

Rhode Island Avenue Festival Fund Grows

With all of the communities reporting that their quotas are nearly collected, the final meeting of the general committee in charge of the celebration of the opening of Rhode Island avenue extension from Mount Rainier to Hyattsville was tinged with optimism. William T. Jennings, chairman of the parade committee, presented the line of parade and the positions in which the various units are to form Saturday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock.

Gov. Ritchie and other prominent officials of the State and county will attend the celebration, which marks the successful culmination of years of intense effort to obtain the extension.

OPPOSITION VOICED TO GAS PLANT PLEA

Proposals of Phelgas Company for Station Near Halpine Creates Row.

DECISION IS WITHHELD

Application of the Phlgas Co. for a permit to construct a distribution plant along the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad tracks near Halpine was opposed last night by 50 residents of Halpine and other residents along the Rockville pike. The hearing before the Maryland-National Capital Park and Planning Commission was held in the county building at Bethesda. Decision was reserved.

Arguments against the granting of the application were offered by F. Barnard Welch, of Rockville, who represented owners of property adjacent to the proposed site. It was his contention that the erection of the storage tanks for the domestic gas would constitute a nuisance and sought to prove that the gas was highly explosive and would consequently endanger residents.

Its proximity to the railroad tracks and the possibility of ignition of the gas by sparks from locomotives were cited by him as sufficient reason for the denial of the application. Welch admitted that the area had been designated as an industrial section, but argued that the fact that it had been designated as industrial did not give any concerns power to erect buildings or store materials that would be hazardous to others.

Natural Gas to Be Stored.

The gas to be stored is a natural gas that liquifies under pressure and is used for domestic purposes such as cooking and illuminating. It was the aim of the Phlgas Co. to erect the distribution center near Halpine so that it could more easily serve the circumjacent territory.

Welch contended that the gas that would be stored would be more volatile than gasoline; and since, he said, the Maryland cours have decreed that a gasoline storage tank in an industrial area is a nuisance, he asked for a refusal of the permit.

William F. Prettyman, of Rockville, representing the Phlgas Co., declared that the gas was not dangerous when properly stored and that adequate provisions for its safekeeping had been made. He termed the objections to the issuance of the permit based purely on dislike of the objectors to have anything other than residences in the neighborhood.

Several residents of the vicinity opposed granting the permit on grounds similar to those outlined by Welch. A resolution from the Rockville Pike Citizens Association, opposing the application was read.

The company intended to erect a garage, pumping station, office building and two storage tanks on the site. The area, in which the proposed tanks were to be erected, was recently changed from a residential to an industrial area. In spite of this J. Fred Imirie, building inspector, refused to grant the permit until a public hearing had been held, although J. Bond Smith, counsel to the planning commission, had ruled otherwise.

The tanks would hold 1,200 gallons each.

Warning Is Issued To Duck Hunters

Sportsmen Are Reminded of Law on Shooting From Motor Boats.

Richmond, Va., Dec. 4 (A.P.).—A warning that shooting water fowl from motor boats or other power-propelled craft is prohibited was broadcast today from the offices of the State Commission of Game and Inland Fisheries.

M. D. Hart, executive secretary of the commission, said the warning was issued in connection with reports to him that hunters were using power craft in taking ducks.

The Federal regulations read, he pointed out, "Migratory game birds may be taken from the land and water on any day during the open season from half an hour before sunrise to sunset with a gun not larger than 10 gauge, fired from the shoulder, with the aid of a dog, the use of decoys, and from a blind or floating device other than an automobile airplane, power boat, sailboat, any boat under sail, or any floating device towed by power boat or sailboat, or any sink box (battery), except that sink boxes (batteries) may be used in taking water fowl in coastal sounds and bays (including Back Bay, Princess Anne County, Va.), and other coastal waters; and the use of an airplane, or power boat, sailboat, or other floating device for the purpose of concentrating, driving, rallying, or stirring up migratory water fowl is prohibited."

State game wardens in other than the Back Bay section have no authority to enforce these Federal regulations, Hart said. However, he said, all have been requested to get evidence and deliver to Federal authorities.

Atmosphere Goal Of Music Lovers

Mrs. Buchanan, State Head, Sketches Aims at Fourth District Meeting.

Special to The Washington Post.

Strasburg, Va., Dec. 4.—The creation of a musical atmosphere in the home, school and church and adequate provision for State supervision of music in the public schools of Virginia were urged today by Mrs. James P. Buchanan, president of the Virginia Federation of Music Lovers Clubs as the goal of the organization at its fourth district convention held in Strasburg.

"We are trying to create a musical atmosphere in Virginia for our children and our children's children," said Mrs. Buchanan. "One of the best ways of doing this is through the establishment of a great State-wide musical festival each spring."

This phase of the State convention, which will be held in Roanoke, March 24-27, will be under the direction of Dr. Tertius Nobel, organist and choirmaster of the St. Thomas Cathedral, New York City. The clubs of the Shenandoah Valley were urged by Mrs. Buchanan to unite in sending junior and senior ensembles to Roanoke to participate in this part of the program.

Dr. James J. Kilroy, chief of surgeons of the police and fire departments of the District of Columbia, left no will, according to representations made yesterday in District Supreme Court by the widow, Mrs. Annie A. Kilroy. The physician died November 20. His widow, who was appointed administratrix by the court, stated that his estate was valued at more than $75,000.

Dr. Kilroy, according to the petition filed with the court, left a house at 2649 Woodley road northwest, which is assessed at $24,552 and a house at 312 Twelfth street northeast assessed at $5,968. In addition, the doctor had cash, securities and other personal property valued at more than $44,746.07. In addition to the widow, the physician is survived by a son, James J. Kilroy, jr. The estate is represented by Attorneys William E. Leahy and Martin J. McNamara.

Audition Winners In Dixie Named

New Orleans Soprano and Tenor From Atlanta Go to Finals.

(Associated Press.)

Dixie district winners of the third national radio audition broadcast from Nashville, Tenn., November 25 and 26 were announced by the Atwater Kent Foundation yesterday as Frances Tortorich, soprano, of New Orleans, and Edward Austen Kane, tenor, of Atlanta.

Each will receive a gold medal and musical scholarship and will sing in the national finals to be broadcast from New York December 15.

Miss Tortorich, 23 years of age, sang the "Waltz Song" from "Les Noces D'Or."

Second place winners were Helen Thelma Vernouille, soprano, a blind singer from Mobile, and Paul C. Craig, basso, of Asheville, N. C.

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

An Editorial From the December 4 Issue of The Business Week

Now Carry It Through

OPINIONS may differ as to whether or not the stock market collapse, so far as it has gone, need necessarily be followed by a serious business recession. We do not believe so. We are persuaded that nearly all the circumstances surrounding the crash, and certainly the industrial, trade and transportation conditions under which it occurred, have been such as to warrant the expectation of an early resumption of normal business activity.

Nevertheless it is now evident that the general public and a large part of the business community is by way of being convinced that a great crisis has been averted and that a serious depression may result if the measures being taken in Washington prove ineffective. This is not so much a logical as it is a psychological inference on the part of the public from the conferences and activities that have been going on there during the past week.

Whether or not this feeling is justified it puts a heavy and inescapable responsibility upon all those public officials and business leaders involved. Not only will the public require of them the accurate facts and candid truth about the business situation from now on, but it will demand clear and constant evidence that the programs of action promised and proposed are indeed being carried out as the actual conditions may require.

It is clear that we have here embarked upon a momentous experiment—the greatest since the war—in the possibilities of constructive cooperation between business and the Government for the public protection and welfare. If it should be really needed and should fail, or if it should be not needed and should evaporate into a rhetorical episode, the idea underlying it, as well as its sponsors, will be permanently discredited. It has never been tried before. If it comes to nothing this time it will never be tried again. It must be sincerely and thoroughly tried now.

The President has carried it as far as he properly can. The national business leaders he brought to the capital for conference have done as much as they could to further it by precept and example. The real test of business organization and leadership begins here. The principle of proceeding with plans and programs, and of maintaining employment and purchasing power so far as common business prudence permits must now be carried through and down to the individual business communities and the individual business organizations and there translated into concrete terms of local action by the chambers of commerce and the trade associations throughout the country.

The promises and counsels of a few national business figures are of little weight when they are spread thin over so great a territory. What the individual business leader does or does not do in his own community is far more eloquent and convincing than what a few men say in Washington. That alone will ultimately determine whether the fears and the faith of the public in all these proceedings shall or shall not be justified.

BOY KIDNAPER GETS 30 TO 60 YEAR TERM

udge Recommends That Detroit Man Serve Half-Century.

WIFE FAINTED IN COURT

Detroit, Dec. 4 (A.P.).—James Fernando, convicted of kidnaping 5-year-old Jackie Thompson, was sentenced late this afternoon to 30 to 60 years in the Michigan Branch Prison at Marquette by Judge Charles L. Bartlett of the Recorder's Court. Judge Bartlett recommended that Fernando serve 50 years.

Jackie was kidnaped September 30 last and held until October 26. Fernando had $5,000 in marked money of the $17,000 Henry S. Thompson, Jackie's father, paid for the child's release in his possession when he was arrested.

Fernando's wife and son were in the courtroom when he was sentenced. Mrs. Fernando fainted as sentence was pronounced.

Some of the 25 detectives who had been placed in the courtroom aided Mrs. Fernando and she was revived.

Fernando said to newspapermen: "I am not guilty of anything. All I did was to try to help Mr. Thompson."

Attorneys for Fernando announced they would file a motion for a new trial tomorrow and would appeal if the motion is denied.

The jury was composed of eight men and four women.

Jackie, who was kidnaped from in front of his home while playing with a brother, was returned to his parents the night of October 23, following the payment by his father of ransom consisting of $17,000 in cash and notes of $8,000. Fernando contended at the trial that he had acted as intermediary between Thompson and the kidnapers and that he had nothing to do with the abduction and holding for ransom of the boy.

PRESIDENT TO SIGN WORLD COURT PACT

forestall any contention that adherence to the World Court was a back door entrance into the league.

The simple truth about that is that Mr. Hoover was among those who believed the league might prove very useful, but his disappointment in it has been progressive.

Through the moves by Secretary of State Stimson in the Sino-Soviet embroglio, the President has undertaken to exalt the Kellogg peace pact over the League of Nations covenant, and to establish the belief of Washington that a mobilization of world opinion against a foolish war is more effective than anything which a lot of league officials at Geneva could accomplish through running around in circles on the shores of a lovely lake.

Girl, 5, Injured by Fall.

Five-year-old Juanita Davis, of 210 Ninth street northeast, was treated at the Casualty Hospital last night for cuts to the back of her head, sustained, police say, when she fell on the sidewalk in front of her home. The child was taken to the hospital by her mother. She was able to go to her home after being treated.

Illinois Miners To Fight Strike

National's Move Aimed at "Check-Off" Plan Finds Warm Oposition.

Springfield, Ill., Dec. 4 (A.P.).—Efforts of the National Miners' Union to call a general strike in all coal pits of Illinois will be vigorously opposed by the Illinois district of the United Mine Workers of America, State President Harry Fishwick declared tonight.

Announucement that the National Miners' Union would call a general strike beginning December 9, was made at West Frankfort today by Henry Corbishly, State secretary of the organization, which Fishwick said was controlled by the communist party in this country.

He said the strike has been called in an effort to smash the "check-off" and thus destroy the power of the United Mine Woorkers of America.

The "check-off" is a part of the miner's wages paid directly to the United Mine Workers by the coal operators.

Until recently, John H. Watt, of Springfield, controlled the National Miners' Union, but at the last national convention he was ousted by Pat Toohey, of Pittsburgh, secretry of the National Miners' Union.

Mother, New-Born Babe Escape Blast; Nurse Dies

New York, Dec. 4 (A.P.).—An oil heater exploded today in the Bronx apartment of Mrs. Nellie Kernick, 32, who five hours earlier had given birth to a daughter.

Miss Mary See, 65, a nurse, was burned to death, and the baby was badly burned. The mother, dragging her other two small children with her, managed to crawl from her bed to a fire escape. Scantily attired, they clung there, while a freezing wind blew about them, until help came.

Supreme Court Plans To Recess on Monday

(Associated Press.)

The Supreme Court announced yesterday that after delivering opinions Monday and receiving motions it will take a recess until January 6.

New York-to-Miami Air Line Planned

Baltimore Company Says Service May Begin December 10.

Baltimore, Md., Dec. 4 (A.P.).—Announcing plans for an airplane passenger service from New York to Miami through Baltimore, Edward Handler, president of Baltimore Airways, Inc., left tonight for Miami to complete arrangements for the service which he said would be inaugurated December 10. The Baltimore Airways operates an airport here and a daily passenger line from Baltimore to New York.

A weekly schedule calling for three flights each way would be put in operation, Mr. Handler said, starting from New York and Miami, and making landings at Jacksonville, Savannah, Camden, S. C., Raleigh, N. C., Richmond and Baltimore. Planes to be placed in operation will be similar to those in the New York-Baltimore service, monoplanes with glass-enclosed cabins with accommodations for five passengers.

Handler said the company also was planning to establish a passenger and package service between New York and Chicago with stops at Pittsburgh and Cleveland.

Alleged Briber Flees From Custom Patrol

Detroit, Dec. 4 (A.P.).—Peter Licavoli, 28 years old, under Federal indictment on a charge of bribing Charles A. Nixon, 49 years old, former member of the customs border patrol, escaped in an automobile on the Belle Isle Bridge at 4 a. m. today despite a score of shots fired after him by customs officers who had stopped him for questioning.

Licavoli was indicted by the grand jury November 4 but word of this action was not forthcoming until the shooting this morning.

Spanish Villages Hit By Overflow of River

Vigo, Spain, Dec. 4 (A.P.).—Villages in this section were inundated today by river floods caused by storms, the waters reaching the first floor of some houses.

No deaths have been reported, although there has been considerable damage to property. Authorities of outlying districts saved families from flooded houses.

Shiny Dimes Gifts Of Rockefeller, Sr.

Capitalist Arrives in Florida for Winter; Known as "Neighbor John."

Ormond Beach, Fla., Dec. 4 (A.P.).—Neighbor John D. Rockefeller, sr., 90, and apparently in the best of health, came back to this village today for his annual winter sojourn.

Cold weather prevented him from getting the early start on daily golf which he had anticipated, but he told friends who greeted him at the station that he had to "get out and get in condition" to beat Gen. Adelbert Ames, his usual opponent on the greens.

At Jacksonville Rockefeller greeted an Associated Press reporter in his drawing room and gave him four new dimes, the last of his immediate supply.

"There, you have broken the bank," he said. "That's all the money I have, but let me tell you many banks would not fail if their friends and their confidence were there."

"Neighbor John," the mode of address from friends here which he prefers, said he would stay at the "Casements" as long as heretofore, which would mean until April.

Library Will Display Suitable Books for Gifts

The Public Library will display a collection of books suitable for Christmas giving, each costing only $1 or less, at the information desk of its central building at Eighth and K streets, during the month of December. The exhibit has been arranged through the courtesy of the publishers who have contributed the books and furnished lists for distribution.

The library does not have the books for sale, but has provided this opportunity for their leisurely examination, after which they may be purchased, or ordered through the local booksellers. Many recent best sellers appear in the collection which includes both fiction and nonfiction.

Volcano Shows Activity.

Guatemala City, Dec. 4 (A.P.).—The volcano Santa Maria today gave signs of renewed activity, spreading alarm among nearby residents. Reports indicated that new streams of lava were running yesterday and that the subterranean explosions continued.

WHO'ZIT?

("WHOZIT?" is a test of your knowledge of history and current events. The statements below describe a character whom you should be able to identify. Match your knowledge and memory against those of your friends.)

1. He was a famous hero of ancient Greece.
2. His exploits have been immortalized in the works of Homer.
3. According to tradition, he was invulnerable except for one small spot on one foot.
4. Out of this tradition grew the name commonly given to a large tendon in the human foot.

Answer to yesterday: Daniel Shays.

TO A GREATER WASHINGTON

THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS AND OFFICERS OF THIS COMPANY, with faith in the present business stability and future growth and prosperity of Washington and its metropolitan area, desire to announce a Construction Budget for 1930 amounting to $5,900,000.00, the largest annual construction appropriation made in the history of the Company. In addition to a large new office building this sum will be expended in the building of new sub-stations with necessary equipment, enlargement of existing plant structures, new departmental buildings and extensions of the electrical distribution system, to more adequately serve the present needs and anticipate the increasing requirements of electrical service in the territory served by this Company.

In their determination to go forward with this necessary construction program, the Directors and Officers felt confidence in the fundamental strength of the business structure throughout the country at large and believed that their action would help to stabilize local employment and wage levels and stimulate general economic conditions through the purchase of necessary supplies and materials used in such construction work.

The Company believes implicitly in the soundness of Washington business and is happy to contribute its support to the efforts leading to a greater and finer Washington.

BULLISH ACTIVITIES SEND STOCKS RISING

Gains in Utilities, Chemicals, Oils, Foods and Rails Mark Turnover.

INSULL'S REPORT HELPS

New York, Dec. 4 (A.P.).—Spectacular bullish demonstrations in selected issues saved the revived forward movement in share prices from going astray in today's stock market. Profit taking caused considerable hesitancy during the early hours of the session, but spirited bidding for the utilities and several chemicals, rail, oil, food and specialty issues sent some two-score issues sharply higher before the close.

The definite turning of the tide was accomplished only with a sharp quickening of trading. Total sales were 4,437,460 shares, more than 1,000,000 changing hands in the last hour.

This was the largest turnover since mid-November, and contrasted with 3,809,150 yesterday. Closing quotations displayed a wide sprinkling of gains of 3 to 19 points. The Standard Statistics Co.-Associated Press price indices of 90 stocks, however, indicated that the average gain was only about two-thirds of yesterday's.

Mellon's Report Spurs Bulls.

Further constructive news from Washington was the dominant factor in the upturn. Secretary Mellon's estimate of a Treasury surplus of $255,000,000 for the current fiscal year, and his statement that indications point toward favorable business conditions in 1930, provided fuel for the bullish enthusiasm engendered by President Hoover's message to Congress yesterday.

The day brought forth another assortment of weekly statistics and trade reports, nevertheless, indicating that business and industrial operations are undergoing pronounced recession. Freight car loadings, as reported for the latest week, showed a drop of about 33,000 cars from the previous week, and approximately 79,000 from the like week of last year.

The decline from the previous week may be regarded as primarily seasonal, and the freight movement at this time last year was abnormally large. Iron Age reported a sharp reduction in pig iron output last month to the lowest level since September, 1928. It reported little change in steel production, however, and stated that both iron and steel mills are keeping unemployment at a minimum.

Time Money Rates Rise.

Credit conditions showed signs of firming up, after the steady ease of the past two months, reflecting the beginning of the holiday flow of funds to the interior. Time money was quoted at 4½ to 4¾ per cent, against a flat rate of 4½ yesterday. Call money held officially at 4½, and while it was again quoted as low as 3½ in the outside mark little was said to have been available at the figure.

Of particular interest in the money market and banking circles was a rise in sterling to the approximate outgoing gold point. While the Federal Reserve is prepared for a moderate outflow of the yellow metal, any large movement would be viewed as unfavorable, particularly at this time of year.

The utility shares again led the advance, stimulated by renewed merger rumors, payment of a special cash dividend of $1 by American Superpower, optimistic statements by Samuel Insull, and constructive interpretations placed on President Hoover's remarks regarding private operation and Government supervision of power companies. American Water Works and North American gained 12 and 11 points, and Detroit Edison sold up 19.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, Dec. 4 (A.P.).—Something in the nature of a stampede to sell forced wheat values downward today, sentiment becoming so depressed that price advances of late were lost entirely. The fact that although sterling exchange today was at the highest point in many months North American wheat export business was failing to turn traders to the long side of the market, piling up of grain disasters reported from Argentina appeared to have no effect for at least the immediate present.

Closing quotations on Chicago wheat were heavy at about the day's lowest level, 1¾ cents to 2¼ cents under yesterday's finish. Corn closed ¼ to ⅝ cents off, oats unchanged to ¼ cent down, and provisions varying from 5 to 7 cents decline to a rise of 32 cents.

It quickly became evident in the wheat market today that a majority of traders were aggressively acting on the basis that a recoil from the recent swift ascent of prices was at hand. Argentine news was drawn from conservative sources described crop conditions as ruinous, and that Argentine offers of wheat to Europe had been advanced 5 cents per bushel overnight. In addition to flattening-out of overseas demand for North American wheat, friends of higher prices were handicapped also by advices that domestic winter wheat is apparent in tip-top shape despite sudden onset of severe weather.

A large part of today's selling of Chicago wheat future deliveries came from previous buyers who were in a position to realize profits. There was decided pressure also, however, from speculative sources that had apparently deemed reactions a certainty, and were determined to anticipate the market effects of downward changes in price. Talk was likewise current that supplies of wheat in North America are still too large for comfort. Although with reduced crops from the Southern hemisphere broader transatlantic demand after the first of the year seemed likely.

Corn and oats took their cue from the action of wheat. On the other hand, a new sustaining influence as to corn values was announcement that the Argentine corn crop is suffering from drought.

Good-sized deliveries on December contracts tended to ease down the lard market, whereas better demand for meats was more or less an opposite factor.

STRENGTH OF RAILS ARE BONDS FEATURE

Nearly Entire Carrier List Rises, With C. & N. W. Leading in Volume.

EUROPEAN SHARES GAIN

New York, Dec. 4 (A.P.).—Strength of the railroad loans featured the bond market today. The increasing scarcity of high-grade and secondary carriers was apparent in the sharp upward price movement and nearly 20 issues made new highs for the year or longer.

The entire list showed strength, despite inconsequential selling in the industrials and utilities. Trading in United States Governments was thin, but the first and fourth Liberty 4½s and the Treasury 3¾s, 1943-47, duplicated their previous maximum.

Chicago & Northwestern convertible 4½s, admitted to the list a fortnight ago, took the leadership in volume, turning over to the extent of $3,100,000. One million-dollar block of the bonds changed hands at par. The close was 100¼, off ⅛ on the day.

Convertibles Move Upward.

Convertibles generally moved up, as was to be expected from the temper of the stock market, and some fair gains developed. American Telephone 4½s had a net rise of 2½, and International Telephone 4½s advanced 1½. The active Texas Corporation 5s held firm.

Columbian Carbon was again a high flier, mounting 22 points and closing up 17. General Electric, Allied Chemical, A. M. Byers, Continental Baking, A. Hershey Chocolate, Houston Oil, Atchison, Macy, Norfolk & Western and Simmons mounted about 5 to 10 points. U. S. Steel sold up nearly 3 points, but closed up only ¾.

Radio rose nearly 3 in a heavy turnover, but lost about half its gain. American Can closed about 2 and Standard of New Jersey 3 points higher.

Commodity markets mostly eased. Wheat futures lost about 1¾ cents on smaller export demand and favorable snow covering in the West. Corn lost nearly a cent with large owa offerings. Cotton sagged 3 0to 75 cents a bale, reflecting larger private crop reports.

Rail Gains Numerous.

Gains of a point or more were numerous in the rails and the average for ten issues of secondary classification was marked up half a point. Among the carriers touching new highs were Baltimore & Ohio Southwestern Division 5s, Central Pacific Short Line 4s, Big Four 5s, International Great Northern First 5s, Missouri, Kansas, Texas prior lien 4s, Missouri Pacific 5s, series G, Nickel Plate 4s and 4½s, New Haven 4½s, Northern Pacific 5s, series D, St. Louis & San Francisco 4½s, Union Pacific first 4s, Virginian 5s and West Shore 4s. In most instances, only small blocks of bonds were available.

In the industrial division, Armour 8½s made an extreme rise of 2 points, while fractional advances brought numerous other loans close to their best prices of the year. Inland Steel 4½s touched a new maximum. International Paper refunding 5s yielded their recent gain.

Inquiry in the utility section was rather selective and volume lightened. Southern Bell Telephone first 5s rose a fraction to a record price.

European government and municipal loans, as well as the Chilean listings, were generally higher.

The day's bond news included announcement of a $30,000,000 offering of Province of Ontario gold 5s, due in 1960, priced at 101½. A syndicate headed by the National City Co., Ltd., is marketing the loan.

NATIONAL BUSINESS GOOD, SAYS REPORT

Ernst & Ernst Compares 1918-1920 Period With Present Situation.

COOPERATION IS SEEN

BY THOMAS M. CAHILL.

From a standpoint of nationally organized business, the Washington office of Ernst & Ernst sees the present days as the most important since the reconstruction period of 1918-20. Then, reminds this accountants and auditors system service, the war was just over and the enthusiasm for doing big things in a big way promised to spend itself on a tremendous program of economic adjustment of one business line to another, of reform and reorganization. But the good intentions were not materialized, however, because inflation developed, then ended in the collapse of 1920.

Calling attention to the fact that we have the first important national organized plan for projecting good business since the early years of the postwar period, the firm's bulletin emphasizes: "The important and hopeful thing is that the business community of the entire Nation is being drawn together to resist a depression, and this suggests the possibility that their resistance may generate a force greater than the down pull of excessive caution."

Good volume and seasonal advances in trade in the fifth or local Federal Reserve District were reported yesterday by W. W. Hoxton, its chairman and Federal Reserve agent. While there were troublesome spots in this area and some industries are not doing so well, nevertheless the favorable factors outweigh the unfavorable ones.

Fall Business Good, Report Says.

Figures on retail trade in October reported by 30 leading department stores in the district show a good volume of fall trade, average sales being 4.9 per cent larger than sales by the same stores in October 1928, and 2.7 per cent above average October sales during the three years 1923-1928, inclusive. Total sales this year from January 1 through October were 2.4 per cent larger than sales in the first ten months of 1928. Baltimore stores led in percentage increase for both October and the first ten months of the year, but Washington stores led in gain over average October sales in the three years, 1923-1925, chiefly due to store expansion in that city.

Although the reporting stores show larger sales this year, they are operating with stocks averaging 3.6 per cent less, those of last year, but there was a seasonal increase of 12.5 per cent in stock carried last month. Larger sales and smaller stocks indicate a faster turnover this year, and the accompanying table shows that the stores turned their stock 2.657 times in ten months, compared with 2.529 times in the same period a year ago. Washington stores lead in turnover with an average of 2.847 times.

Collections in October averaged 28.4 per cent of receivables as of October 1, a slightly lower figure than 28.9 per cent collected in October 1928, but the Baltimore and other cities stores improved slightly, the district average being brought below last year's average by a decline of slightly more than 2 per cent in Washington collections.

Slow District Exchange.

Business continued light on the Washington Stock Exchange yesterday, the stock division exhibiting a slight improvement over the profound falling off in sales experienced Tuesday. Bond sale volume declined $10,000 from the preceding session however, the day's sales total being only 2,700. The stock turnover was 162 shares, an advance of 112 from the previous day's.

There were four bond transactions; $200 Washington Gas 5s, at 98½, fractional rise; $200 Washington Gas 5s at 101, last sale price; $1,000 Potomac Electric 6s, at 104⅝, fractional loss, and $1,000 Capital Traction 5s, at 92, point-and-a-quarter gain. All stock sales were in small lots except the low-priced issues.

More than 13,000 employes and officers of the National City Bank of New York and affiliated institutions here and elsewhere are to be given the opportunity to subscribe to shares of the bank's stock on an installment basis in proportion to their earnings, according to an announcement by Charles E. Mitchell, chairman of the bank.

The offer is being made, Mitchell declared, as a result of the suggestion of the committee of thirteen, representing the staff in the metropolitan area. The committee is understood to have drawn up the plan which was approved in detail yesterday by the board of directors of the National City Bank of New York, the National City Co. and the City Bank Farmers Trust Co.

The last previous offer of stock to employes and officers was made in December, 1924, at which time the bank's personnel totaled about 6,000. Subscriptions for 20,000 shares were received at that time. The present offer is expected to result in subscriptions to about 45,000 shares.

Christmas Savings Club Grows.

The 1930 Christmas Savings Club of local banks is starting with more depositors and larger accounts, according to reports from many banks, and it now seems assured that the new club will close with a membership of approximately 90,000 and deposits of $8,000,000.

The stock market collapse has had almost sobering effect on many persons and has turned their attention to the importance of a definite saving policy. Local bankers assign the increase in club accounts to renewed interest in saving and the cooperative advertising campaign of the banks for the Christmas clubs.

Loading of revenue freight for the week ended on November 23 totaled 900,260 cars, the car service division of the American Railway Association announced yesterday. This was a reduction of 78,957 cars under the same week in 1928, but an increase of 109,638 cars above the same week in 1927. Due to the usual seasonal decline in freight traffic, the total for the week ended on November 23 was a reduction of 38,043 cars under the preceding week this year.

Loading of revenue freight in 1929 compared with the previous year follows:

Campaign Certificate Sale Launched

A system-wide campaign for the sale of $8 interest-bearing allotment certificates, at $120 each, has been undertaken by the Associated Gas & Electric Co., it was officially announced yesterday. Every group and district in the entire system, except the Philippine Islands, will participate in this allotment certificate offer, including the newly acquired American Utilities Co. group.

Subscription rights to these allotment certificates already have been mailed to holders of various securities of the Associated Gas & Electric Co., Eastern Utilities Investing Corporation and General Gas & Electric Corporation, entitling them to subscribe to the certificates at $120 each.

Seaboard Utilities Shares Corporation November 29 statement shows a surplus from net earnings and realized income since March 29, 1929, of $822,359, as compared with $800,633 as of November 22, 1929, and a total balance for earned surplus and reserves of $612,984, as compared with $591,258 on November 22, 1929.

Bituminous Coal Report.

The weekly estimate of bituminous coal production in the United States, prepared by the National Coal Association, shows a total for the week ended November 30 of about 9,800,000 net tons, a loss of about 1,000,000 tons from the total of the preceding week. The decrease in tonnage was due to curtailed mine operation on Thanksgiving Day.

The latest report of the United States Bureau of Mines shows bituminous coal output for the week ended November 16 as 10,547,000 net tons and for the week ended November 23 as 10,972,000 net tons.

At the regular monthly meeting of the board of trustees of the Eastern Building & Loan Association last night, Maurice Otterback, president of Anacostia Bank, was elected president of the association, to succeed the late Alexander McKenzie. Otterback was former vice president of the association.

Clarence F. Donohoe was elected vice president, succeeding Otterback, and John M. Riordon, executive vice president of the Bank of Commerce & Savings, who has been one of the auditors of the association for the past twenty years, was elected a trustee to succeed McKenzie.

TEAR-BOMB THREAT COWS "JERSEY KID"

Alleged Murderer, Wanted in Many Cities, Trapped in New York House.

DISAVOWS HIS IDENTITY

New York, Dec. 4 (A.P.).—"The Jersey Kid," whose true name became lost long ago in an interminable maze of aliases, and who is wanted, police say, for two murders in New Jersey and one in Chicago, gave himself up today.

Barricaded in an uptown apartment, with a pretty red-haired girl companion, "The Jersey Kid" started to shoot it out with the police. There was a price of $25,000 on his head.

But when they told him they were going to throw in tear bombs if he did not come out in five minutes, he poked his gun, stock first, out through a crack in the door and meekly surrendered.

Sullen After Arrest.

Tattooed on his arms he wore the legend, "death before dishonor" and the names "Jack Murray," "Frank McBryand," and "Jersey Kid."

But after his arrest he sullenly denied he was either Murray, McBryand, or "The Jersey Kid." He said his name was Charles Davis—an alias which the police said, he had used before.

As "Frank McBrien" the prisoner is wanted in Newark for the murder of a motor bus terminal cashier and in Bradley Beach, N. J., for the murder of a bank messenger. Both murders were committed during holdups.

Wanted Also In Chicago.

He is wanted in Chicago, too, for murder, the police said, but they declined to give any details.

And as "Frank McBryand" he is wanted in Philadelphia for two holdups that totaled nearly $75,000.

Immediately after his arrest legal machinery in New Jersey and in Pennsylvania was set in swift, competitive motion to determine who should prosecute him first.

Early this morning a dozen detectives took stations outside, guarding all the exits and the courtyard in the rear of "the Jersey Kid's" ground-floor apartment. Three detectives then went to the apartment door. "The Jersey Kid" heard them coming. Hastily he assisted his girl companion over the window sill. She dropped into the courtyard and was arrested.

Fires Shots, Then Gives Up.

Realizing he was trapped, the "Kid" ran back toward the door at which the detectives now were knocking there. The "Kid" replied with a fusillade of shots that splintered the door. The detectives fired back.

A call was sent in for reserves and a tear-bomb squad.

"Kid, we'll give you five minutes," a detective shouted. "If you don't come then, we'll throw in tear bombs."

There was silence for almost five minutes. Then came a muffled plea. "Don't shoot." The door opened a few inches, and out came "the Jersey Kid's" gun, stock first. A detective seized the weapon, and then out stepped the fugitive, his hands held high over his head.

Was Well Dressed.

He was nattily dressed, wore an expensive wrist watch, and on his bared forearms were tattooed names, legends and all sorts of pictures—a five-pointed star, a Liberty girl, a spread eagle, and dagger through a heart.

The woman who said she was his wife, was held as an accessory after the fact.

She was equally taciturn as the "Kid."

Couple Take $65,000 In Gems in Robbery

Boston, Dec. 4 (A.P.).—A man and a woman, with pistols, robbed Julius Prince, a jeweler, of $65,000 in unset gems and a large amount of cash in his office here today, at 333 Washington street, one of Boston's busiest thoroughfares.

Prince's office is in the Jewelers' Building, on the sixth floor. The building's corridors were unusually busy today with Christmas shoppers when the couple entered Prince's offices. After looking at several articles they suddenly drew their weapons, robbed him of his watch and money and then seized the gems. Taking no chances on his spreading an alarm, they locked Prince in a closet and calmly left the building.

American Girl to Wed Royal Horse Officer

London, Dec. 4 (A.P.).—"Sunny" Jarmann, an American actress, who has been visiting England with her mother, today announced her engagement to Lieut. Francis Francis, of the Royal Horse Guards.

The regiment of Lieut. Francis is stationed at Windsor. He is 23 years old and inherited a large fortune and a country estate recently. He also received a house in Berkeley Square on the death of his father, Maj. Francis, last year. His mother, who was an American, died when he was a child. "We have known each other about five months and enjoyed a number of airplane flights together," Miss Jarmann said.

45,000 Union Workers In New York to Strike

Cleveland, Dec. 4 (A.P.).—Strike of approximately 45,000 members of the International Ladies' Garment Workers Union in New York City was authorized by unanimous vote of 300 delegates of the union in convention here today.

Votes on proposed strikes in Chicago, Philadelphia, Boston, Cleveland, Baltimore and Toledo, Ohio, also were to be taken at the session. If they are approved, approximately 100,000 members of the union may be affected. Resolutions favoring the strikes were approved by a strike committee yesterday.

WANT TO LOOK YOUNG?

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound as a substitute for calomel to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets are gentle in their action yet always effective. They help bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets are known by their olive color. 15c, 30c, 60c.

With NELSON B. BELL

If it is true that "luxury lines" have suffered depression as a result of the recent crash in security values on the stock markets of the country, then motion pictures apparently do not belong in that classification. Reports from all sections of the United States, with one or two exceptions, indicate unabated good business at the box office, in a second comprehensive checkup conducted by the Motion Picture News.

Continuance of the normal course of theater business up to and including last week, it is pointed out, can be taken as a reliable indicator that economies large numbers of Americans will practice to offset billions in paper losses are not to include abstenance from picture shows.

Certainly that is true in the Capital City. It is one of the advantages boasted by Washington that not being a commercial city it is not subject to the violent business and financial dislocations that affect other urban centers.

No matter what happens the Government still pays off.

A distressed parent calls by phone to report a condition that has engendered some fear in her heart that the newsreels are perhaps becoming less and less safe for the scrutiny of juvenile eyes and the attention of youthful ears.

Last week, it seems, she attended a downtown theater with her two small children and was displeased that the audible newsreel should feature a talk by an ex-bandit who boasted that he perpetrated 27 robberies without being arrested and the only two times he was arrested had done nothing and was acquitted. The implication apparently was that crime is a profitable occupation. The next day, in another theater, the audible events included the ghastly spectacle of the removal of the pilot's dead body from a crashed airplane and a few remarks from the young Englishman who killed his mother in Paris, prompted by an impulse of mercy.

These topics, my complainant contends, are not suitbale entertainment for those whose lives have just reached the formative period and the matter is so communicated to whom it may concern with the timid suggestion that possibly she is right. Formative or any other period.

After a protracted debate, executives of the RKO-Keith Theater have decided not to continue "Rio Rita" through a fifth week, although as the end of its fourth draws near the picture is still going like a house afire.

Those who may have wondered if Radio has anything in the offing to "stand up" after two such hits as "Street Girl", and "Rio," will be glad to know that after "Jazz Heaven," scheduled to open Saturday, there stand waiting "The Great Gabbo," with Erich von Stroheim and Betty Compson, and "Hit the Deck," Radio's picturization of the Vincent Youmans' stage success, directed by Luther Reed, who made "Rio Rita," acclaimed as substantial a wallop as the Bebe Daniels' vehicle.

Jacques Feyder, the French director responsible for "The Kiss," in which Greta Garbo comes to the Palace Saturday, has been signed to a long-term contract by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, if that's what you've been waiting to hear.

They tell me that the local executives, still speaking of Loew's Palace, are considerably surprised, but none the less delighted, by the manner in which Allan Rogers, the musical comedy tenor turned master of ceremonies, has caught on with the house clientele. He has been a panic at every performance—that wavy, pulled-taffy hair and peachblow complexion is not a negligible factor, either, you may be sure—and already his fan mail far exceeds that of any of his predecessors in the history of the house. No, Wesley Eddy, with his record of 75 consecutive weeks, is not excepted.

And any one who imagines that Universal is on the wane should take a day off and peruse the 50-page announcement by Papa Carl Laemmle and Junior that is being published as a special insert in the leading trade journals of the country. The Rialto, with a fat week going on with Ann Harding in "Her Private Affair," might well throw out its chest still another inch.

Oh, yes, next week's attractions! Metropolitan, Irene Bordoni with Jack Buchanan in "Paris," talking-singing-dancing picture with Technicolor sequences; Palace, Greta Garbo, in her last silent film, "The Kiss," Conrad Nagel supporting; Fox, Belle Baker and Ralph Graves in Miss Baker's first picture—with seven song hits—"Song of Love;" RKO-Keith's, Sally O'Neill, Johnny Mack Brown and Joe Cawthorn, in "Jazz Heaven," talking-singing-dancing production; Rialto, Morton Downey and Betty Lawford in "Lucky In Love," with songs; Earle, Alice White, in "The Girl From Woolworth's," with Charlie Delaney and Wheeler Oakman; Columbia, Gary Cooper, Mary Brian, Richard Arlen and Walter Huston, in a second week of Owen Wister's "The Virginian."

Reverting momentarily to the Rialto, a considerable number of people evidently found interest in the following excerpt from one of last Monday afternoon's reviews of Ann Harding, in "Her Private Affair:"

"Ann Harding, one suspects, if left to her own devices, would have chosen a less villainous-looking person for her would-be lover and blackmailer One suspects, too, that she would be more discerning in the selection of a husband."

Since the role of the husband in the picture is played by Harry Bannister, Miss Harding's husband in private life, this becomes a conspicuously illuminating and valuable commentary upon the probable deficiences to be noted in the operation of her selective instinct!

Are you doing yours early, or are you going to make it tough for me on the afternoon of the 24th?

Woman Held in $74,000 Trust Company Larceny

Framingham, Mass., Dec. 4 (A.P.).—Mrs. Ruth M. Pearce of Ashland, a former clerk in the savings department of the Framingham Trust Co., today was arrested on a warrant charging her with being an accessory after the fact in the larceny of $74,000 from the company by the former treasurer, Frederick W. Pope.

Earlier in the day Pope had been sentenced to State prison for 6 or 7 years.

Report of Utica Woman Being Found Erroneous

St. Louis, Dec. 4 (A.P.).—Investigation of a report that Mrs. Bercher Maynards Crouse, missing Utica, N. Y., woman, had been located in a Y. W. C. A. here, established that the identification was erroneous, police announced late today.

Mrs. Elizabeth Buffum, Y. W. C. A. secretary, had reported the identification from a circular bearing a photograph of the missing woman.

MUSICAL MORNING REGISTERS TRIUMPH

Anna Case and Guiseppe de Luca Win Ovation at Townsend Fete.

OLSZEWSKA TO APPEAR

Two operatic stars, Guiseppe de Luca, barytone of the Metropolitan Grand Opera Company, and Anna Case, soprano, made notable the first of this season's series of Mrs. Lawrence Townsend's musical mornings at the Mayflower Hotel yesterday.

A brilliant audience greeted De Luca with an ovation when he appeared on the stage to open the program with the airia "Avant de Quitter," from Gounod's "Faust." Practically the entire program was of a classical nature with the exception of several of the encores. The barytone was in fine voice and displayed his operatic prowess to good advantage.

Miss Case sang first the aria "Jewel Song" from "Faust," handling this difficult number with inimitable skill and impeccable diction. Her sweet soprano voice was well fitted for this vehicle and she also scored heavily in the group of Spanish folksongs, which won her an encore at its conclusion.

It was in the "Cavatina," from "The Barber of Seville," by Rossini, that De Luca aroused his audience to such a pitch of enthusiasm that it would not be quieted until he had sung two encores in response to ovations. One of these encores was a beautiful rendition of the Neapolitan song, in which the finesse of his art gave an added charm to the number, and the second encore was "Passing By," each note of which was a thing of beauty. The barytone was also successful in his singing of the aria, "Deh Vieni al la Finestra," from Mozart's "Don Giovanni."

The two duets sung by Miss Case and M. De Luca served to exhibit the exquisite blend of their voices, which at the same time retained their individual characters to an amazing degree. The first one was rather new to Washingtonians, the duet from the first act of "Hamlet," by Thomas. The duet, "Lasci Darem la Mane," from Don Giovanni," again was distinguished by the artistry of the singers.

At the thirty-eighth musical morning next Wednesday the soloists will be Mme. Maria Olszewska, contralto of the Chicago Civic Opera Company and Jose Iturbi, pianist

New Line-Up in Cabinet Announced in Belgium

Brussels, Dec. 4 (A.P.).—Henri Jaspar, premier, today reconstituted his cabinet with all the old ministers included. The official Gazette published a royal decree refusing to accept the resignation of the former cabinet.

The resignation was offered last Wednesday after discussion centered about the new Ghent university.

ALBANY POOL CASE ENDS IN CONVICTION

SENTENCE IS DUE TODAY

New York, Dec. 4 (A.P.).—A Federal jury today convicted James J. Otto, 1927 concerning the Albany baseball and stock market pool, charged with perjury for having given false testimony last February before the grand jury which was investigating the affairs of the pool.

Otto was accused of giving false and evasive testimony in an effort to conceal the identity of "higher ups" alleged by the Government to have been connected with the Albany pool. The charge on which the verdict was based was that Otto gave false testimony when he told the grand jury he "never talked to Daniel P. O'Connell, Albany Democratic boss, during the year of former partner in the Albany baseball pool; that he, James J. Otto, did not know anything about Daniel P. O'Connell's connection with the Albany baseball pool."

The conviction carries a maximum sentence of fire years of a $2,000 fine, or both.

The verdict against Otto marked the second time he has been convicted on charges growing out of the Federal investigation into the Albany pool. Last December he pleaded guilty to a mail fraud indictment, containing thirten counts, and received a sentence of a year and a day at Atlanta, Ga., Federal Penitentiary.

He was sentenced to a year and a day on each count, the sentence to run concurrently. He was brought here from Atlanta to stand trial on the perjury charge, but his sentence has since expired through the deduction of time off for good behavior.

The Government's investigation of the Albany baseball pool, which closed its business in July, 1928, left a long trail of indictments and convictions.

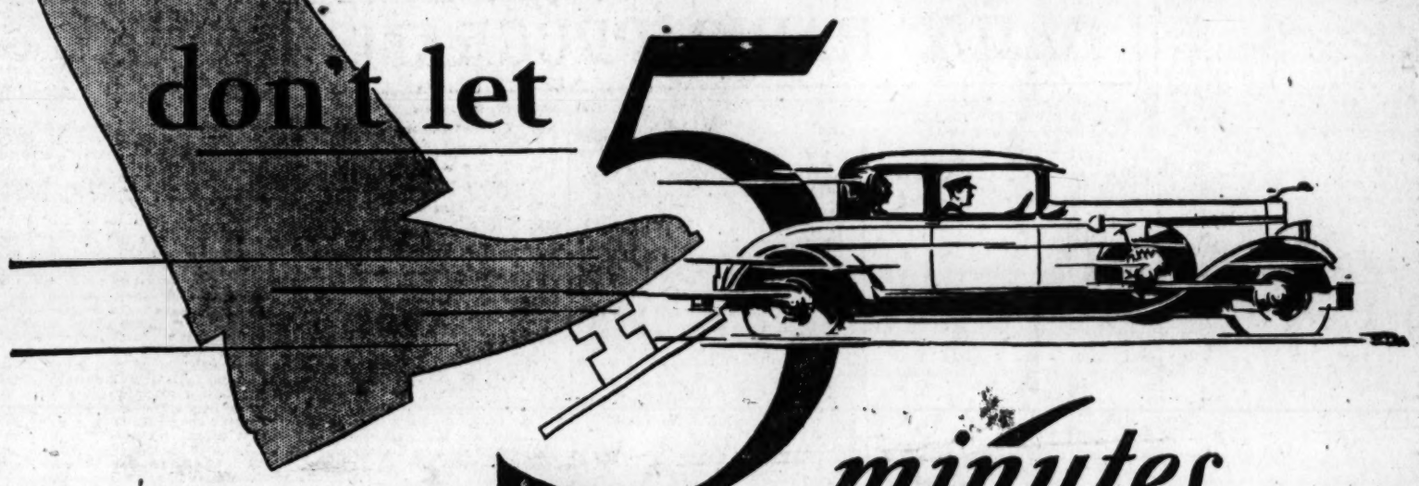
don't let 5 minutes cut off 6 months



AUTOMOTIVE engineers now recognize that from 40% to 60% of the destructive wear and tear on a motor is caused in the starting operation. Why? Simply because it requires from 5 to 10 minutes for the motor oil to be distributed to all the moving parts. A popular automobile, which is fairly typical, has 1,740 parts to be lubricated—and with ordinary oil in the crankcase these parts have no lubricating film when the engine is cold.

That means no lubrication during the starting period and practically no lubrication for five minutes after starting.

But not when you use Conoco Germ-Processed Paraffin Base Motor Oil!

The germ essence in this super-lubricant provides a quality which causes the oil to actually combine with the metal. The metal surfaces absorb Conoco Germ-Processed Paraffin Base Oils, with the result that a permanent, constant lubricating film is provided at all times.

So by using Conoco Germ-Processed Oils you are adding longer life to your motor. By eliminating the minutes of wear and tear in the starting operation, you are adding months to the life of your car.

And that's only one exclusive feature to be found in Conoco Germ-Processed Oils. On every count and by every test this super-oil challenges comparison. Every claim made for it has been proved by exhaustive tests in thousands of motors over a period of seven years.

Motorists who really want a motor oil which lubricates constantly, in summer or winter, under most intense cylinder heat or when the engine's cold, at slow speeds and with heavy loads or at high speed in high compression motors, will find the answer in Conoco Germ-Processed Oils.

Leading service stations and dealers can now supply it. Look for the Conoco Red Triangle and protect your motor car investment.

Hoover Will Speak Over Radio Today

Other Noted Men on Program of Business Conference Here — Hollywood Play Will Be Told—Post Brevities.

The first meeting of the permanent business conference, which was organized at the direction of President Herbert Hoover, will be broadcast over a coast-to-coast network of stations associated with the National Broadcasting Co. and a hookup of Columbia Broadcasting System stations at 10:15 o'clock this morning.

President Hoover himself will speak at the opening session of the conference. His address is expected to be an outline of what the recently organized group of business leaders and the United States Government plan to do for business conditions of the Nation.

Julius H. Barnes, chairman of the board of the United States Chamber of Commerce and the man who selected the 250 conferees from business and industrial groups and trade organizations, is chairman. Other speakers will include Robert P. Lamont, Secretary of Commerce, and William Butterworth, president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

The meeting will be held in the council chamber of the United States Chamber of Commerce, where N. B. C. microphones will be installed to pick up the words of the principal speakers.

All conflicting programs on the National Broadcasting Co.'s networks will be canceled in order to make way for the program. Affecting as it does every industry and every individual in the Nation, the program is considered one of the most important of the year.

"The Secret of Suzanne," Wolf-Ferrari's opera, written in one act with only two characters, will be presented through WRC by the National Grand Opera Company under the direction of Cesare Sodero at 11 o'clock. Olive Kline and Elsie Baker, together with Elliott Shaw, Lewis James and Robert Simmons, all well-known radio soloists, will be featured in the Victor Hour between 10 and 11 o'clock from WRC.

Kreisler's "Caprice Viennois," sung by a male quartet, has been selected to open the Selberling Singers program at 9 o'clock. James Melton, tenor, will sing Marshall's "I Hear You Calling Me" and "With a Song in My Heart" from "Spring Is Here." The violinists will play "Mighty Lak' a Rose." George Gershwin's "Rhapsody in Blue," interpreted by the male quartet, assisted by Frank Black, pianist, will be another feature.

The Melody Moments program follows: Overture to "If I Were King," orchestra; "Macushla," tenor solo, Oliver Smith; "Gypsy Dream Rose," orchestra; "Gypsy Rondo," Haydn, xylophone solo; "Waltz Dream," Strauss orchestra; "Carry Me Back to Old Virginny," tenor solo, Oliver Smith; "Polovetsian Dances" from "Prince Igor," Borodin.

Rudy Vallee and his Connecticut Yankees and Graham McNamee will feature the hour to be presented between 8 and 9 o'clock tonight from WRC.

Two service bands will be broadcast by Station WRC today, the first a concert by the U. S. Marine Band, under the baton of Capt. Taylor Branson, from the Marine Barracks at 9 o'clock this morning, and the U. S. Army Band, under the direction of Capt. William J. Stannard, at 4 o'clock this afternoon from the Washington Barracks.

From 11:30 o'clock until midnight the Columbia Broadcasting System, including WMAL, will offer a description of the opening of the motion picture, "Condemned," at Grauman's Chinese Theater in Hollywood, Calif.

"The Political Situation in Washington Tonight" will be discussed by Frederic William Wile from the studios of WMAL at 8:15 o'clock.

"Around the Samovar" and the Temple hour are among other features to be offered by WMAL during the evening.

The Walter T. Holt Nordica Mandolin and Guitar Club will be featured in a half-hour recital from Station WJSV at 10:30 o'clock this evening. Other features are the Balser Sisters, Ken Coffman and his piano-accordion, and Hilda Johnson, reader.

"Breakfast Brevities," from The Washington Post, will again be broadcast from WOL at 8:15 o'clock this morning.

Paige Burroughs, contralto, who has been heard frequently in Sunday morning broadcasts, will be presented at 4 o'clock this afternoon. She will be accompanied by Gretchen Hood.

A program of numbers requested by the boys in the Naval Hospital will be broadcast at 4:30 o'clock, with the Tea Time period following immediately.

DIAL FLASHES

By ROBERT D. HEINL

GOVERNMENT officials were on the qui vive with regard to the secrets of London's new program broadcasting station, with its twin 30-kilowatt transmitters, just revealed. This twin-transmitting station, 12 miles out of the city, was designed as an experiment to provide two definite and distinct contrasting programs at equal strength for easy reception all over London.

So successful have been the experiments, it is reported, that other twin-wave transmitters are to be built outside the big towns throughout England. Heretofore, it was thought impossible to have two high powered transmitters working alongside each other.

One does not have to know very much French to recognize the repeating by the French announcers on the Canadian stations of certain commercial announcements well known to us in the United States. An example of this is that of a watch announcement in which the time signal is given.

LIKEWISE there is interest in hearing "Amos 'n' Andy" repeat their act for the Western stations late at night which have been heard in Washington early in the evening. If any one should miss them on the 7 o'clock period here they may be found at 11:30 p. m. over WMAQ, Chicago, and a number of other stations in that section of the country.

The skits are written out by the boys in advance but not rehearsed. They repeat them word for word. Bill Hay, the announcer who has been with "Amos 'n' Andy" so long that he is almost a part of the act, is ill and for the time being has been replaced by another announcer, but it was said he would be back within the next two weeks.

AN explanation is due to those who were inconvenienced by the announcement last Friday that the Notre Dame University Band concert would be broadcast at 11 o'clock in the morning instead of 11 p. m. Station WMAL announced that this was due to an error on the part of The Post.

This was incorrect. The mistake was made by the press department of the Columbia Broadcasting System in New York, with the result that not only The Post, but all other papers were erroneously informed that the concert would take place in the morning.

"I HAVE noticed in the radio programs for this week the fact that the sketch known as 'The Family Goes Abroad' is scheduled to be broadcast over the WEAF network at 7 o'clock next Saturday night," a Post reader writes.

"As this will conflict with the 'Amos 'n' Andy' program over WRC it seems to me that arrangements could be made so that the listeners of this city could hear both of these programs.

"The time of the broadcast of 'The Family Goes Abroad' has been changed three or four times and, if I am correct, it was not heard at all last week.

"This sketch is far more interesting than the sketch known as 'Mystery House.' I hope that the officials of the National Broadcasting Co. will make up their minds some time as to the time certain programs are to be presented."

Station WRC, ordinarily associated with the WEAF network of the National Broadcasting Co., excepting for special broadcasts, deviated from its regular schedule in order to make the "Amos 'n' Andy" program available to the local audience.

This change has necessitated rearrangement of all features formerly heard at 7 o'clock. In the case of "The Family Goes Abroad" the local station management has requested the New York offices to try to find another hour for the program, so that listeners in Washington will not be deprived of it.

THERE was a fine mix-up between Stations WCCO, Minneapolis, and WHAS, Louisville, at 11:30 o'clock Tuesday night. In Washington both stations could be heard with great volume, but, as Joe Cook used to say, "simultaneously and at the same time." Each station is supposed to be on a cleared channel.

"SAGITTARIUS."

IF December 5 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 11 a. m. to 1 p. m. and from 6 p. m. to 9 p. m. The danger periods are from 8:45 a. m. to 10:30 a. m. and from 3 p. m. to 5 p. m.

The spiritual and mental side of human nature will be stimulated by the astrological influences on this date. There will be little material progress, but scientists and scholars will be pleased with their advancement. The day favors friendships.

Children born on this day will be intellectual and imaginative. They will have much adaptability and will make many friends. They will be liable to jealousy and will have outbreaks of passion. They will have very high ambitions, but will want to achieve without too much effort.

If you be a woman, you are unselfish to a degree. You have qualifications which should make you an ideal wife, companion and friend. You have warm sympathies, and when others are down-hearted, you can usually show them "the light of day." There are four keys to your philosophy of living—love, sacrifice, sympathy and service—and they should open the doors of happiness to you. You never worry about yourself, but in a kindly way you worry considerably about others. You are a little too anxious to carry the burdens of the world, and a little too slavish in your devotions for your own good.

If you be a man, you are very human and very kindly disposed, but you are not so unselfish or tolerant-minded as those of the opposite sex who were born on December 5. You are a 50-50 friend and you are not willing to do more than your share. You are careful not to waste your sympathies. You are an uncomplaining hard worker and you have a rare business head. You know how to drive a hard deal, but they are always square ones. In a subtle way you are full of fun.

Successful people born December 5:

Martin Van Buren, eighth President of United States.

George A. Custer, cavalry officer.

Harry W. Pillsbury, chess player.

Herbert Edward Law, financier.

William Walker Atkinson, author and editor of New Thought.

TODAY'S WOMEN

By EARL MINDERMAN

DECEMBER 5.

Alice Brown, the New England novelist, was born this day, 1857, in New Hampshire. Among the books which have brought her fame and riches are "Ellen Prior," "Old Crow," "Homespun and Gold," "The Wind Between Worlds," "The Black Drop," "The Flying Teuton," "Bromley Neighborhood," "Children of the Earth," "Robinhood's Barn," "The Secret of the Clan," "The One-Footed Fairy," "John Winterbourne's Family," "The King's End," and others. Her "Children of the Earth" was Winthrop Ames' prize play in 1915.

Rose Wilder Lande, popular American author, was born this day, 1887. She collaborated with Frederic O'Brien in writing "White Shadows in the South Seas," which appeared in 1919. She also is the author of "Henry Ford's Own Story," "The Dancer of Shamahka," "The Making of Herbert Hoover" and "The Peaks of Shala." She won the second O. Henry Prize in 1922.

Other noted women born this day include Christina Rossetti, English poet, 1861; and Elizabeth Cabot Agassiz, first president of Radcliffe College, wife of Louis Agassiz, the famous naturalist, 1822.

Art Interprets the Mode

A coiffure that is suggested to be in keeping with the artistic trend of the day. (A Dah-Ray Idea.)

Paris, Dec. 4.

MODERN women are sacrificing their individuality and charm, dying the humdrum death of standardization.

The cigarette-smoking, pearl-draped, cocktail-imbibing, hipless bobbed and long-legged female caricatured by fashion magazines and other media purporting to interpret the modern elegante, who made a simultaneous appearance in America, the Riviera, China, Russia and Turkistan, was interesting only as a curiosity, and as a curiosity has lost interest from repetition.

Decided steps toward individuality have been taken in the last several seasons by the more intellectual modernists, but the majority of women have yet to realize that the mode, like the stars, inclines but does not compel.

Particularly in the matter of coiffures is this sameness of ideas most painfully noticed. In bobbed hair there were only two or, at the most, three possible coiffures, and one or two more have come to life with the growing-out bobs. The mode of wearing the hair rather severely drawn back from the face and caught in a chignon at the nape of the neck, as in Italy and Spain, has only this season reappeared, to recall the times before the musical clip of the barber's shears made such an impression on the feminine imagination.

Yet the increasing elegance and graciousness of the new silhouette demands a coiffure less severely simple and hard yet classically bent, and not out of keeping with the artistic turn of the age. And just as modern art architecture and modes are classically simple, yet intelligently sophisticated, so one can not revert to crimps, curls and puffs in an effort to break the rigidity of the bobbed and marcelled coiffure.

I therefore offer a coiffure that is in keeping with the trend of the times, is sufficiently flattering and softening to a woman's features, yet has a classic and sculpturing sweep that makes it the perfect frame for almost any conceivable type of face.

Brush your hair straight back from your forehead and back of your ears, gather it up into a loose roll in the back, almost like a chignon effect, and then run the comb through it at either side. The result will be one of sophisticated simplicity and movement, and—well, just see for yourself in the illustration and try it!

Wants make some novel Christmas cards? We can tell you how, and we have some ideas! They are ever so original and, what's more to the point, very easy to make.

And not only Christmas-card ideas and directions do you get in this week's illustrated leaflet, but designs and directions for making Christmas boxes, and novel ways to wrap and seal Christmas gifts! Better send that stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare Department of The Washington Post.

Christmas Box Suggestion.

Have you ever seen a box-vase? We think this is a happy thought and would be charming! We'd use most any kind of box that particularly delighted us and hie us quickly to find a vase to exactly fit in the box. The ideal way, of course, would be to have just the right vase made! Then, alors! wouldn't the flowers drape on the cover of the box in a most "unushul" way? And if it turned out to be a grand idea, we'd go ahead and have—oh-o-o-o-o, a half dozen fillers made, and we're experimenting with all sorts of flowers.

We think you will find it well worth while to look in The Washington Post each Sunday for the weekly Dare fashion letter.

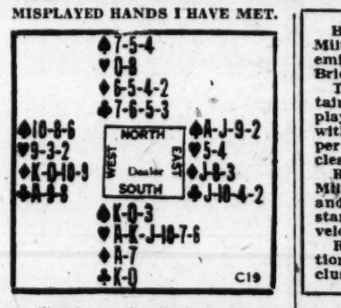
WORK ON BRIDGE

MISPLAYED HANDS I HAVE MET.



SOUTH was the Declarer at Auction Bridge, having obtained the contract on a bid of one Heart. West might have bid two Diamonds, but it would not have mattered, as South then would have gone on to two Hearts.

At Contract South would have bid three Hearts, and North would have been in some doubt as to whether to pass or bid four Hearts; his Queen of Hearts might justify the bid, but it would have been venturesome.

In the play West led the King of Diamonds and South won the trick. Declarer then should have seen that he must lose one Diamond and one Club, that he will not lose any Hearts, and that his game depends upon winning two Spade tricks. He led South's Ace of Hearts to trick 2, and won trick 3 with dummy's Queen. Dummy then led a Spade, East played small and South won; but South eventually, after losing a Diamond and a Club, had to lead his Spades. So he lost two Spades, one Diamond and one Club, and failed to go game.

What should he have done?

Bridge Brevities, a pamphlet by Milton C. Work, the world's pre-eminent authority on Auction Bridge, free.

This valuable pamphlet, containing concise suggestions for players of both games, will be sent with the compliments of this paper to readers of Mr. Work's articles who request it.

Requests must be addressed to Milton C. Work, care of this paper, and must include a stamped (2c stamp), self-addressed return envelope.

Read Mr. Work's articles on Auction and Contract. Every day exclusively in The Washington Post.

THE CORRECT PLAY.

South's only chance to win two Spade tricks and game depended upon a desperate gamble: he must find the Ace of Spades in the East hand and the Nine of Hearts with West. The odds were three to one against both of these happenings combined, but there being no other probability of game, it was worth trying.

So to trick 2 Declarer should have led a small Heart from the South hand and risked losing a trump trick by finessing dummy's Eight. When he was lucky enough to find the Nine in West's hand, insuring two Spade leads from dummy, he should have led a Spade from dummy to try his luck a second time. When South's King won, it would become plain sailing; then it would be easy to put dummy in with the Queen of Hearts for a second Spade lead which would assure two Spade tricks and game.

In making this play the Declarer would take another chance, viz, that the third round of Spades would be ruffed; but without minimizing the risk of the undertaking, the answer is that it was the only probable way.

How to Keep Well

By DR. W. A. EVANS

To the limit of space questions pertaining to hygiene and prevention of disease will be answered in this column. Personal replies will be made to inquiries, under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Dr. Evans will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual disease.

WHAT ONIONS CONTAIN.

HERE is a request for an article on onions.

The analysts tell us that a pound of onions supplies 200 calories. Therefore, if a person were limited to onions as a food supply he would need to eat between 10 and 15 pounds a day. It is a starch food. More than one-half, in fact, two-thirds of the calories are derived from starch. There is but a small amount of fat, less than one-third the starch as sugar content and, in consequence, when onions are cooked they are generally mixed with fats. Nor is it a source of much protein, a pound containing less than 30 protein calories. The proteins are not of good quality for the repair of human muscle. Nor is the onion very rich in lime or iron, two of the three minerals (iodine being the third) in which human food is apt to be deficient.

Dr. Bunge was one of the first great food scientists. It was he who suggested the importance of maintaining a balance of acid and alkali ash in the diet, a matter of common knowledge today. Dr. Bunge holds that the onion is rich in food iron. Perhaps he analyzed onions grown on soil rich in iron, for his opinion differs from that generally held by analysts.

Summing it all up, the popularity of onions can not rest on the reports of analysts. As to their popularity there can be no question. Great political battles have been fought with onions as the burning issue, though I can recall no war waged in its cause. If it has caused no nations to battle it has caused enough family strife to compensate. We have a choice of two explanations.

It is possible that the onion contains some vitamin or vitamins that cause men to yearn for it without knowing why. Not all the vitamins have been discovered and not all the facts are known about those that are accepted. The other explanation is that the onion is valued as a condiment.

The taste and odor are due to an allyl sulphid. This is much stronger in raw onions than in those that have been cooked. Cooking at high temperature materially lessens the aroma.

Dr. J. H. Kellogg advises that onions be roasted in ashes or cooked in an oven buried in hot sand. Cooked in this way the odor is brought to a level where many will enjoy them who now forego the pleasure. The reputation of onions for indigestibility is not deserved.

THEY WERE NOT THE SAME.

M. H. B. writes:

1. Is acidity of the stomach acidosis?
2. Is not acidity the cause of acidosis?
3. Honey is given in place of sugar to patients suffering from acidosis because it is pure and does not cause the acid sugar does. Am I right?
4. Will you kindly state cause for acidosis?

REPLY.

1. No.
2. No.
3. No. Neither sugar nor honey causes acidosis.
4. There is more than one kind of acidosis. Among the causes are: A diet too rich in meat, eggs, cereals and breads; taking too much mineral acid; hunger; starvation; diabetes; fatigue; exhaustion such as follows major athletic contests; taking anesthetics; profuse diarrhea without vomiting.

DUE TO SECRETION LACK.

Patience writes:

1. Are so-called hot flashes merely a nervous reaction or are they the result of an increased heart action?
2. With me a feeling of suffocation in the throat precedes the heat sensation, which is accompanied by flushing of the face and profuse sweating over the entire body. Even my stockings become damp. Is that the general complaint?
3. Do remedies only partially relieve?
4. Is there any danger in letting this symptom continue?
5. Over how long a period does this trouble usually continue?

REPLY.

1. Hot flashes which occur during "change of life" are due to deficiency of secretion of the gonads.
2. It is among women undergoing "change of life."
3. Yes. Injections of ovarian extract.
4. No.
5. Usually one to two years. Sometimes longer.

DEPENDS ON BRIGHT'S FORM.

Mrs. E. H. S. writes:

1. Will you give a good diet for Bright's disease?
2. Are salt and starch injurious?
3. Is asparagus good for the kidneys?
4. Does Bright's disease affect kidneys or bladder?
5. Should lemons or other acid fruits be used?
6. Should coffee, tea, and tobacco be given up?

REPLY.

1. The diet for a case of Bright's disease is determined by the kind of Bright's and some of the symptoms. In acute Bright's the diet should consist of milk and a few other simple foods. In chronic Bright's the diet should be more liberal. Since there is a tendency to anemia it should contain blood making foods. If dropsy is present the diet should be deficient in salt.

Send 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope for booklet on Bright's disease. This goes into some detail.

2. Salt is injurious at times; starch is not.
3. Neither good nor bad.
4. Kidneys.
5. There is no objection to these foods.
6. Some physicians say coffee and tea should not be used.

Baby Mine

Wives of Tomorrow

By FRANCES M'DONALD

"When Love Endures."

DEAR Miss McDonald: I am deeply in love with a man and have been since I was a girl. But because my mother was opposed to him I gave him up and he went away rather than stay here. But two or three years later he came back here and we found we loved each other as of old. Still I wouldn't consent to marry him on account of mother's dislike for him.

Then he married another girl and I began going with another man many years my senior. He was so nice to me and begged me to marry him that after two years I promised to marry him, thinking that would help me to forget the other one. Then, just when I thought I could be satisfied and content with the new one, the old one came back. He and his wife were divorced shortly after their wedding.

He traveled from place to place trying to forget me, and finally came back to find out if I had ever married. Finding I had not, he tried to see me with the result that we are both deeply in love as we were seven years ago.

Will you tell me what you think of this and try to advise me what you think would be the thing for us to do. I feel I can not marry the second man now. Will patiently wait my answer through this paper. J. H. L.

The endurance of this love would indicate that it is genuine. But what was the basis of your mother's objection? Mothers as a rule have an uncanny sense where the happiness of their dear ones is concerned. So deep-seated dislike on the part of a mother very often is the result of some unfitness on the part of the man. Is such the case in this instance? Or does mother merely prefer blonds?

If the man is all he should be, then it would seem folly for you to spend your life in vain regrets just to humor a mother's whim. As to marrying the second man while loving the first, such a performance would be sheer wickedness—and unthinkable. So decide solely on the basis of whether or not the man you love is worthy of the love that he inspires. Some men are and most are not—so be sure before you act, as repenting is sad and sorry business.

This column is for you. Your experiences, opinions and suggestions will help all who read this page. Express your views and help those in need of advice. You need not sign your name.

Cornell Post Now Safe for Dobie

Successful Campaign Insures Him Berth Through 1933.

Alumni Bulletin Says Discarding of Pessimism Has Aided.

By ALAN GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Editor).

NEW YORK, Dec. 4 (A.P.).—The shake-up in Eastern football coaching ranks, although covering a wide range since the close of the college season, will not strike among the picturesque hills above Lake Cayuga, where Gil Doble, of Cornell, holds forth with Scotch determination.

It can be said authoritatively now that Dobie, whose scalp was so cheerfully sought last spring by alumni anxious to take the war path, will remain in charge of football at Cornell at least until his present contract expires in 1933.

So far as alumni criticism is concerned, it has dissolved into a report by "The Committee of 17," made public today in the Cornell Alumni News. It treats the football situation somewhat mildly, voicing criticism of conditions under Dobie which have undergone a change, meanwhile, in connection with the rise of Cornell football fortunes in the season just completed.

Dobie's Attitude Now Approaches Optimism.

Perhaps the most significant feature, so far as Dobie is concerned, is a distinct change from the veteran coach's one time pessimism to a degree of optimism almost startling by constrast. The popular appellation of "Gloomy Gil" did not fit the coach who prefaced the games with Dartmouth and Pennsylvania by asserting confidence in "a fighting Cornell team."

Cornell lost both of these games, but the Red forces were far from being routed. They beat Princeton and Columbia. Improvement in the gridiron material at Ithaca has warranted prospects of an even better showing in the big games next year. "Cornell does not and never has possessed sufficient football atmosphere naturally to attract capable football material," notes the alumni report, adding:

Poor Situation Aggravated By Pessimism.

"The general attitude of Mr. Dobie, or at least, the popular conception of him, with his all-pervading pessimism, has not only not contributed to a betterment of the situation, but has tended to aggravate it."

The alumni committee concedes that "under Gilmour Dobie the Cornell Football Team has won a larger percentage of its games than under any other coach," but also finds a "lack of mutual good will and cooperation among the agencies vital to success."

It also finds a "lack of confidence (among the alumni) and dissatisfaction that has become widespread," thereby causing the committee to doubt if Dobie will be able to reach "maximum effectiveness at Cornell." The committee feels that while the coach has not been entirely responsible "he has been ill-advised in his public relations."

Treatment of Players Indorsed.

The report goes on to say that while regarding Dobie as a strict taskmaster, no substantiation was found of the many specific, bitter charges made against him regarding his treatment of the players. On the cotnray, the committee, after a "particularly close study" of the situation with men "who have been associated with Mr. Dobie since his advent at Cornell finds a practically unanimous sentiment on the part of the men who have played under Mr. Dobie in favor of him as a man and of his methods."

The famous Carnegie report gave Cornell a "clean bill" so far as recruiting and subsidizing of athletes was concerned and the alumni report cites that "it has been one of the finest traditions of Cornell that there should be no proselyting of athletic material or other unethical overtures made to athletic prospects." Nevertheless, the committee recommends "there should be a whole-hearted cooperation on the part of the alumni with the committee on relations with preparatory schools and that a wholesome interest in Cornell be stimulated, with a view to attracting to the university students who will be a credit to the institution."

Ultimatum to Braxton Orders Tonsil Operation

If the mail is delivered regularly at Burlington, N. C., Pitcher Garland Braxton, of the Nationals, will receive some sad news today. It is in the form of a letter written by President Clark Griffith yesterday advising the slim lefthander that he will not be offered a Washington contract next season unless he immediately undergoes the tonsil operation which was ordered by the club physician at the end of last season. Braxton values his tonsils, even in their diseased state, and has persistently refused to have them extracted. Possibly Griffith's letter will help him change his mind.

President Griffith might have forgotten all about Braxton's case but for a communication received from Pitcher Fred Marberry saying that he recently had his ailing members removed and is recuperating at a rapid clip. Ailing tonsils also handicapped Marberry last season and, with them out, he should be able to keep better fit physically and, as a result, have an exceptional 1930 season.

MORRIS, D. C. BOY, PLAYS FOR G. U.

Former St. John Ace to Start Against Gettysburg.

FOR the first time in several years a Washington native will hold down a position with a Georgetown varsity basket ball team when the Hilltoppers line up against Gettysburg College, Saturday night in their inaugural game on the American University floor. Walter Morris, formerly of St. Johns Prep and one of the leading players in scholastic circles here three years ago, was named yesterday by Coach Bill Dudack as a starter in the Blue and Gray array for the opening game.

In the other positions, Dudack named Bill Shea, forward; Don Dutton, center, and Capt. Maurice McCarthy and Freddy Mesmer, guards.

Morris, a substitute last year in his first season on the varsity squad. The passing of the former St. John's flash has been exceptionally pleasing to his coach, while his shooting has been of the same quality that marked him a scoring leader in his high school career.

Morris Has Not Clinched Job.

Though picked to start in the opening contest, Morris as yet hasn't clinched the position. He will have to assert his superiority over Hal Meenan, a regular for the past two seasons, before winning a permanent assignment, according to Coach Dudack.

Meenan, who performed with the Georgetown football team up until last Saturday, reported for court practice only two days ago, and displayed remarkably good form in practice yes-

2 Big Leagues Share Posts on All-Star Team

St. Louis, Dec. 4 (A.P.).—The two major leagues in baseball shared honors equally in the 1929 all-star team of the Sporting News, St. Louis baseball newspaper, named by the votes of 187 members of the Baseball Writers' Association, and announced today. Each league placed five men on the team, which includes two pitchers.

An outstanding feature was unanimous selection by the scribes of Mickey Cochrane, of the world champion Philadelphia Athletics.

Maryland Foe Loses Five Regulars

Southern Conference Rule Severe Blow to W. Maryland.

3 Linemen, 2 Backs Must Be Kept Out of Fray Saturday.

THROUGH the enforcement of Southern Conference eligibility rules, the undefeated Western Maryland Eleven will be unable to present its strongest array against Maryland University in their State title clash Saturday in the Baltimore Stadium.

Previous announcements as to the barring of certain Western Maryland players failed to reveal the seriousness of the situation as regards the Terrors. The earlier revelations mentioned little more than that the Westminster Team would have to forego the services of Capt. Havens, center, and Gomsak, full back, both of whom have played a great game throughout the current season.

A Southern Conference rule limits the term of a player to three years of varsity competition and prohibits a conference team opposing a nonconference team that does not enforce that limitation. As a consequence the barring of Havens and Gomsak, who now are in their fourth year of varsity football, resulted.

Loss of 3 Line Men Severe Blow.

But, in addition to Havens and Gomsak, the Terrors have lost on the same grounds Welsback, left guard; O'Lear, right tackle, and Pelton, right end, all of whom were considered regulars. It is in the loss of these three that the real severity of the blow to Western Maryland is seen.

Welsbeck, O'Lear and Pelton, while probably not as valuable individually as either Havens or Gomsak, are, nevertheless, highly important cogs in the Terror machine, and minus their services Dick Harlow's club is far weaker than it would be simply without Havens and Gomsak.

Whether or not Western Maryland can overcome the obstacle that has been placed in its path and perform up to the standard of its earlier games through which it has gone undefeated is now the most discussed angle on the coming clash among the fans. At first glance a week or so back, this game promised an evenly-contested battle between two powerful teams, but now, in view of the Terrors' eligibility losses, it appears that the Terrapins hold a decided edge.

Strongest Maryland Team Ready.

The Terrapins will enter the game with their best line-up. Curley Byrd's eleven is thought still to be improving, even though it showed plenty of strength against Yale, V. P. I. and Johns Hopkins. Therefore, Saturday's clash will bring together one team on the upgrade and another suddenly bereft of nearly 50 per cent of its strength.

Just how good is Western Maryland's reserve strength is unknown, although on several occasions it has resorted to use of second-string players without a great loss of effectiveness. It is believed that Harlow has more capable back field reserves than line reserves, which, if true, will not prove much of a helpful factor. The Terror line has been weakened to a far greater extent than has the back field.

Cubs Sign McAfee, Michigan Mound Ace

Ann Arbor, Mich., Dec. 4 (A.P.).—Bill McAfee, hurling ace of the University of Michigan Baseball Team last spring, has signed with the Chicago Cubs, Coach Ray Fisher announced today.

McAfee will be graduated from the university in January and expects to report shortly afterward to the National League champions. McAfee helped win Big Ten championships in 1928 and 1929.

Breadon Noncommittal On Alexander Status

St. Louis, Dec. 4 (A.P.).—President Sam Breadon, of the St. Louis Cardinals, today declined to confirm or deny a report that waivers had been asked on Grover Cleveland Alexander, veteran hurler.

A special dispatch to the Post Dispatch from a staff correspondent at Chattanooga, Tenn., where the minor leagues are in convention, said:

"It is no secret here that waivers have been asked on Grover Alexander. It is a secret, however, as to what action the various clubs took on the matter."

Breadon, who sent Alexander home on full pay before the end of the 1930 season, after the pitcher had broken training rules, has repeatedly stated he had not made up his mind as to what to do in the veteran's case.

St. Mary's to Accept Bowl Game If Offered

Oakland, Calif., Dec. 4 (A.P.).—St. Mary's College will accept an invitation to represent the West in the annual New Year's Day intersectional football game with an Eastern team at Pasadena if such an invitation is extended by the Tournament of Roses committee.

The college board of athletic control voted affirmatively on the question last night and said in a statement that it felt the record of St. Mary's undefeated varsity was such that it would be a fit representative of the West against any team of the country.

A report that California would not accept an invitation to play caused St. Mary's authorities to act formally. California and St. Mary's played to a scoreless tie this season, but California later was defeated by Stanford University.

St. Mary's goal line was crossed only once this year, the University of Oregon scoring in the last game of the season, which the Gaels won.

FAVORITES SURVIVE IN NATIONAL PRO GOLF

MINORS' BAN IS LIFTED ON TOPORCER

Must Pay $500 Fine for Inciting Riot at Rochester.

By BRIAN BELL.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Dec. 4 (A.P.)—Although the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues met in annual convention today, the bulk of the day's baseball news came from outside the convention hall.

Charles H. Knapp, Baltimore lawyer, was elected president of the International League by unanimous vote of the eight clubs, in the late afternoon; while the meeting brought to George Toporcer, suspended Rochester infielder, the glad tidings that he would not have to remain out of baseball for a year, but could run out to play second base for the Red Wings as soon as he pays a fine of $500.

The election of Knapp broke a deadlock of long standing in the International League. Since the death of John Conway Toole the league has been unable to agree upon a successor and the affairs of the league have been in the hands of Knapp, assisted by an advisory committee of club presidents. Knapp had not been a candidate.

President to Have Full Authority.

Under the terms of today's election, which is for a term of one year, the advisory committee will be abolished and the president will have full authority. The Baltimore attorney, who became president of the Baltimore Club as executor of the estate of the late Jack Dunn, was loath to accept the additional responsibility, but finally agreed to serve for one year.

The International League decided also to continue playing 168 games a season, instead of reducing the number of games to 154. The schedule will be prepared at a meeting in February.

Nats' Chiefs to Attend Joint Big League Parley

President Clark Griffith, Secretary Edward B. Eynon, jr., and Manager Walter Johnson will attend next week's annual major league baseball meetings in New York, which are scheduled on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, the latter date being that when the two leagues meet in joint session.

While the Nats' officials have no important matters to put before the magnates, they are hopeful of doing a little business on the player mart while there, either by purchase or in a trade which might involve some of their utility talent. Just what players they are seeking, or whether or not they have any definite plans in mind, can not be learned but Griffith states that he has hopes of not coming back empty-handed.

Friend of Blackburne Given First Chance at Shires in Prize Ring

CHICAGO, Dec. 4 (A.P.).—Dan Daly, of Cleveland, who professes to be yearning for an opportunity to gain revenge for "Lena" Blackburne, former White Sox manager, will get his chance Monday night.

Daly has consented to be the first ring opponent of Art Shires, the "bad boy" of the White Sox who decorated Blackburne with two black eyes last summer.

"I am a close personal friend of Blackburne's and I want to get a crack at this much self-advertised tough boy from Texas," Daly said in his successful application for the match to Promoter Jim Mullen. "His attack on Blackburne, a man much older than himself who can't fight, was the work of a coward. I'll prove that Shires does most of his fighting orally, and give Blackburne some revenge."

Shires, meanwhile, is working out daily in a downtown gymnasium. His form is far from that of a polished boxer but he possesses a haymaker, which starts from the floor and damages his sparring partners once in a while when it lands.

Fields to Face Jones In Nontitle Match

Boston, Dec. 4 (A.P.).—Jackie Fields, world's welterweight champion, today agreed to meet Gorilla Jones, of Akron, Ohio, in a nontitle bout at the Boston Garden on December 13. It was stipulated that neither would scale more than 149 pounds, 1 above the welterweight limit.

Charles Knapp Named International Head

Chattanooga, Tenn., Dec. 4 (A.P.). Charles H. Knapp, of Baltimore, was unanimously elected president of the International League late this afternoon. He has been acting chairman of the board and administering the affairs of the league since the death of John Conway Toole and agreed to serve as president for one year.

Reds Sell Zitzmann, Outfielder, to Newark

Cincinnati, Ohio, Dec. 4 A.P.).—Bill Zitzmann, utility outfielder of the Cincinnati Reds, has been sold outright to the Newark International League Club, it was announced today by Sidney Weil, Reds president.

The selling price was not announced, but Weil said part of the cash was used to purchase Wes Kingdon, Newark shortstop, who will go to the Columbus American Association Club, a Cincinnati farm.

Weil cleared up the uncertain future of another Red farm, the Peoria Three Eye League Team, by announcing the Cincinnati club would continue to extend financial support there if Peoria civic bodies make an effort to increase attendance.

Jones Believes Army-Navy Will Not Resume Relations

Retiring Coach Sees Notre Dame Game as Annual Feature for Cadets; Jones Expects to Coach in 1931.

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Dec. 4 (A.P.). The Army and Navy are not likely to resume football relations and the annual Army-Notre Dame classic is destined to replace it as one of the Nation's traditional gridiron battles, Capt. Lawrence "Biff" Jones, retiring Army coach, believes.

Coach Jones, here for the Notre Dame football victory banquet tonight, said the Army-Notre Dame game was amazing in its popularity.

"We could start the Army-Notre Dame game at 10 a. m. and fill the Yankee Stadium," he said. "The teams then could retire for lunch and meet before another capacity crowd at 2 p. m., topping that, they could play a night game before 85,000 more spectators, and still 100,000 fans would complain that they were unable to get tickets to any one of the three games."

Coach Jones said he did not intend to retire permanently. He will spend next year at an Army commission school as a student, he said, and will be back coaching in 1931. He did not say whether he would return to West Point.

MOONEY, G.U., MAY PLAY ON COAST

Hilltop Captain Considered for Charity Grid Contest.

JIM MOONEY, captain and stellar tackle of the Georgetown Team, is under consideration for an invitation to play with the all-star Eastern Team which will meet an all-star Western combination in a postseason game at San Francisco.

Lou Little, Georgetown coach, was asked last Sunday by Andy Kerr, coach of Colgate, in charge of rounding up the Eastern players, whether Mooney would be receptive to an invitation to play. Two years ago, Claude Grigsby, then captain and center of the Hilltop Eleven, performed with the Eastern stars in a charity game on the coast.

Detroit, Mich., Dec. 4 (A.P.).—Lloyd Brazil, captain and star half back of the University of Detroit Football Team, today accepted an invitation of Andy Kerr, Colgate coach, to play with the Eastern Team in the annual East vs. West game at San Francisco New Year's Day.

Hamilton, N. Y., Dec. 4 (A.P.).—Two outstanding wingmen of the past season in the East today accepted invitations to join Andy Kerr's East Eleven for the Shriners' hospital fund game with the West at San Francisco New Year's Day. They are Deb Seacrist, of Washington and Jefferson, and Hal Booma, of Dartmouth, both of whom have received considerable all-American mention.

Hanley Picks Midwest Players.

Chicago, Ill., Dec. 4 (A.P.).—Coach Dick Hanley, of Northwestern University, tonight issued invitations to eleven Midwestern football stars, who, if they accept, will join with a like number to be selected by Andy Kerr, Colgate coach, to play against the Far West in the Shrine benefit game at San Francisco New Year's Day. Hanley invited Bronko Nagurski and Bob Tanner, of Minnesota; Lou Gordon and Forest Peters, of Illinois; Henry Anderson and Milton Anderson, Northwestern; Elmer Sleight and Ralph Welch, of Purdue; Jack Cannon, of Notre Dame; Willis Glassgow, of Iowa, and Ray Richards, Nebraska. He said the Eastern group would join the Midwest section of the squad at Evanston, December 16, for the initial practice, and will leave that night for Palo Alto, Calif., where headquarters will be established.

San Francisco, Calif., Dec. 4 (A.P.). Percy Locey, coach of the football team which will represent the West in the Shrine annual East-West game to be played here New Year's Day, today announced he had five Midwestern players under consideration to whom invitations probably would be telegraphed today.

The names were suggested to Locey by Dana Bible, coach of the University of Nebraska, at Locey's request. The players are Richards, Nebraska tackle; Sloan, Nebraska half back; Waldorf, Missouri full back; Schoonover, Arkansas end, and Churchill, Oklahoma end.

Champaign, Ill., Dec. 4 (A.P.).—Lou Gordon, tackle, and Forrest "Frosty" Peters, quarter back on the 1929 Illinois Football Team, tonight accepted invitations to play in the annual East-West charity game at Los Angeles January 1. They will play with the Eastern squad.

Gar Wood Will Seek New Speedboat Mark

Miami Beach, Fla., Dec. 4 (A.P.).—Gar Wood, dean of American speedboat builders and drivers, will attempt to set a new straightaway water speed record of 100 miles an hour this winter with Miss America VIII, powered by a 2,200-horsepower motor.

Wood said today he expected to beat by about 8 miles an hour the record set on the Lido last year by Sir Henry Segrave, British holder of the automobile speed record, who has transferred his activities from automobiles to boats.

The trials here will be on Indian Creek. Wood said he expected no foreign competition, believing that Sir Henry would not come to America before time for the Detroit races. Miss America VIII will be brought here about December 15, but Wood would not set a date for his try for a record.

Gene Sarazen, New York, defeated Fred Morrison, Los Angeles, 3 and 2.

Johnny Farrell, New York, defeated Henri Cuici, Bridgeport, Conn., 2 and 1.

Hagen, Diegel, Farrell, Sarazen Survive in 2d Round Play.

Espinosa to Encounter Watrous in 3d Round Match Today.

By RUSSELL J. NEWLAND
(Associated Press Sports Writer).

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 4 (A.P.).—Paced by two favorites—brilliant Leo Diegel, defending champion, and Walter Hagen, five times holder of the title—contenders for the 1929 Professional Golfers Association championship stroked their way today through a gruelling second round of 36-hole match play that saw the field narrowed down to eight.

Diegel swept through his match in easy fashion with Herman Barron, Port Chester, N. Y., 10 to 9. Hagen's win was not as decisive, but he eliminated Charles Guest, Los Angeles, 5 and 4.

The Agua Caliente, Mexico, professional, won the first hole from Barron and was never pressed from that time on. At the ninth he was three up and had increased the lead to eight at the eighteenth. The match ended on the twenty-seventh with Diegel posting figures of 37—33—70 for the morning round, with a 34 on the third nine. Barron shot 40—36—76 and took 36 on the third nine.

Farrell Eliminates Henri Cuici.

Hagen had a 35—34—69, two under par, for the first eighteen and went out in the afternoon in 37. He was three up at the twenty-seventh. Guest had a 37—37—74 and 35 for his third nine.

Two former national open champions, Gene Sarazen and Johnny Farrell, advanced to the third round. Sarazen defeated Fred Morrison, of Los Angeles, tournament medalist, 3 and 2, while Farrell eliminated Henry Cuici, Bridgeport, Conn., 2 and 1.

In the most bitter struggle of the day, Al Espinosa, Chicago, nosed out another veteran campaigner, William Mehlhorn, New York, on the fortieth hole. They were even at the ninth; Mehlhorn picked off a one-up advantage at the eighteenth and they were all square at the twenty-seventh. Espinosa had two rounds of 35—37—72 and 35—35—70; Mehlhorn carded 35—36—71 and 36—35—71. They halved the next three extra holes in 4, 3, 4 and Espinosa won the match on the next green with a par 5.

Watrous Overwhelms Nabholtz, 9 and 7.

Al Watrous, Detroit, removed Larry Nabholtz, Houston, Tex., from the picture with an overwhelming 9-7 defeat, while Tony Manero, New York, raced through his match today with a 6-5 win over Eddie Schultz, Troy, N. Y.

Craig Wood, young Bloomfield (N. J.) star, entered the third round with a 3-2 win from Neil Christian, Portland, Oreg.

Tomorrow's matches will pit Diegel against Sarazen in the outstanding test. Hagen will meet Manero in the other lower bracket play. Diegel and Hagen are the favorites and if they come through as expected, will face each other in the semifinal classic Friday.

In the upper bracket matches tomorrow, Watrous takes on Espinosa and Farrell meets Wood. Cards:

IOWA COURT CAPTAIN IS BANNED

Statement to Members of Big Ten Is Now Being Studied.

IOWA CITY, Iowa, Dec. 4 (A.P.).—The University of Iowa, on the eve of the most crucial moment in its athletic history, today effected another bit of housecleaning in an effort to convince the Western Conference that it is ready to be taken back into the conference circle.

It ruled Virgil David, captain of its basket ball team, ineligible for competition due to scholastic deficiency. The chairman of its eligibility committee, Dean C. C. Williams, announced that there was small possibility that the cage star would be able to straighten out his class room work, his record showing a failure in one subject for last semester.

The move, regarded as one of the most drastic in Iowa's campaign to obtain reinstatement in the Big Ten, came less than 72 hours from the time the conference is expected to pass on Iowa's petition for restoration into the good graces of the circuit. It was the latest of numerous instances of Iowa's efforts to prove to the conference that it is sincere in trying to live up to the spirit and letter of Big Ten regulations.

Iowa already had placed in the hands of the faculty representatives of each of the other nine schools, copies of the brief upon which it will base its plea for reinstatement. The 4,500-word statement asking that the Big Ten rescind its action proposing to sever athletic relations January 1, was being studied by the other schools at the moment the Iowa committee ousted Capt. David.

Violated Confidence, Says Dean.

Dean Williams, the Iowa faculty representative flatly refused today to give out the statement despite the fact that some newspapers used it. He said he was confident that the newspapers had violated the confidence in which they were taken by Iowa officials when they were furnished with advance copies of the brief. He felt, he said, that none of the faculty representatives of other schools had released the text. Dean Williams had sent copies to the press for use at the time he presented the brief to the conference at its meeting at Chicago, Saturday.

E. H. Lauer, director of athletics, will leave tomorrow morning for Chicago, he will be followed by Dean Williams and members of the coaching staff, all of whom will be on hand when Williams presents the Iowa plea to the conference.

NIGHT FOOTBALL PLANNED HERE NEXT SEASON

G. U. Willing To Consider Project

Griffith Considering Installation of Arc Lights.

Semipro League for Nocturnal Games Is Suggested.

NIGHT football will be attempted in Washington next fall, according to plans contemplated by Clark Griffith, president of the Washington Baseball Club.

Though little else but thought has been applied thus far, Griffith's plans are definite. If he is assured the willingness of several leading college or semipro elevens to play at night, Capital fans can watch the gridiron sport played under artificial light before another year rolls by.

Griffith wants to organize or see some one else organize a semipro league of local teams which would be willing to play some of their games at night at the stadium. Also, he wants some college to agree to stage two or three nocturnal contests. Then, he says, he will install the necessary equipment for the playing of such games.

Griffith to Confer With Semipros.

It is expected that the Washington Club president soon will confer on the subject with representatives of leading semipro teams in the hope of lining up sufficient cooperation with which to carry out his idea. He believes that the public would welcome night football and the attendant opportunities of viewing more games than can be played under existing conditions here.

A league of four teams, in Griffith's opinion, could arrange a schedule calling for two or three rounds of games, the final result of which would determine the city semipro championship. By scheduling more than one round of games, he says, it would be possible to hold several contests on week nights, meanwhile staging the regular Sunday afternoon games as have been played for years past.

Georgetown University, it was learned last night from Director of Athletics Lou Little, would seriously consider playing some of its early season games next year at night if the proper facilities for night football were installed by hte stadium management.

"I feel pretty certain that night football would prove popular with local fans," said Little, adding, "and Georgetown would look thoroughly into the possibilities of playing at night if the lights and other equipment were installed."

Night Games Increase Attendance.

Night football was staged successfully in all sections of the country during the 1929 season. The colleges which undertook it reported huge gains in attendance and gate receipts over 1928 figures; in some cases gains of 200 per cent. The night game was found attractive by thousands of fans who had met various obstacles, such as business and household affairs in attending daytime games.

The artificial light plan first was tried out by William and Mary College in 1927 in a game with Catholic University at Williamsburg, Va. Since that time, the Williamsburg institution has played more than half of its football games at night, while more than a score of colleges in all other sections of the country have copied the plan.

ST. MARTINS VICTORS.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—COLONEL BELL, $7.50, $2.70, $2.70; BLAMELESS, $2.60, $2.60; RED MOUNTAIN, $3.60.

COLONEL BELL broke in a tangle, worked his way up and won in a hard drive going away. BLAMELESS was taken wide around turn and closed fast. RED MOUNTAIN broke running and went into a wide lead, but tired badly. BY PRODUCT was allowed to go to the bar out of it early, went to outside in stretch and finished fast. PORTSUR had no mishaps. MERIDIANESE ran away three furlongs before start, showed speed in the race, then quit.

FIFTH RACE—Mile and seventy yards. Purse, $1,000. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won easily; place, same. Went to post at 3:54. Off at 3:59. Winner, Three D's Stable's b. c. Two-dollar mutuels paid—CALF ROPER, $4.00, $3.00, $2.50; YAM TOY, $4.80, $3.40; WELLET, $3.60.

CALF ROPER broke fast, rushed to front, was under restraint, drew away easily in stretch to win nicely in hand. YAM TOY was taken wide around first turn, followed pace and was an easy second. WELLET, well up, ran well. GALAHAD broke well, but dropped back and failed to show any speed. He ran a very poor race. OLD SLIP, almost left, ran up to the leaders in first part, then tired from his efforts.

SIXTH RACE—Mile and seventy yards. Purse, $1,000. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won easily; place, same. Went to post at 4:25. Off at 4:28½. Winner, Valley Lake Stable's b. f. Two-dollar mutuels paid—NANCY SETH, $12.70, $4.50, $2.50; CARIN, $3.00, $2.30; SPANISH ASTER, $2.20.

NANCY SETH broke slow, worked her way up on outside, closed with a rush in final three furlongs and won going away. CARIN ran into a long lead in early part, but tired as if short. SPANISH ASTER was rated in a contending position, but could not gain when urged in stretch. BOYS PREFERRED had good speed, but tired.

SEVENTH RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse, $1,000; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, easily. Went to post at 4:54. Off at 4:55. Two-dollar mutuels paid—RASULI, $5.30, $3.00, $2.20; GUEST OF HONOR, $10.80, $3.90; FENLIGHT, $2.60.

RASULI, much the best, just galloped in front and held GUEST OF HONOR safe at the end. Latter closed fast and made a game effort. FENLIGHT closed a big gap. FLORENDA was running strong at the end.

COLLYER'S COMMENT on the SPORT of KINGS

BY BERT E. COLLYER

OUT of the ether. It is radio day down at Jeff Park this aft, according, at least, to the monikers the boys in charge have hung on the various events, and by the same token several of the eagle-birds that I have on tap should respond to the harmonic vibrations—wateverinell they are—and come prancing home on the chin strap.

In the initial raffle, I anticipate—I might say I confidently anticipate—a victory for the sweet patootie EIL-WEIR, which, from all recent form, stacks up as a pretty smart juvenile. If they paid off at the eighth pole, MISS RAMSEY would get the purse, but, as it is, she should not be worse than second.

DOCTOR FRED looks like a spread in the second. He has all the class and figures much the best, although ARROGANT'S present form is peachy. LITTLE COLONEL for what is left.

In the third HARPOON is right at the peak and must be given a five-point call at least. Tight fit between SPORT DRESS and LA PALOMA for second; EAGER PLAY is the dark one.

I am stringing along with PATRICIA MARIAN, a fresh horse, and JUSTINA, a consistent juvenile, in the alleged feature. They are coupled as the Collins entry and the 6 furlongs should be about right. EXTREME can carry a ton—they have asked him to pack 120—and will be dangerous. In fact, the event seems a tough spot, any of the candidates having a good chance to spill the frijoles.

SIMON KENTON looks like a copper-riveted good thing in the fifth.

AGAPANTHUS, the only other one having much of a chance, should find the mile and 70 too far. BARITONE, if hot, will be third, possibly second.

Forgot to tell you that VOLE, with all the class, is just a kick in the slats in the sixth. Looks like a good spot to go down for double.

Station BEC signing off for today.

BEST DEVITT TEAM, SAYS COACH

Present Team, Rated Strongest in History, Faces Gonzaga.

"THE best team Devitt ever had" is the title given to the eleven which Coach Jim McNamara will send into action against Orrell Mitchell's Gonzaga gridmen at Griffith Stadium next Saturday afternoon, when the two grid teams clash in a game which will unofficially decide the prep school championship of the District Although McNamara has turned out good teams before, he states, without hesitation, that his 1929 combination is absolutely the best team he has ever coached.

All of which should send local gridiron fans scurrying to the Seventh Street ball park on Saturday to see the last scholastic game of the season here. With both elevens boasting enviable records and the traditional series between the two schools all tied up with two wins apiece, there should be plenty of action before the final whistle is blown on Saturday. Gonzaga was returned the winner last year, 13-6, with Devitt emerging on top the year before.

Battle of Back Fields Expected.

A battle of back fields will probably provide the main feature of the game with a brilliant quartet of ballcarriers gracing the line-ups of each team. In Keefe, Abramson, Knott and Bernard, Devitt can look to a group of men who have run rampant through enemy lines all season, while McVean, Bussink, Brew and Freund have all shown equally as well for Gonzaga.

With the exception of Keefe, these men played against each other in the 1928 battle and should be out to maintain and avenge their record, as the case may be.

Although the "dope" seems to favor Devitt somewhat, both coaches declared last night that they were looking forward to a hard battle with neither team conceding a thing to the other. McNamara points to the exhibition of the Devitt line against Central in which the Blue and White runners were almost stopped in their tracks, while Mitchell boasts of a fast-charging line which has smeared enemy plays all season.

Al Farrell to Play In Line.

Led by aCpt. Al Farrell, who was shifted to a tackle position from a back field post, the Gonzaga line is a tower of strength to the wearers of the purple.

It will probably be many a moon before these two elevens face each other with a similar brilliant array of performers playing on each team. With the exception of not more than a half dozen, every man on the rival combinations is expected to graduate this year and each coach will be forced to build anew for the 1930 season. In the case of Holbrook, Farris, the Farrell brothers, and Danny Pyne, the Devitt team will be met for the third time.

Second Jeff Park Win Is Scored by Col. Bell

Jefferson Park Race Track, Dec 4.—E. H. von Roehn's Colonel Bell scored his second victory of the meeting when he won the Southern Pacific purse, the feature of the card here today. He paid his backers $7.50 for $2. Blameless, the favorite, was second, with Red Mountain, third. Meridianese, well played, ran away three furlongs at top speed before the start and it ruined her chances of winning.

Off to a good start, Red Mountain rushed into a wide lead, followed by Portsur, Meridianese and Blameless. In the stretch, Col. Bell came up, took the lead and won going away by a length and a half.

MORRIS, D. C. BOY, STARTS AT HILLTOP

terday, considering the short time he had been out for the court sport.

The opening game line-up includes three regulars of the '28-'29 campaign —Capt. McCarthy, Mesmer and Dutton. These three appear certain of holding their positions safe from the threat of numerous rival candidates as matters stand now.

Shea, the other forward, was a member of the reserves along with Morris a year ago. He too must prove conclusively his right to a starting position. He has taken the job held last winter by Dutton, who now is playing in the place of Paul Dillon. The latter played regularly as the center last year and has bright hopes of regaining the assignment.

Dutton Will Shift If Dillon Returns.

In the event Dillon returns to the starting line-up, Dutton will go back to his old forward position at the expense of either Morris or Shea, for Dutton is conceded to be the best all-around basket ball player the Hilltop has known in a decade.

Coincident with the announcement of the opening game line-up, it was learned yesterday that Johnny Scalzi and Ed Leary, football stars and reserves of the basket ball team, will stay away from the major indoor game this winter on account of injuries. Both are capable court performers who fall little short of first-string qualification.

Scalzi will undergo an abdominal operation next Monday and does not expect to indulge in athletics again until the spring, when he hopes to go out for baseball. Leary is suffering with a weak ankle, the result of his football efforts.

As usual, Georgetown will stage preliminary games on each of its varsity basket ball programs. The Hilltop freshmen will play in most of the preliminaries. They will open Saturday night's proceedings in a contest with the Central High School Five, starting at 7:15 o'clock.

STEWAR FIVE TRIUMPHS.

Stewart Brothers Photo Five won its sixth straight game last night by defeating the Tremont Team, 22-18. The winners will meet the Pullman A. C. tonight at 8 o'clock in the Terminal Y. Gym and Doc Hessler is booking future games at Columbia 9333.

G. W. to Choose Team From Swimming Class

From an advanced swimming class of 63 students of George Washington University will be chosen the George Washington Swimming Team which will start its activities in the near future, according to Max Farrington, assistant athletic director of the downtown school and now in charge of the swimming classes. Farrington is now conducting regular swimming classes besides the advanced group at the pool in the new Ambassador Hotel..

Over 40 per cent of the 286 freshmen and sophmores failed to pass the required swimming test in effect at the university which requires a student to swim 50 yards, and must take swimming lessons this year. However, the attitude of these students is rapidly changing and no longer are the classes regarded as a hardship. In fact, the students are becoming very enthusiastic and many insist upon putting in extra time

Stamford High Prepares For an Invasion of Tech

Special to The Washington Post.

Stamford, Conn., Dec. 4.—Stamford High School has been handicapped this week by snow and severe cold in its preparation for the postseason game with McKinley Technical High School, of Washington, to be played at Cummings Park here Saturday afternoon.

The Stamford Team, coached by Michael A. Boyle, a Villanova graduate, and by Paul Kuczo, who played quarter back at Villanova in recent years, has come through the current season with eight victories and one defeat. The Middletown (N. Y.) High School Eleven defeated Stamford, 13 to 6, in the second game of the season with a number of the Stamford first-string men out.

All other opponents, including Connecticut, New Jersey and New York high and private school teams, were bowled over with plenty to spare. The Stamford Team is conceded the Connecticut high school championship. The average weight of its line is about 155 pounds and of its back field, about 152.

In its games thus far, Lione and Best have been Stamford's most formidable offensive players.

Johnny Scalzi and Maurice McCarthy, Georgetown athletes, performed for Stamford High.

Handicappers' Choices Win Often in Maryland

Chicago, Dec. 4 (A.P.).—A statistician on turf results has come forth with the revelation that the best pickers of race track winners for 1929 were from New York, Kentucky and Maryland with Canadians last.

In each of the three States, 40 per cent of the favorites for first place came through victoriously, while in Canada the average was 33 per cent. Illinois' percentage of winning favorites was placed at 35.

Statistics for the year of formful racing in the leading States and Canada:

	Races run	First places	Pct.
New York	1,050	425	.40
Kentucky	1,009	397	.40
Maryland	779	308	.40
Illinois	1,452	512	.35
Canada	2,058	671	.33

NORTH CAROLINA GRID TITLE AT STAKE SATURDAY

N.C.U. Holds Edge Over Duke

...rheel Victory to Clinch 1929 State Crown.

Duke to Tie for Honor With Win; Psychology to Figure.

Special to The Washington Post.

CHAPEL HILL, N. C., Dec. 4.—Looking at the situation from one angle, Old Man Psychology will be on the side of the Tarheels when North Carolina and Duke clash in Durham next Saturday afternoon to decide whether the Tarheels are to have undisputed claim to the State football championship or whether it must be shared with Duke.

But if you take a look at things from another angle, you will see a different picture. You will see a Duke Team that has everything to gain and little if anything to lose in the game this year. The Blue Devils have just been given a licking that they didn't feel they deserved. They are out for revenge and they will be going after the Tarheels with blood in their eyes. Moreover, Duke supporters feel that it is high time the Tarheel brothers were being scalped. It is a victory they have been longing and praying for many a day.

The Tarheels have lost to the Methodists only three times in the history of football relations between the two institutions.

Duke Has Not Beaten N. C. U. Since 1893.

The first defeat came in 1889 when Trinity (now Duke) won, 25 to 17. The next Trinity victory was in 1891, by the score of 6 to 4, and the third was in 1893, by the same score.

Duke has not won a game since, although there was a 26-year period, from 1895 to 1922, during which Carolina and Trinity did not meet on the gridiron.

Altogether, twelve games have been played, with the Tarheels showing nine victories.

The Tarheels have a clean slate for the seven games since relations were resumed in 1922, but four of the games have been won by one-touchdown margins. The score last year was 14-7.

The Carolina-Duke series to date stands as follows:

1889 (spring) Carolina, 17; Duke, 25.
1889 (fall) game forfeited to Carolina.
1891 Carolina, 4; Duke, 6.
1892 Carolina, 24, Duke, 0.
1893 Carolina, 4; Duke, 6.
1904 Carolina, 28; Duke, 0.
1895 to 1922, no games.
1922, Carolina, 20; Duke, 0.
1923, Carolina, 14; Duke, 6.
1924, Carolina, 6; Duke, 0.
1925, Carolina, 41; Duke, 0.
1926, Carolina, 6; Duke, 0.
1927, Carolina, 18; Duke, 0.
1928, Carolina, 14; Duke, 7.

Penn State Begins Winter Sports Work

Special to The Washington Post.

State College, Pa., Dec. 4.—With the sports calendar blank for more than a month, Penn State's basketball, boxing, and wrestling squads will spend the next three weeks before the Christmas recess in training and conditioning preparatory to the formal opening of schedules.

The basket ball squad held its first regulation practice today. The boxing and wrestling candidates have been working out for more than a month, but their coaches have been training the football team.

Keyser B. & O. Teams Win 2 System Titles

Special to The Washington Post.

Keyser, W. Va., Dec. 4.—A $400 silver trophy was presented the Keyser Baltimore & Ohio Railroad basket ball and baseball teams at a banquet at the Knights of Pythias Armory here last night, at which covers were laid for 118. It was in recognition of the team's having won the system championship.

W. W. Wood, Baltimore, head of the welfare department, in making the presentation, said it was unusual a town of the size of Keyser should win two titles within one year. The trophy, which must be won three times for permanent possession, was received by Charles Schue, president of the Keyser Baltimore & Ohio Athletic Association. John M. Niland, Cumberland, terminal supervisor, was toastmaster.

Among the speakers were Revell Brown, general superintendent of Philadelphia to Grafton; Safety Director M. T. Hitchcock, Thomas E. Mewshaw, master mechanic of the Cumberland division, and Don Riley, sports editor of the Baltimore & Ohio Magazine. The dinner, which was followed by a dance, was served by the Ladies Auxiliary of the Baltimore & Ohio Veterans Association.

Engle Named Captain Of Martinsburg Club

Special to The Washington Post.

Martinsburg, W. Va., Dec. 4.—George Engle, for several seasons an end on Hose Co. No 5 Mountaineers' football team here was unanimously elected captain for the 1930 season by his fellow players last night at the annual banquet given by the firemen to their athletic squads. He succeeds LeGarde Thompson. The election keeps the captaincy on the line for the third successive year. He had a heavy part in directing the team's play the past season.

The team closed its season Sunday with a total of seven games won and two lost, scoring a total of 163 points against its opponents' 60.

The retiring captain, and the manager Edison Baker, were presented with testimonials, as was the coach, Dr. W. H. ("Hoot") Flanagan. More than 200 attended the banquet, the largest sports dinner attendance ever recorded here. The baseball and drill teams of the fire company were guests along with the football squad.

Team Averaging 90 Lbs. Invades Charlottesville

Special to The Washington Post.

Kent, Ohio, Dec. 4.—The Kent Bearcats, claimants of the 100-pound national football championship, will play the Charlottesville five, Southern champions, at Charlottesville, Va. Business men of Charlottesville have guaranteed to pay the Bearcats' expenses for the trip, amounting to $1,000.

The smallest player of either team is Martin L. Davey, jr., Bearcat quarter, who weighs 74 pounds. He is the son of former Congressman Martin L. Davey, Democratic nominee for governor of Ohio last year. The Kent team averages 90 pounds in weight and 12 years in age. The Charlottesville team averages 95 pounds and 14 years. Neither team has lost a game this season. On their return trip from Charlottesville, the Bearcats will stop in Washington where they hope to meet President Hoover. Former Congressman Davey will accompany the team.

All-Prep Grid Team Named for Virginia

Throughout the past football season the athletic editors of the Woodberry Oracle, student weekly publication at Woodberry Forest School kept an up-to-date record of all the preparatory school teams in Virginia. Near the close of the season, printed questionnaires were mailed to all the coaches with a view to the selection of an all-State prep team. Eleven out of the nineteen coaches appealed to, including the mentors of the six really outstanding teams, developed in the State during the season, responded immediately.

After careful consideration of their opinions, two all-star teams have been chosen. The final selections were made on the basis of a "point system," in which the following items figured: First, the difficulty of each team's schedule; second, the record of each team; third, the relative standing within the State of each team, which was determined also by a "point system;" fourth, the opinion of each coach concerning his five most valuable players, listed in order of their respective abilities; fifth, the opinion of each coach concerning any five outstanding members of other State teams, selected at his will; sixth, the personal all-State selection of each coach who chose to make one.

Teammates Fooled When Star Runs 102 Yards.

Special to The Washington Post.

DAVIDSON, N. C., Dec 4.—Thad Brock, captain of the Davidson College Wildcat Football Team, who won a niche in the hall of football fame Thanksgiving, when he ran 102 yards from punt formation, yet failed to score against Duke University, added still further to his notoriety when he kicked an extra point on turkey day that gave Davidson a 13 to 12 victory over Duke.

On his famous run, the Davidson captain, who is an end, but is called back to punt and pass for the Wildcats, stood 7 yards behind his goal line with the expressed intention to punt. His teammates did not know he was to run with the ball. Brock simply saw the position of the Duke players and in a flash decided to hazard a dash. He did. He sidestepped a would-be tackler, reversed his field and before he had gone to his own 30-yard line he had a clear field ahead. Two pursuers started after him and overtook him 5 yards from their goal. Three plays later, Davidson scored, to lead Duke University, 13 to 6, at half-time.

Brock Has Carried Ball 3 Times.

What is more to his credit is that Brock has never carried the ball during his playing at Davidson except three times, all of them this year. Two of them were against Duke University, for prior to his record-breaking sprint, he had made 26 yards when he fa...ed a punt on fourth down, and almost got away for a touchdown. Against V. M. I. this fall he made 11 yards on a similar play. In three ball-carrying attempts he has made a total of 149 yards, or an average of 49 2-3 yards a play.

As a sophomore last fall, Brock was selected by many sports writers and coaches for all-State. He is expected to be a unanimous choice this year while only a junior. His defensive work throughout the season has branded him as a preeminent end in North Carolina. But, added to this is the fact that twice he has won football games for Davidson with his extra point against Citadel and Duke, 7 to 6, and 13 to 12, respectively. His record for the season is 10 extra points out of fourteen attempts, for a percentage of .714.

Averaged ... Yards On Kic...s.

Due to the lack of an excellent punter and passer, the Davidson captain is called to the back field for both of these tasks. Against Duke University, Thanksgiving, he averaged 43 yards, one of his kicks being for 71 yards. He was the one who passed 40 yards to King to give the Davidson Team a 7-to-3 lead over the Army at West Point on October 12, and on frequent other occasions he has played prominent parts in both the passing and kicking departments of Davidson. He is extraordinarily good in placing his kicks out of bounds near the enemy's goal.

The Davidson captain lead his team to a .500 percentage in games won and lost this season, Davidson starting out with only five letter men, one of which was injured early in the season and played in but a few of the games.

Virginia and Texas Listed by Harvard

Cambridge, Mass., Dec. 4 (A.P.).—The Universities of Texas and Virginia have places on the 1931 Harvard football schedule made public today. Both Texas and Virginia will trek to Cambridge for their battles with the Crimson, the former on October 24 and the latter a week later.

The card for next year includes games with William and Mary and Michigan.

Generals Announce 1930 Grid Schedule

Lexington, Va., Dec. 4 (A.P.).—Although its 1929 football season was filled with disappointments, Washington and Lee University has arranged a 1930 schedule, which includes such teams as West Virginia, Kentucky, Virginia and V. P. I.

Duke University takes Florida's place on Thanksgiving and Maryland goes back on the schedule, replacing North Carolina State. The first game scheduled so far is with the University of Richmond, at Richmond, on October 4.

The schedule, which includes five Southern Conference teams, follows: September 27, pending; October 4, University of Richmond, there; October 11, West Virginia, at Charleston, W. Va.; October 18, Kentucky, at Lexington, Ky.; October 25, St. John's of Annapolis, here; November 1, V. P. I., here (home-coming day); November 8, Maryland, here or at College Park; November 15, Virginia, at Charlottesville; November 22, permanently open; November 27, Duke, at Durham.

E. P. Bledsoe, of Sykesville, Md., will lead the Cavaliers next season as captain.

Weyers Cave Five Lands County Title

Special to The Washington Post.

Staunton, Va., Dec. 4.—Weyers Cave tonight won the Augusta County rural high school basket ball championship, defeating Craigsville two games to one, in postseason series. The score in the final battle was 23 to 22.

This victory gives Weyers Cave the right to represent Augusta County in the district 'G title contest to be staged in Bridgewater Saturday, championship teams of the various counties competing there for the district honor.

In ten games this season Weyers Cave collected a total of 331 points to 167 garnered by opponents.

20 GRIDMEN HONORED BY VIRGINIA

Captain to Be Named Soon; Booth 1930 Manager.

Special to The Washington Post.

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., Dec. 4.—Twenty varsity letters were awarded to members of the University of Virginia football squad for play during the season of 1929.

Morey L. Booth, of Owensboro, Ky., was elected manager of football for 1930, George Cooper, jr., of Scarsdale, N. Y., Robert E. Dismukes, of Columbus, Ga., and James R. Davis, of Norfolk, Va., were named assistant managers, with St. George T. Lee, of Concord, Mass., as alternate assistant.

Men who received the varsity "V" are Capt. John K. Sloan, of Richmond, Va.; Herbert Bryant, of Alexandria, Va.; William E. Byrd, jr., of Baltimore, Md.; George Cameron, of Petersburg, Va.; Richard W. Day, of Richmond, Va.; William J. De Butts, of Barbourville, Va.; Churchill Dunn, of Petersburg, Va.; Hunter Faulconer, of Charlottesville, Va.; Glenn Augustus Kaminer, of Gadsden, S. C.; Robert Kimball, of Ipswich, Mass.; Albert Lewy, of Cleveland, Ohio; Hunter C. Motley, of Madison, Va.; Freyhan Odenheimer, of New Orleans, La.; William W. Paxton, of Montclair, N. J.; John L. Peyton, of Staunton, Va.; George R. Taylor, of Winston-Salem, N. C.; William Thomas, of Richmond, Va.; Howard Turner, of East Falls Church, Va.; F. Lawrence Whalen, of Boston, Mass., and William R. Williams, of Richlands, Va.

Gold footballs are given each year to the men who have earned their "V" each year during their period of eligibility. These were awarded to Capt. Sloan, Faulconer, Byrd, Kaminer, Taylor and Turner.

The captain for 1930 has not been named, but he will probably be chosen at a meeting of the team to be held in a few days.

GOLF AS CHAMPIONS PLAY IT

What advice would you give to a player anxious to improve his putting?

By WILLIE OGG

(New England Professional, Former Massachusetts Open, Shawnee Open Champion).

In the first place, use a putter so balanced that the head can be left to predominate. A thin grip will usually give this feel. Secondly, have most of the weight resting on the left foot. This helps to prevent swaying, which is not good in putting. The most important part to watch the whole art of putting is the back swing. It must be slow and smooth; the slower the better. Also, don't look at the hole when hitting the ball; watch the head of the club.

The putter should be held firmly in the fingers so as to give complete control, but not so hard as to stiffen the wrists. The right hand predominating in the hitting is usually the best method, with the left doing most of the work going back. The club should be drawn back, not lifted.

SNOW PREVENTS PLAY.

Lonaconing, Md., Dec. 4.—Due to the field at Hancock being covered with snow, the field ball game scheduled today between the Central High Girls of Lonaconing and Frederick High School, was postponed until Saturday, and will be played at Carroll Park, Baltimore. This means a long jump for the Lonaconing team, which will have traveled 584 miles to play three State games.

Florida and Oregon Play In Dixie Feature Saturday

Intersectional Clash Scheduled at Miami as Grid Curtain Falls; Tulane Mystified Opponents With Versatility.

By EDDIE BRIETZ
(Associated Press Sports Writer).

ATLANTA, Ga., Dec. 4 (A.P.).—The South, which in years past has had the Indian sign on Pacific Coast football, gets its first chance of the season against the Far Western brand this week.

Oregon University, one of the coast's major elevens, is taking a 7,500-mile journey to Miami to see if it can't start a Western comeback campaign against the Florida Alligators next Saturday.

Coached by Maj. John J. McEwan, former Army coach, the Oregon Squad, 28 strong, reached the Sunshine State today and impressed Jacksonville fans with a workout. The Webfoots leave for Miami tomorrow night.

This game is the only intersectional duel scheduled to feature the closing day's card.

Coach Bernie Bierman's Tulane Green Wave won the Southern Conference championship with one of the most versatile scoring machines in the history of Dixie football. Winning nine straight games, the Greenies employed every known method of football to crush their opponents.

Tulane Showed Versatile Style of Play.

A running and passing attack stopped Texas A. and M.; Georgia Tech was beaten by a passing attack, straight running plays won from Mississippi A. and M., passes and end runs demolished Auburn, a plunging game decided the Georgia contest, while line sweeps beat Sewanee and overhead flings routed Louisiana State.

If Tennessee, which was runner-up to Tulane for the conference title, wins its final game from South Caroline this week, Maj. Neyland's Vols will have established one of the most unusual records in Southern football. Victory over the South Carolinians will enable the Vols to wind up their third season undefeated. Only three ties mar what otherwise would be a perfect record. All of the ties can be laid to the Kentucky Wildcats.

Fred E. Gardner, former Cornell player, has arrived in Atlanta to referee the Georgia-Georgia Tech game at Athens Saturday for his fifth straight time. He has the distinction of having refereed every game these two schools have played since resuming athletic relations in 1925.

Southern Conference Body Meets Next Week.

The annual meeting of the Southern Conference will be held at Baton Rouge, La., next week and the annual meeting of the Southern Intercollegiate Athletic Association has been set for Mobile the following week.

Football drew the biggest crowds in Dixie history this season. The Yale-Georgia game at Athens, played before more than 35,000 people, got the biggest gate so far. However, Miami reports say 50,000 may watch Oregon and Florida clash.

FIRST FUMBLE IN SIX YEARS.

Jerry Breen, Michigan State half back, played three years in high school and three years in college, before he committed his first fumble.

MINORS TO MAJORS.

Walter Holke, who made good in his first year as manager by winning a pennant for Quincy, may manage a club in a bigger league.

CRACKS 100 IN ROW.

Breaking 100 straight "clays" thrown from the traps was the unusual feat accomplished by W. C. Miller, amateur gunner, who recently competed in a trap-shooting meet in Kansas City, Mo.

PLAY COURSE WITH PUTTER.

One of the shortest golf courses in the world, located in Chattanooga, Tenn., is a layout of 1,000 yards on which only a putter is used. Players are forced to shoot over concrete bridges, through pipes, around irregularly placed posts and even through shrubbery.

RAN 101 YARDS TO SCORE.

Ted Franz, half back of the Ohio Wesleyan University, has the distinction of making the longest scoring run recorded so far this season in college football. He caught the ball on the kick-off behind his own goal line and ran 101 yards for a touchdown against Heidelberg.

HAWKS MEET TO REDEEM SELVES

Aim to Swamp Celtic Eleven to Prove Their Strength.

THE Mohawks, who were shorn of their District unlimited championship by the Apaches last Sunday, will be out to prove to the Washington public that they still possess a great sandlot football team when they trot out on the Griffith Stadium gridiron Sunday to battle the St. Mary's Celtics, of Alexandria, according to Patsy Donovan, business manager of the team.

"The Hawks were beaten fair and square by the Apaches, but we don't believe our team played the football it is capable of in last Sunday's game," said the little manager last night. He continued: "We'll be out Sunday to swamp the Celtics, and the boys won't be satisfied with another 1-point victory. The Hawks realize that there is no chance of another game with the Apaches, but they are not satisfied that the Apaches are the better club. I expect the Hawks to take out their vengeance on the Celtics. We will be using our regular players and will not bar any player that the Celtics desire to use against us.

The Mohawks are reported to be in good condition despite last Sunday's hard game. They practiced last night at the ball park with all hands reporting.

Over in Alexandria, the Celtics are aiming to complete the fall of the Mohawks. Rube Hayman is working the squad hard and the Celtics realize that a crack at the Champion Apaches will be their reward for a victory Sunday. Hayman is seeking some more drive in his back field, feeling, as the result of the first game, that the Celtics will be able to match the Hawks in kicking, defense and passing.

BASKET BALL As Champions Play It

Answered by EARL WIGHT
University of California.

An easy team should be scheduled for the first practice game. It is inadvisable to lose this game because of the effect upon the team confidence. It should be possible at this time for a coach to try a number of new men without jeopardizing the outcome of the game.

After a team spirit and morale have been established hard games which may be lost should not affect team play. Sometimes a defeat is a valuable thing if it comes under the right conditions

DUNN LEADS 1930 V. M. I. ELEVEN

Cadets Schedule Nine Contests for Next Season.

LEXINGTON, Va., Dec. 4 (A.P.).—Monogram men of Virginia Military Institute's State championship football team today unanimously elected as captain their pile-driving full back, Roy Franklin Dunn, of Rocky Mount, N. C.

Dunn completed his second year on the Flying Squadron this season, starring as a line plunger on attack and as a savage tackler on defense. He led the V. M. I. scorers with seven touchdowns and one extra point for a total of 43 points. Dunn also played guard on the Cadet basket ball team last year, and was a utility outfielder in baseball.

V. M. I. Schedules 9 Games.

The V. M. I. schedule for next season, as announced by Athletic Director Blandy Clarkson, lists nine games instead of ten, with the early September game with Hampden-Sidney missing.

The Flying Squadron will play five Southern Conference games instead of six, St. John's College of Annapolis, Md., having replaced Florida.

The schedule follows:

September 27, Richmond at Lexington; October 4, St. John's at Lexington; 11, The Citadel at Charleston, S. C.; 18, Virginia at Lexington (homecoming game); 25, Maryland at Richmond.
November 1, Davidson at Lexington; 8, Clemson at Norfolk; 15, Kentucky at Lexington, Ky.; 27, V. P. I. at Roanoke.

Convention Hall Wins Two as Morgan Stars

Games below the 600 mark were of no value in the District League last night. The Convention Hall Team, after dropping the first game to Meyer Davis by 548 to 606, came back to roll two victories by scores of 603 to 561 and 631 to 571. Morgan supplied the fireworks for Convention Hall, contributing a set of 403, which included games of 115, 150 and 138. Freddie Moore, for Meyer Davis, rolled 134, 98 and 139, while his teammate, Goodall, had 133, 141 and 100.

New Internal Revenue Record of 612 Is Set

The Consolidated Team set a new high game mark for the Internal Revenue Bowling League last night, rolling 612 to take one of three games from the Miscellaneous Five, which is leading the circuit. Earl Lewis, veteran District bowler, had a hand in the record game, leading off with a 128 total. R. Lewis topped his team with 135, while Taylor came through with 134. Sweeney's 108 and Morris' 107 helped swell the total. Annex No. 1 threatened the leaders when it took three games from Personal Audit.

"Cy" Young to Coach "Little Generals"

Special to The Washington Post.

Lexington, Va., Dec. 4.—Harry E. "Cy" Young, of Huntington, W. Va., now on the coaching staff at William and Mary College, has been named to succeed Eddie Parke Davis as head mentor of the Washington and Lee freshman teams starting next year, it was announced here today. He also will serve as alumni secretary, succeeding Verbothe Kemp in that capacity. He will take over his alumni duties June 1, 1930, and will assume charge of yearling football next September.

Young will be remembered as probably the most outstanding athlete ever turned out at Washington and Lee, and the only man ever to captain four major sports teams during his term of student residence. Playing football, basket ball, baseball and track between the years 1913 and 1917, "Cy" captained the gridiron, indoor court and track teams during the campaigns of 1916, and in the spring of 1917 led the diamonders.

MAKE FOOTBALL HISTORY AT EPISCOPAL HIGH SCHOOL

The 135-pound football team of Episcopal High School has just finished the most successful season in the history of the school's lightweight teams. Winning seven games and losing none, the "little varsity" scored a total of 117 points while yielding but 6 to their foes. The squad is pictured above. Left to right (front row)—Evins, Byrd, Bridgers, Barnes, Steves, Cary, Garnett, Lankford, Hanson and P. Dabney. Second row—Lee, Merriam, R. Tufts, Smith, Moncure, Matheson, Dodson, Bowers and Jordan. Third row—Shepherd, Cooper, Mann, Alles, Moorman, W. Dabney, J. Tufts and Haynesworth. Back row—Skinker, Meem, Tabb, Browse, Dupont, Evans, J. B. Young, Mason, Anderson, J. C. Young, Thomas, Dudley, Burn, Neely and Schneider.

WHAT DID YOU WRITE IN YOUR BEST GIRL'S ALBUM?

DECEMBER 5, 1904.

Bribery influenced the awarding of the prizes in the World's Fair in St. Louis, it was alleged. Federal authorities were preparing to investigate 50 alleged fraudulent awards.

A hearse driver, bringing a body to Potter's Field, found the body of a man in the marsh in the southeast portion of the city. Coroner J. Ramsay Nevitt declared the man had frozen to death.

James N. Tyner, former representative and Postmaster General, died at his home here after a long illness.

Representative Bourke Cockran, of New York, was preparing to introduce a bill in the House calling for the publication of campaign expenditures.

YESTERDAY'S ANSWER.

Uncle Ray's Corner

WHEN Newcomen made his first steam pump, coal was used in many places in England. It was not nearly so common as wood for fuel, but many persons knew that coal made longer-lasting fires.

A cart used for hauling coal from mine in early days.

Here and there in England, as well as in parts of the continent of Europe, were coal mines.

For a long time coal was carried from the mines in baskets. Men with heavy loads on their backs trudged out of the mines and then took the coal to where it was needed for fuel. Sometimes women and children labored in this way.

A better method of handling coal was to place it on sledges, which were dragged over the ground. Still better were the carts which were loaded with coal and pulled by horses.

There were troubles with the coal carts. Roads were poor, and in wet weather the wheels sank into the ground, sometimes over the hubs. Then it was a real task to start the cart moving forward again.

To halt that trouble, miners placed planks on the soft parts of the roadway. This helped to keep the wheels from sinking.

Planks were good, but they were not good enough. Often they would slip to the side and the wheels would sink in the mud.

Some one had the idea of fastening the planks firmly to the ground. This idea worked well, and lines of planks fastened to the ground were laid on roads for miles.

Since the English often called planks "rails," it was natural that the roads should come to be called "railroads." These mine roads were, indeed, the world's first railroads.

Sometimes planks were laid clear across the road, and a groove was made in the middle. A stout peg hung from the back of the coal cart and passed along the groove. This kept the cart from swinging to either side.

Horses were used to pull the coal carts over the railroads until about a century ago. Then the steam locomotive came into use. Strips of metals were laid over the "rails" in order to hold the locomotive wheels. Later the rails were made entirely of iron.

NEWS OF LATEST HAPPENINGS IN MARYLAND AND VIRGINIA

MAN IS ARRESTED IN COUNTY THEFTS

Organized Women Voters in Arlington Discuss Government.

RESOLUTION IS PASSED

ARLINGTON COUNTY.
BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Clar. 509. Clarenden. Va.

The arrest of Rozier Gorham, colored, 24 years old, of Falls Church, by Deputy Sheriff Harry L. Woodyard and Officer Raymond Crack, Tuesday afternoon clears up a number of robberies in several sections of Arlington County, Sheriff Howard B. Fields declares.

Gorham, Sheriff Fields stated, has confessed to five robberies in different sections of the county. Gorham was arrested by officers, according to police, as he was attempting to make his escape from the home of Rudolph Chapdelaine, of Brandon Village, Arlington County, late Tuesday afternoon.

Taking him to Washington yesterday in an effort to locate some of the loot, failed, the police stated last night. It is estimated by the police that the value of the articels taken by Gorham will exceed $500.

He is being held for the action of the grand jury in the Arlington County Jail. His case will come up at the opening of the December term of the Circuit Court of Arlington County Monday morning at 10 o'clock. He is being held on charges of housebreaking and grand larceny.

Speaking at the meeting of the Organized Women Voters of Arlington County, held yesterday in the auditorium of the old Cherrydale Schoolhouse, Harry C. Saffell stressed the advantages of the commission form of government for Arlington County.

Saffell pointed out that he favored the election of five commissioners from the county at large, to serve one, two and three years, and each fall have an election of members of the commission; abolish all magisterial districts and elective officers as at present and put the entire control of running the county government under the board of commissioners.

"In order to make this change, certain legislation in the General Assembly is necessary, and for that reason the question of the most feasible form of government should be fully discussed and our wants made known to our representatives in the General Assembly," said Saffell.

Saffell declared that the passing of resolutions, calling upon Delegate Hugh Reid to introduce legislation providing for a special election for the citizens to vote on the question of whether they want to incorporate as a city or not, is wasting time, energy and money. "What we want is a form of government that will give us more for the money we now pay in taxes," he said.

Attacking the move now under way for the return of Arlington County to the District of Columbia, Saffell cited figures showing that it would cost more for street improvements and water extensions. He stated that should property be assessed in Arlington County as it is in the District of Columbia the people would soon see a great difference.

Following the action of the Arlington County Civic Federation, the organization adopted the following resolution: "That Hugh Reid, representing Arlington County in the Virginia House of Delegates, do introduce into the Legislature, as early in the session of 1930 as in his judgment such a measure will not embarrass him in regard to other important legislation, an act to enable Arlington County citizens to vote specifically upon the question of whether or not they desire to incorporate as a city."

Prior to the adoption of the resolution efforts, which failed, were made by Mrs. Louis A. McMahon to offer as a substitute a resolution which would call upon Delegate Reid to introduce a bill which would permit the voters of Arlington County to vote on the following forms of government: County manager, commission, supervisors, elected without regard to magisterial districts; incorporation of the retention of the present form of county government. It was pointed out by Mrs. McMahon that the adoption of this resolution would cover the question, as, after a vote is taken on the question of incorporation, which she declared will not meet with the approval of the voters, another election will have to be held on the question of what form of county government the people do want.

Mrs. Ruby Simpson, the president, announced the appointment of a special committee to study and answer five questions propounded by Lieut. Col. U. S. Grant 3d, executive officer of the National Park and Planning Commission, dealing with the relative advantages Arlington County offers for industry as compared with suburban residential use.

Col. Grant, in a letter which accompanied the questionnaire, declared that "in connection with the Sun Oil case the question has arisen as to whether the park projects of the commission would leave any shortage of industrial water front for development in the county."

Answers to the questions have been requested by Col. Grant not later than December 15 in order that they may be presented to the commission at its meeting which is scheduled for December 20.

All members of the organization are requested by the president to confer with the special committee and express their individual view as to the answers to the questions. In addition to the committee making its own study it is instructed to meet and cooperate with a like committee from the Arlington County Civic Federation which will hold an open meeting the evening of December 10 in the rooms of the Arlington County Chamber of Commerce.

The annual Masonic banquet and ladies night of District No. 54, comprising lodges from Clarendon, Cherrydale, Fairfax, Vienna and McLean will be held in the Cherrydale firemen's hall Saturday night at 7:30 o'clock.

Representative Arthur M. Free, of California; Harry K. Green, grand junior warden of the Grand Lodge of Masons in Virginia and past master of Columbia Lodge, No. 285, A. F. and A. M. of Clarendon, and district deputy grand master of District No. 54, Joseph L. May, are announced as the speakers of the evening.

The banquet will begin with the invocation delivered by the Rev. Elmer Lucas, pastor of Cherrydale Baptist Church, after which the program of the evening will be in the hands of Toastmaster Hugh Reid.

The program will include solos by Mrs. Benjamin Shreve, and fancy dancing by Eloise Topley. Music during the evening will be furnished by Donald Moore and his orchestra of Cherrydale.

The banquet will be prepared and served by the ladies of Arlington Chapter, No. 29, Order of the Eastern Star of Cherrydale.

The report for the month of November of the activities of the county clerk's office shows the following: Deeds recorded, 290; State taxes collected on deeds amounted to $1,033.06; wills filed, 5; State tax, $14.40; chancery suits, 27; State tax amounting to $40.50; actions at law, 12; State tax, $14. Fines collected in prohibition cases for the month totaled $480; the costs amounted to $648.25; fines collected in cases other than prohibition amounted to $65.75; the costs were $102. Delinquent real estate taxes collected, going to the State treasury, amounted to $100.59. The amount collected going to the county treasury totaled $878.82. The total amount collected during the month for hunting licenses amounted to $2,629.

The monthly meeting of the Guild of St. George's Episcopal Church will be held tonight in the Parish Hall at 8 o'clock. All members are asked to attend as much business will come before the meeting.

The Arlington County Business and Professional Woman's Club will give a dance Saturday night at the Ashton Heights Clubhouse. Mrs. Emma Weekley and Miss Lorena Herstman are on the committee in charge of the arrangements.

The board of directors of the Arlington County Chamber of Commerce will hold its monthly meeting tonight instead of the afternoon hour in the rooms of the chamber of commerce in the Reese Building at Clarendon.

The president asks that there be a full attendance as many questions vital to the future of the chamber of commerce and plans for the coming year's work will be considered.

Meeting with officials of the Virginia Public Service Corporation yesterday, County Engineer C. L. Kinnier announced that the question of the installation of a modern street lighting system for the business section of Clarendon along the Wilson boulevard, extending from Clarendon to Virginia avenue was considered.

Engineer Kinnier stated that the company will prepare estimates on cost of installation and operation to be presented to the County Board of Supervisors at its meeting to be held the morning of December 14 at the courthouse.

The Clarendon Rebekah Lodge, No. 28, will give its annual Christmas bazaar and dinner tonight in the Odd Fellows Hall at Clarendon. Dinner will be served from 5 to 8 o'clock.

The December meeting of the Matthew Fontaine Maury School Parent-Teacher Association will be held in the schoolhouse tonight at Clarendon at 8 o'clock.

Daily O'Currences

By JOHN DALY

LUELLA was writing a chain letter.

"What are you doing that for?" I asked.

"Oh," she answered, poising her pen in air, a way she has when interrupted at her writing, "I just want to put over a message to humanity."

"And you expect to do this by annoying a lot of people with a chain letter, eh?"

Luella sighed. "The only way to get anything done in this world," she said, somewhat philosophically, "is to annoy people. Human beings need to be prodded—every now and then."

"Hence the chain letter," I mused.

"The chain letter," she told me, "is one of the most fascinating games ever invented. All you do is start one, and then sit back and chuckle."

* * * *

PITY the poor devils who fall in the clutches of chain letter writers. It seems that Luella and her ready letter writers threaten the recipients with the Egyptian curse unless they carry on.

"Why the Egyptian curse," I asked, "and what is it?"

"You know as much about it as I do," she confessed, babbling something about the six great festivals of the ancient Egyptians which evoke either blessings or curses on those caught in the meshes of chain letters.

So far as the Egyptian festivals are concerned, Luella had them written on a piece of papyrus over her desk, thuswise:

1. That of Bubastis (Diana, or the moon);
2. That of Busiris, in honor of Isis;
3. That of Sais (Minerva, Hermes, or Wisdom);
4. That of Heliopolis, in honor of the sun;
5. That of Butis, or Buto, the goddess of night, and
6. That of Papremis (Mars, or Ares, the god of War).

* * * *

"A strange thing this," I told her, "having a lot of Egyptian mythology connected with chain-letters written in English. Now if you must do this thing, why not formulate an American mythology——"

"How could you have American mythology when there isn't any——?"

"That's just it. Make it up. Use your imagination."

"As, for instance?"

"Well," I began, "what's the matter with having the first of the great American festivals begin with that of the old god Budweiser, or St. Louis of the Missouri?"

"Oh, don't be silly," snapped Luella, "this is serious, this chain letter——"

"You bet it's serious," I said, standing as defender for all those unfortunate souls who have been harrowed from time immemorable with the plagued things, "more serious than you think. There ought to be a law against it. If I had my way——"

* * * *

"I KNOW," she said, "if you had your way you'd stop me from sending this message to mankind, a message of peace and good will on earth, a message that if it gets over will cause a lot of happiness around this, the Yuletide season."

"I'll bite," I said, "what is the message?"

"Here it is," she said, handing me one of the nine replicas to her chain letter. Sure enough, there it was—the admonition:

"Shop Early,
Wrap Thoroughly, and Shake Well Before Using."

WITNESSES PICTURE STUDENT SHOOTING

Falwell Alleged to Have Expressed Wish That Hit Youth Woud Die.

CALL ATTACK UNINCITED

Lynchburg, Va., Dec. 4 (A.P.).—Three witnesses in Corporation Court testified here today for the Commonwealth that Garland W. Falwell, of Campbell County, after pursuing and shooting at the occupants of a roadster on a highway near here said he hoped he had killed Gus B. Wiltshire, jr., 22-year-old Washington and Lee student, of Martinsburg, W. Va.

They said at that time Wiltshire lay in the car, which had stopped in Lynchburg, severely wounded, and that Falwell had followed the roadster into the city.

The witnesses were Miss Georgia Black, of DeWitt, Ark., and Elizabeth Cardwell, of Paragould, Ark., students of Randolph Macon Woman's College, and Patrolman M. S. Miles, of Lynchburg. The two girls, who were companions of Wiltshire on the night of October 27, testified that they were fired upon by Falwell, after they left a gasoline filling station near the city, which he operated. They said the alleged attack was unprovoked.

Falwell is under five indictments in connection with the shooting of Wiltshire, who received wounds in the neck and shoulders.

Fairmont Suicide Laid To Business Reverses

Special to The Washington Post.

Clarksburg, W. Va., Dec. 4.—Large losses in the recent stock market crash and other financial reverses are assigned as the motive for the suicide today of William H. Martin, 65, former owner of a chain of grocery stores in this section. He jumped off the high Southside bridge at Fairmont.

Martin was unmarried. He was a brother of the late Robert B. Martin, Clarksburg business man.

WALTER JOHNSON WINS FOWL PRIZE

Maryland State Poultry Show Attracts Large Field of Entries.

EGG TARIFF IS FAVORED

Special to The Washington Post.

Frederick, Md., Dec. 4.—The second day of the Maryland State Association poultry show in the Armory today was well attended. The show is one of the largest in the East, and, on account of its success, Frederick may be chosen as the permanent home of the exhibit.

The judges, John C. Kriner, Stutler'sville, Pa.; Hart Welsh, New York City; Charles D. Cleveland, Eatontown, N. J.; M. L. Chapman, Robbinsville, N. J.; C. N. Myers, Hanover, and Jacob Eberly, York, Pa., put in a busy day, and, owing to the number of entries, awarding of premiums progressed slowly. Walter Johnson, manager of the Washington American League Baseball Team, was one of the early prize winners.

The annual Atlantic winter meet of the American Bantam Association, and the annual winter national meeting of the Campine Club are being held in connection with the show. Members of the Bantam Association have made 500 entries, and members of the Campine Club have 136 entries.

The Maryland State Poultry Association, a separate organization from the State Fanciers Organization, held its annual meeting and dinner at the Francis Scott Key Hotel. S. M. Horst, Maugansville, Md., president, was toastmaster at the dinner. Addresses were made by Mr. Horst, Prof. Roye White and W. H. Rice, extension service, University of Maryland; L. A. Dayhoff, Smithburg; F. E. Willar, Mount Airy, and Paul A. Raper. At the annual business meeting the association decided to award two silver cups for the 4-H Club boys State judging contest to be held in connection with the Hagerstown Fair next year. The association will also award a silver cup to the 4-H boys judging contest at the Madison Square Garden Poultry Show, New York, next month.

The association went on record as favoring a tariff on eggs and baby chicks and opposed any tariff on cod-liver oil. An educational program was discussed for the next meeting in Baltimore January 8, 9 and 10, in connection with the annual meeting of the State Farm Bureau.

The following officers were elected: President, S. M. Horst, Maugenville; vice president, W. D. Pickering, Denton, Md.; secretary-treasurer, Aaron Fell, Bethesda; directors, F. M. Payne, Braddock Heights; E. S. Hastings, Salisbury; Robert Day, Sykesville; William V. Lauterbach, Mount Airy, and Lloyd E. Holsinger, Denton.

Maryland Bandits Given Four Years

Bank Robbers Sentenced; Chicken Thief Gets Three-Year Term.

Hagerstown, Md., Dec. 4 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—Two young bandits who held up the Maugansville branch of the Hagerstown Bank & Trust Co. last June, slugged the cashier and escaped with $800, today were sentenced to four years in Maryland Penitentiary, while a man who stole two dozen hens was given a three-year term.

The bank bandits, Fred A. (Tobie) Stouffer and Paul R. Hesson, both in their 20s, pleaded guilty. With the exception of $25, all of the money was returned to the bank a fortnight after the holdup by Stouffer, who surrendered. The cash had been hidden by the side of a road. Hesson was arrested in Iowa City, Iowa, where he was living under an assumed name.

The chicken thief was Lawrence Stevens, Washington County farmer.

Posses Seeking Thugs Who Robbed Children

Special to The Waashington Post.

Danville, Va., Dec. 4.—County police today continued to scour the Glenwood neighborhood just beyond Danville for two Negro youths, alleged to have robbed the two children of George Crowder, aged 10 and 12, respectively, while they were on their way to school. The children were deprived of 60 cents, their lunch money, and were then thrown into the ice-rimmed waters of a creek and there abandoned. The children arrived home a mile and a half away, their clothing frozen.

They were in bed today warding off pneumonia. The identity of the Negroes is not known. Half a dozen special deputies were at work today seeking them.

VIRGINIANS WARNED OF INDUSTRY PERILS

Head of State Chamber Says Development Will Make Changes Necessary.

NEEDS POLICE SHAKE-UP

Hampton, Va., Dec. 4 (A.P.).—Leroy Hodges, managing director of the Virginia State Chamber of Commerce, said tonight at the Presbyterian Men's Club: "To build a sound and profitable industrial system in Virginia we can not dodge for long the responsibility of providing an adequate minimum wage for our factory workers, shorter hours and better living conditions.

"A progressive and sympathetic program of gradual and cooperative improvement of labor's conditions may reach farther in the end than continuing blindly and stupidly to exploit a labor surplus.

"Unless our so-called American 'prosperity' can be stretched out to reach down to the mass of our unemployed and marginal groups, the consequences of industrial and class strife must be faced sooner or later.

Police Change Needed.

A new order has brought with it changes in governmental and police agencies as well as those industrial, he said. "The industrialization of Virginia will bring as its first police problem the reorganization of our entire police system to meet and successfully cope wth the new order of things," he declared.

"In the larger cities less political consideration and interference and more attention to good police practice must be brought about, and in the smaller cities and towns something better than a makeshift, undisciplined, ill-clothed and poorly equipped, lounging-about-town watch must be had.

"In the counties a responsible, salaried, full-time, nonjail-keeping sheriff system must be set up, along with the establishment of a properly organized, nonpolitical, disciplined and trained State police force.

"Company Police" Frowned On.

"An efficiently administered and properly coordinated municipal, county and State police system should make the establishment of 'company' or private industrial police bodies unnecessary in Virginia. The industrialization of Virginia must not be allowed to germinate a 'coal and iron' police parasite on the Commonwealth, nor be made an excuse for converting the National Guard into an industrial police body. Strike duty and industrial riot control are functions of the constituted local and State police and not of irresponsible and undisciplined private 'company' police or extemporized sheriff's deputies, nor of the military.

"Industrialization will bring together in close association in communities large numbers of our mountain and rural people who have hitherto lived unrestrained lives far back behind the advancing lines of our industrial and social progress. Out of this urbanization and factory employment of rural people will spring new police and social problems, some of which already confront nearby Southern States that also are undergoing the throes of industrial development."

Kiwanis Delegates To Chicago Named

Three Virginians Are Appointed to International From This Area.

Richmond, Va., Dec. 4 (A.P.).—Three Virginians, among them Jesse H. Binford, of Richmond, governor-elect of the capital district, are to attend the conference of Kiwanis international and district officials in Chicago, December 5-7.

Binford, who was elected this fall at Hagerstown, Md., will report to the international officers that there are now 40 Kiwanis clubs in the capital district, composed of Virginia, Maryland, Delaware and the District of Columbia. He will also advise President Horace W. McDavid, of Kiwanis International, of the nominations for lieutenant governors in the district. The new subexecutives will be, for Virginia, Sam. S. Stevens, of Martinsville; the Rev. Francis H. Scott, of Roanoke; David Nelson Sutton, of West Point, and E. Reinhold Rogers, of Covington; for Delaware, Arthur G. Wilkinson, of Wilmington; for District of Columbia, Edwin F. Hill, of Washington.

Accompanying Binford will be J. Randall Caton, jr., of Alexandria, a member of the international board of trustees, and Russell Perkinson, of Petersburg, chairman of the program committee for the Atlantic City, N. J., convention June, 1930.

Treatment Given Boy Who Swallowed Poison

Three-year-old Richard Coffren, of Capitol Heights, Md., was treated at Casualty Hospital last night by Dr. Louis Jimal for poison, which he swallowed at his home.

The child, it was reported, obtained a bottle, partially filled with poison, in his wanderings about the house last night and drank the contents. His screams attracted his parents, who hurried with the child to the hospital. Following treatment, the child was allowed to return home.

MONTGOMERY MAN KILLED BY AUTOIST

65-Year-Old Farm Employe Is Found Dead on Road by Motorist.

LEGION HEAD IS ELECTED

Montgomery County police are searching for the driver of the automobile which struck and fatally injured William Johnson, colored, 65 years old, of Colesville, while the latter was walking along the Colesville pike about three miles north of Colesville last night. The aged Negro's head was badly crushed and bruises on his body and marks on the road showed that he had been dragged for more than 20 feet by the auto.

The body was discovered by Reed V. Richmond, of Baltimore, a passing motorist, who reported his gruesome find to Sergt Guy L. Jones and Policeman Charles Barnes of the Silver Spring substation. The policemen went to the scene and searched vainly for clews to the identity of the hit-and-run motorist. The body was removed to the undertaking establishment of Warner Pumphrey at Rockville. Dr. W. R. Haynes, of Silver Spring, who pronounced the man dead, said that death was almost instantaneous. The colored man worked on the farm of Walter Gates, near Rockville, police say.

Trinity M. E. Church of Germantown will hold an oyster, ham and chicken supper tonight at 5 o'clock in the church hall.

J. Dan Louthan was elected commander at a meeting of the Smith-Henderson-Edmonds Post, American Legion, of Rockville, Tuesday night. Other officers elected were: Leslie Ward, first vice commander; Louis Ryan, second vice commander; William Phoebus, treasurer; M. F. Brandenburg, sergeant at arms; the Rev. Clark Main, chaplain; Robert B. Peter, jr., historian; A. P. Thompson, Walter Rhinehart, Frank Higgins, Merle T. Jacobs, Dr. C. E. Hawke, and all past commanders, executive committee.

J. Banks Berry, the past commander, is State vice commander for the Southern Maryland District. The new officers were installed at the meeting.

Francis Thomas was elected commander and the following other officers were elected at a meeting of Norman B. Price Post, American Legion, Sandy Spring: Reuben Brigham, vice commander; Douglas Farquhar, adjutant; Thomas Hyde, 4th, finance officer; Albert Wilson, chaplain; Ferguson Barnsley, sergeant-at-arms; Edward Snowden and Robert Kemp, members of the executive committee.

The visiting committee appointed by five Montgomery County Groups yesterday inspected the county almshouse near Rockville and expressed approval of conditions. The committee includes Mrs. Edward J. Stacy, of the Federation of Women's Clubs; Mrs. James T. Bogley, Montgomery County W. C. T. U.; Mrs. Josiah Waters Jones, Social Service League; Mrs. John B. Brewer, Rockville Union Bible Class; Mrs. John A. Wheeler, Montgomery County Chapter, American Red Cross, and County Commissioner Lacy Shaw, who is in charge of the home.

American University Wins Debating Contest

American University's Debating Team last night defeated the debaters of Washington and Lee University in a contest at the local institution. The question was, "Resolved: That a college of liberal arts education should be limited to those with special ability." The local debaters took the affirmative side of the question.

Roger Craven, Arthur Murphy and Blake Espey comprised the winning team, while Washington and Lee was represented by C. B. Fulton, S. R. Nichols and W. T. Davenport. The judges were Harry L. Jones, Errett G. Smith and Abbott P. Mills, all of whom are local attorneys. Dr. Lucius C. Clark, chancellor of the university, presided.

BANK REVIEW SHOWS VIRGINIA TRADE GOOD

Commercial Failures Lower in October Than in Past Six Years.

FARM RETURNS BETTER

Richmond, Va., Dec. 4 (A.P.).—A considerable fluctuation was shown in rediscounts for member banks held by the Federal Reserve Bank of Richmond occurred in the month of October 15 to November 15, this year, William W. Hoxton, chairman and Federal Reserve agent, says in the monthly review of business and agricultural conditions, but the net change on November 15, as compared with October 15 was but $143,000.

"Some of the items in the reserve bank's statement changed more during the month than rediscounts," it is stated in the review. "Total earning assets rose from $70,128,000 on October 15 to $72,131,000 on November 15, due to increased holdings of bankers' acceptances purchased in the open market.

"A seasonal increase in the circulation of Federal Reserve notes from $84,688,000 to $93,288,000 occurred during the month, a greater demand for currency arising with the increased marketing of tobacco and cotton, and the approach of the holiday shopping season. Member banks reserve deposits showed only a daily fluctuation during the period under review, rising from $62,089,000 last month to $62,395,000 at the middle of November. The several changes mentioned, with others of less importance, raised the cash reserves of the Federal Reserve Bank of Richmond from $87,444,000 at the middle of October to $92,995,000 on November 15, and also increased the ratio of reserves to note and deposit liabilities combined from 58.02 per cent to 58.89 per cent.

Rediscounts Rise During Year.

"A comparison of the figures on the statement of the Federal Reserve Bank of Richmond for November 15, 1929, with those reported a year ago, November 15, 1928, shows some greater changes than occurred last month. Rediscounts for member banks rose $8,859,000 during the year, but total earning assets increased only $431,000, teh increase in rediscounts being approximately balanced by a reduction in the bank's holdings of bankers acceptances.

Trade during October in the fifth district was "in good volume," it is stated in the review, seasonal advance occurred in most lines.

"Member banks in the district are borrowing more from the Reserve Bank than at this time last year, but the increase is in country bank borrowing, chiefly for agricultural purposes. Debits to individual accounts figures for five weeks ended November 13 were not only seasonally larger than debits in the preceding five weeks this year but were more than 8 per cent higher than debits for the corresponding period last year, indicating that fall and winter trade is proceeding normally and probably in somewhat larger volume than in 1928.

Commercial Failures Lower.

"Commercial failures in the fifth district in October were fewer than in any other October in six years and the liabilities involved were the lowest for that month in ten years.

"Labor is moderately well employed. Coal production in October was in larger volume than in October last year, and textile mills consumed more cotton last month than in the same month in 1928 although the situation in cotton manufacturing is still unsatisfactory.

"On the whole, agricultural returns in the district are better this year than last, with cotton the only outstanding exception. The prospective yield of cotton in the district is larger than last year's yield, but the price is sufficiently lower at present to reduce the cash returns below those realized for the 1928 crop.

"Tobacco farmers are faring better than cotton growers, a moderately larger crop selling for slightly higher prices this year in comparison with last year. Fruit crops are generally smaller this year, but practically all other crops compare favorably with those of 1928 in both yield and price. The gain in money returns received this year by potato growers in the fifth district was perhaps the most marked change in agricultural returns over last year.

Retired Engineer Dies of Illness

Was Descendant of Signer of the Declaration of Independence.

Charles Thomas Kersey, 80 years old, 2014 Kalorama road northwest, a direct descendant of Thomas Reid, one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence, died yesterday at his home following a short illness. He was also prominent in Alexandria, where the family resided for many years.

Born in Dover, Del., on May 17, 1849, the son of John Alexander and Anne Brereton Kersey, he traced his connection to the early history of the Nation through his mother, who was a descendant of Thomas Reid. Mr. Kersey was for many years a marine engineer on boats plying the Potomac River. Twenty years ago he retired to land duty.

He is survived by one son, Fred W. Kersey; a daughteer, Mrs. Paul Pearson, and a sister, Mrs. Hannah K. Jones, of Wyncote, Pa. His wife, the former Alice Whaley, of Alexandria, died in 1901. Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at Wheatley chapel in Alexandria, with burial in Bethel Cemetery.

Sheriff Accuses Couple Of Jail-Package Plot

Winchester, Va., Dec. 4.—Warrants were issued today for the arrest of W. H. Henderson and E. M. Wagner, at the instance of Sheriff Luther Pannett, who charged them with conspiracy to deliver parcels to Lloyd Henderson, a prisoner at the county jail, against the rules of the institution. The issuing of the warrants followed dismissal of charges brought by the wives of Henderson and Wagner against Sheriff Pannett, whom they accused of using abusive language when the women called at the jail last Sunday to visit Lloyd Henderson, serving time on a liquor charge.

The sheriff testified in court the women insisted on delivering packages to Henderson without first depositing the same in the jail office for inspection, and that when they resented his action in insisting on compliance with the rules he requested them to leave. He denied using abusive language.

County to Spend $300,000 Next Year

Anne Arundel Chiefs to Spend That Sum in Public Improvements.

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., Dec. 4.—Anne Arundel County will expend over $300,000 in construction operations during the coming year, the board of commissioners have informed Gov. Albert C. Ritchie, in line with President Hoover's request for data in a campaign for speeding up industrial work in every way.

The figures of the commissioners as compiled by County Engineer J. A. Bromley, show that $200,000 will be spent on road improvements; $45,000 for construction and repair of bridges; $55,000 for sewerage additional and $15,000 for county garage and repair shop for the general housing and maintenance of road trucks and other machinery. These items make a total of $315,000.

In addition, the county has to its credit $25,000 balance from a $1,000,000 bond issue for road improvements, these funds being expended under supervision of the State Roads Commission.

THREE AWAIT TRIAL FOR HIT-RUN DEATH

Prince Georges Police Say Man Has Confessed Driving Taxicab.

TWO HELD AS WITNESSES

Three persons arrested in connection with the death of John Paul Goode, 29 years old, of Capitol Heights, Md., Tuesday night yesterday were placed in the Prince Georges County Jail at Upper Marlboro to await a hearing Friday before Judge J Chew Sheriff in Upper Marlboro branch of county police court.

William Rollins, 24, of Bethesda, Md., is said by Prince Georges County police to have admitted that he was the driver of the taxicab which struck and fatally injured Goode Tuesday night at Capitol Heights. He is alleged to have failed to stop after the accident. The taxicab was found, minus a driver, by Policeman C. E. Rippinger, of the Eleventh Precinct, on Central avenue, in the District. Rollins is alleged to have told police that he fled the car because his driver's permit had expired.

The probable charge against Rollins will be manslaughter, according to Sheriff Charles S. Early. Mrs. Minnie Geisler, mother-in-law of Rollins, and George Edward Long, both of Washington, are being held as material witnesses. They were in the cab when Policeman Rippinger discovered it.

Rollins was arrested by Montgomery County Policeman Joseph Oldfield, of Bethesda, and turned over to Lieut. Arthur W. Hepburn and Deputy Sheriff Harry Robinson, of the Prince Georges County police. It is expected that he will be represented by Attorney Thomas Dawson, of Rockville.

The Hyattsville Chamber of Commerce will have a committee appointed at its next meeting, January 6, to cooperate with the committee from the Federation of Citizens Associations and the Prince Georges County Community Council in the movement for the erection of a county hospital, it was announced yesterday by Arthur P. Owens, president of the Hyattsville group. All of the more prominent civic and business orgnizations of the county have been asked to support the movement and to appoint a committee to assist in the planning of the campaign.

The Maryland Public Service Commission will hold a hearing December 12 at Baltimore on the request filed by the Washington Railway & Electric Co. asking permission to abandon and remove the street railway tracks between Laurel and Beltsville. The car company declares that the tracks have not been used since 1925 and that there is no opposition to the move on the part of the citizens of the territory formerly served, who now are served by buses.

Thomas R. Henault, clerk of the Police Court, appeared in Hyattsville branch yesterday with an injured right wrist. The wrist was sprained while cranking his automobile, he explained. Henault managed to perform the duties of his office, however, although with painful effort.

Harpers Ferry Company Plans Improvements

Special to The Washington Post.

Charles Town, W. Va., Dec. 4.—Improvements to cost from $200,000 to $250,000 are contemplated by the Harpers Ferry Electric & Power Co., at Harpers Ferry, in the near future. For some weeks the company have had its engineers at work on the plans.

The company was recently taken over by a holding company owned by the Insull interests. Among the improvements is a line from the Harpers Ferry plant to the Leesburg plant, which is controlled by the same concern. A $300,000 contract has recently been awarded by the Virginia Public Service Corporation, owned by the Insull interests, near Manassas, Va., consisting of a hydro-electric project and power house.

Maryland Fugitive Is Found in Ohio

Wounded Man, Who Fled, Said to Be Serving Dyer Act Term.

Special to The Washington Post.

Hagerstown, Md., Dec. 4.—Amos M. Basehear, alias Robert White, of Littletown, Pa., who escaped from the Washington County Hospital here in February, 1928, while recuperating from bullet wounds received in an attempted hold-up of an oil station, has been found in Chillicothe, Ohio, serving a three-year prison term, according to word from the Department of Justice.

He was convicted of violation of the Dyer act. A detainer has been lodged against him by the sheriff here.

Despite the fact that he was still in a serious condition from the wound, he fled in an automobile which was parked in the rear of the hospital. A woman believed to be his wife was at the wheel. She had hired the machine at a Baltimore garage the same day. They were traced to Ohio and then to Canada. Basehear was shot by Harvey Stocklager, night watchman at the oil plant here, during the alleged attempted robbery.

RIGHT TO BALLOT HINGES ON TAXES

PENALTY STARTS TODAY

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU.
312 S. Washington St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 523.

The time limit for paying State taxes to avoid the penalty of 5 per cent which will be added, expires today, and City Treasurer Roger C. Sullivan has arranged to keep his office open this evening from 7:30 to 9 o'clock for the accommodation of those who are unable to attend to the matter during regular office hours.

This time limit is particularly interesting to Alexandrians, due to the fact that those who fail to pay their taxes today will be unable to vote in the primary election of June 3, when three members of the city council will be elected. At this time the territory recently annexed from Arlington and Fairfax Counties will be a part of Alexandria, and the new residents entitled to vote in this election.

The terms of Councilmen Edmund F. Ticer, Robert S. Jones and J. E. W. Timberman will expire on August 31, and these are the ones to be reelected or supplanted in the June primary. Councilman Ticer is the only member of that body who served in the common council prior to the adoption of the city manager form of government; Councilman Jones was one of the five originally elected under the new form, and Councilman Timberman is the youngest member, in point of service, he having succeeded Arthur H. Bryant when the latter declined to seek reelection. Timberman is the one who introduced the resolution providing for the annexation of the new territory, which resulted in a long drawn out suit, and eventually in a complete victory for the city as against the counties.

Mayor William Albert Smoot and Councilman Thomas J. Fannon have each two years to serve of their terms, the law providing that members of the council shall be elected so that there will be three vacancies at one election and two vacancies two years later.

Now that the Town of Potomac and a portion of Arlington and Fairfax counties will have a voice in the election of councilmen, there has been considerable speculation as to whether one or more candidates residing in the newly annexed territory will enter the field against the incumbents. None of the latter has given any intimation as to whether he will be a candidate for reelection.

Those who fail to pay their taxes at this time will also be ineligible to vote in the primary of next August, when a Democratic candidate for representative from the Eighth Congressional District will be chosen.

Alexandria Post, No. 24, American Legion, will hold its first social function at the restored Gadsby's Tavern tomorrow night, when the post will hold its monthly meeting and be addressed by Representative Harold G. Hoffman, of New Jersey. Commander Howard L. Arnold has appointed William H. Meeks as chairman of the entertainment committee for this session. Representative Hoffman was the commanding officer of a number of Alexandrians in the World War.

The old tavern will be heated with a new hot-air furnace, and log fires will be built in the old fireplaces which were in use when Gen. Washington maintained his headquarters there. The work of restoration of the old building to its original form has been in progress for several months and is now practically completed.

Among the entertainment features will be vocal solos by Mrs. Evelyn Howard Sheridan, accompanied by Mrs. Anna
